THE LABOR PARTY WILL NOT RELEASE CANDIDATE DUFFY

The Outcome of the Alliance Conference Is Deeper Embarrassment For the Democracy.

Instead of adopting measures for the relief of the very embarrassing muddle in which the Democrats and Labor leaders have mixed themselves, the conference at Alliance yesterday had no other effect than to more seriously complicate the situation.

Fourteen Democrats and two Labor men were present at the meeting, and from what could be gathered on the outside the sessions were reasonably harmonious. This is accounted for by the fact that the Democrats so greatly outnumbered the Labor men that the latter were not permitted to take a very active part in the proceedings.

The Labor representatives were Fred R. Johnson and William Cobbs both of Alliance, the former being secretary of the district labor executive committee. F. L. Clark, of Canton was made chairman of the meeting He is a member of the Democratic congressional committee and is said to be very much in favor of Duffy giving way to a Canton man for the place on the Democratic ticket.

Precisely 30 letters were received from as many labor unions throughout the Eighteenth district, replying to the request sent out by the Labor committee, asking that an opinion be given as to what course Mr. Duffy should take. When it is considered that there are some 35 unions in East Liverpool alone it can be readily seen that the expression was anything but a general one. Of these communications, a few more than half declared that Duffy should remain where he had been placed in the beginning—upon the Labor ticket. The remainder were about equally divided, a part favoring the East Liverpool man's candidacy upon the Democratic ticket and the remainder giving it as their opinion that he be permitted to do as he might choose for himself.

Mr. Duffy made a speech, in which he declared that although he was a Democrat and believed in Democratic doctrines, he had accepted the Labor nomination, and that without the consent of the Labor people, he would not accept the place tendered him upon the Democratic ticket.

No action was taken at the meeting the Democrats deeming it unnecessary to express an opinion, since the majority of the Labor organizations heard from had favored Duffy's remaining where he was.

Mr. Duffy feels that he is powerless

Senator Connell Will Use His Best Efforts to Get a Pardon For the Old Man—Does Not Believe Him Guilty.

Within a fortnight Zach S. Robison who is serving a life sentence in the Ohio penitentiary, having been convicted in this county during the summer of 1897 of second degree murder, will likely secure his release from that institution.

Attorney Hollis E. Grosshans, who, it will be remembered defended Robison at the trial, and who has for several months been working for a pardon for his client, stated this morning that the case assumed a very favorable phase, and he thinks that Robison will doff the convict garb in a very short time.

The attorney is in receipt of a communication from Senator C. C. Connell which gives him the assurance. Senator Connell has voluntarily agreed to use all the power at his command to secure the pardon. At the time that Robison was convicted the senator was an associate at law with Judge Young who also assisted in the defense and was through that means made very familiar with the testimony brought to bear in the case.

It is said that the senator never did believe Robison guilty, and that he made up his mind during the progress of the trial, if the opportunity was ever presented, he would endeavor to intercede for the man. Another reason given for the senator's voluntary proposition is that he desires to carry out the wish of Judge Young, deceased. The judge openly declared that he would work for Robison's release and the senator feels it his duty as a friend of the deceased to do what he would have attempted.

Senator Connell, it is said, will present the matter to the board of pardons next week. He has a strong argument to offer and considering the fact that an argument by a man of his weight can but have but effect, Robison certainly has a bright prospect for deliverance from the big walls.

The usual formalities in securinga pardon will likely be dispensed with owing to the impaired health of Robison. There is a clause in the Ohio statute that provides for such emergencies. It states that when a prisoner is in immediate danger of death, a pardon can be granted without a notice of the application being published, and that under any circumstances if the warden and pardon board so desire, all formalities can be disregarded.

Robinson is now nearing sixty years of age. He has been in ill health since the first day of his confinement and his condition is considered extremely dangerous. He is a trusty and has borne an excellent reputation during his term and he has the good wishes of all the officials connected with the penitentiary. Many of his friends in East Liverpool express a desire for his release.

THE GOVERNOR IS POWERLESS

FINE CONDITION SHOWN

By the Potteries of Trenton—Brotherhood Stirred Up By a Councilmanic Fight—An Alarming Shortage of Fuel—Plants May Close.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 27.—In spite of the protests from the labor organizations throughout the state against the retention of John C. Ward as state factory inspector, Governor Murphy announces that he is powerless to remove him. At the recent convention of the New Jersey State Federation of Labor, charges were preferred against Ward for permitting children under fourteen years old to be employed in workshops and factories. The foundation for the charges grew out of the present condition of the local potteries and the glass works in South Jersey.

A committee of three composed of Henry J. Gottlob, of Newark, George P. Pierce, of Woodbury, and Daniel Trenan, of Paterson, was appointed to lay the matter of Ward's removal before Governor Murphy.

The committee met the governor and his reply was that he was powerless to revove Ward, unless he had the consent of the state senate, for, as that body had ratified the appointment, it would also have to act upon his dismissal. The committee has filed its report with the executive board which threatens to bring the matter before the legislature.

Almost all of the general ware potteries have gotten out new shapes for the holiday trade. Because of the steady demand for the old shapes there have been few new designs, the difference being noted chiefly in gilding and decorations. The innovations are confined principally to dinner ware in which there is almost room for a higher grade of excellence.

A general healthy condition has existed throughout the local potteries during the past year during which the plants were well stocked with orders At present there is no sign of a falling off and save for the customary slack season during the holidays the employes look for steady work until spring at least.

James Braithwaite, who is a member of the Excise board is a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket. Mr. Braithwaite is a member of Kilnmen's local No. 35, and a vice president of the National Brotherhood of Operatives.

A movement has been begun among the members of the different pottery locals toward defeating the renomination of James Clark for common council. At the time of Mr. Clark's election he was one of the most ardent champions of the Brotherhood in this city and was the representative of Kilnmen's local No. 35 to the Mercer county Central Labor uinon. While serving as a delegate, Clark began a movement for none but the employment of union labor upon city work. The resolution was introduced in council through the instrumentality Clark who, when the bill came up for its final passage over the mayor's veto found Clark among the opposition. His action created discord throughout the ranks of the Brotherhood and he was withdrawn as a delegate to the central body.

Clark remained away from the meetings of the kilnmen until finally his name was dropped from the roll. Because of his attitude on the labor question the individual members of the Brotherhood have began a movement for his defeat.

The faces of pottery manufacturers have taken on a gloomy look because of the alarming shortage of the coal supply. The use of anthracite was discarded several weeks ago and since then the potteries have been operating with soft coal. The supply of the bituminous has dropped one-half below the usual amount and not a car has reached this city during the past ten days. The coal companies are unable to fill their orders and the chances are that before the end of another week, if the strike is not ended or more coal received, nearly all the plants will have to cease operations.

Reports from the new pottery at Elizabeth which is owned by Trenton capital are that conditions are better and further improvements is expected. From Camden comes the news that work is a little slack because of the warerooms being overstocked.

Kilnmen's local No. 35 is holding very interesting meetings, reinstating old members and taking in new ones. At its last meeting the treasurer was authorized to pay $50 to the new Saggermaker's union, this being due the saggermakers while they were members of that organization.

The dippers, turners, throwers and handlers, saggermakers and printers all report new members.

Akron the Mecca to Which Republicans Bend Their Steps Today—Superb Oratorical Program.

Akron, September 27.—(Special)—From indications the Republican campaign opening will be the greatest demonstration of a political nature that Ohio has witnessed for years. All day long special trains have been bringing in thousands of visitors and the crowd which will greet the famous speakers this afternoon will be enormous.

An imposing parade, miles in length, started at 1:30 o'clock. In it was represented the chief organizations of the city and marching clubs and bands from Cleveland, Youngstown, Niles, Mansfield and scores of other northern Ohio towns. Near the head of the procession rode the president of the day, Governor George K. Nash, and the distinguished orators who are to speak at Grace park as soon as the parade is over.

The principal address will be by Elihu Root, secretary of war, one of the most noted and brilliant men in public life today. Following him will be brief addresses by Senators Foraker and Hanna. Governor Nash will preside at the meeting.

In the park a stand which will accommodate 500 persons has been erected. This and all available space surrounding was packed with a mass of humanity long before the time set for speeches to begin. The speakers arrived at noon, on a special train from Cleveland, and were met by a reception committee and escorted to the Buchtel hotel, where they dined and held a short reception.

The big parade was, of course, the spectacular part of the entire day, and in order to make the part which Akron and Summit county was to play in it one which will be of credit to the city and county, handsome silk flags were offered to the township turning out the largest mounted delegation, to the township turning out the largest delegation on foot, and to the city ward turning out the largest number of men. In addition all the city marchers were provided with small flags and white hats.

Cleveland alone sent about 3,000 excursionists and marchers.

At the close of the exercises, the following bands, Great Western, Eighth Regiment, Goodrich and K. O. T. M., were to assemble on Prospect street in a body and render "America" in unison, under the direction of Professor N. L. Glover.

HANNA'S VISIT WILL BE LATER

Senator Not Likely to Reach East Liverpool Until Third Week in October.

To Enable Him to Address the People of This City—Lightning Changes of House Code Committee On Franchise Legislation Issue.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, Sept. 27.—Chairman Patterson, of the speakers' bureau at Republican state headquarters, says it has been necessary to change Senator Hanna's itinerary, which will necessitate a postponement of the East Liverpool meeting until probably the third week in the campaign. It was intended that he would open his speaking tour at East Liverpool, but Steubenville will probably be selected instead. The date will likely be October 6.

It is now planned to have the senator make a special trip for the East Liverpool meeting. His first week will be spent in southeastern Ohio and northern West Virginia. The Steubenville meeting will be held in the afternoon. Chairman Patterson said that Senator Hanna would postpone his going to Lisbon, the place of his birth, until next year, when he would make the opening speech of his itinerary at that place. The campaign will be opened at another point more centrally located, but the senator thinks the Lisbon meeting could be made a rousing one and that a great crowd would be in attendance. The idea is to make the gathering one of the most memorable political events ever held in eastern Ohio.

The members of the house code committee are lightning change artists. They do one thing one day and reverse themselves the next day. It is impossible to anticipate their acts They changed front on different propositions this week. Thursday night they agreed to leave the franchise laws alone. Friday morning they agreed not to leave them alone. The old laws with the unconstitutional features taken out were put into the code. The committee's report will be placed in the hands of the house Monday and it will be up to this body to decide among other things whether the franchise laws shall be re-enacted or left as they are now for future general assemblies to correct.

The senate has taken a stand against franchise legislation at this special session and has adopted a resolution providing for the appointment of a commission to investigate the subject and report to the next legislature Although the special committee of the house decided against curative legislation, passing the question up to the house for disposition, several members who were conspicuous in their support of this action underwent a complete change and came out in favor of curative legislation. Some members change their opinions over night. The code committee has now completed its work. Its reports go to the house Monday afternoon. The state printer has a large force at work on the amended bill and printed copies will be ready for distribution in the house and senate when both bodies convene Monday afternoon.

Ohio ex rel Isaac B. Cameron, treasurer of State, vs. William L. Alexander treasurer of Bucyrus, is the style of a case filed in supreme court Friday. A judgment of $1,034.14 was decided against the city of Bucyrus by the common pleas court of Crawford county which Treasurer Alexander refuses to pay. The petition, a writ of mandamus, asks that he be compelled to do so.

A special from Lima says that Robert V. Hampson, of Salem, has been elected grand treasurer of the Grand Chapter, Ohio Royal Arch Masons which met at that place.

Will Veon, a former resident of East Liverpool, has taken up his residence in Columbus, coming here from a western Pennsylvania town. He was married three months ago.

CHILD BITTEN BY A DOG

Eva Foutts Attacked By a Ferocious Brute While Walking on the Street.

Eva, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Foutts, of West Market street, was bitten on the right leg this morning by a dog, while she was walking through the Diamond in company with another playmate. The dog came running across the street from the west side of the Diamond and jumped at Miss Foutts, trying to bite her right hand. She raised her arm and the dog then bit her on the leg.

She was hastily taken to the office of a physician, where the wound was cauterized.

Playing at Rochester.

The local base ball team, accompanied by several scores of enthusiasts left on the noon train for Rochester where they will play the second game of the series. The rooters carried with them big megaphones and other instruments of noise, and East Liverpool will undoubtedly be noticed on the grounds.

HAND AND HIP HURT

Stonemason Seriously Injured While Helping to Unload a Wagon.

Andrew R. McDowell, a contracting stone quarryman living at 190 Thompson avenue, met with an accident yesterday that will incapacitate him for work for a number of days. While assisting in the unloading of stone from a wagon Mr. Foutts was hurt.

In some manner he fell under one of the heavy weights and sustained a badly mashed hand and sprained hip He went to the office of a physician and had the wounds dressed.

W. A. TARR DECIDES TO GET OFF THE TICKET

Lisbon, September 27.—(Special.)—Chairman McNutt, of the Republican county central committee, this morning received the resignation of County Infirmary Director W. A. Tarr. Mr Tarr recently accepted the position of superintendent of the clay banks and coal mines at the Vulcan brick works at Wellsville, and moved his family to that place this week. He gave this as his reason for resigning his office

In accordance with a resolution passed at the convention last spring it is now within the power of the executive committee to fill the vacancy by appointment, and Chairman McNutt has issued a call for a meeting of the body at the court house next Friday at 1 o'clock.

BIDS FOR PAVING

NONE AT ALL WERE SUBMITTED FOR PROSPECT STREET.

John Ryan Gets the Contract for Paving on Sugar Alley.

When Councilman Barlow was elected one thought uppermost in his mind was to have Prospect street paved The matter was brought up in council through the regular channels, but the street will not be paved this year. Bids for this improvement were to have been opened by Clerk Willis Davidson at 1 o'clock today, but there were none to open. Now the matter is dropped, at least for the time being.

Two bids for the paving of Sugar alley from Kossuth to Robinson streets were opened, they being filed by Contractors Thomas McLaughlin and John Ryan. Ryan was awarded the contract for this work and filed the required bond of $50. His bid was: Paving, $1.06; excavating, 27 cents; curbing, 35 cents.

McLaughlin's bid: $1.10 for paving; excavating, 30 cents; curbing, 30 cents. Ryan will commence work on the improvement at once.

Work was to have been started this morning paving a gutter on Sherman avenue, but it was deferred until Monday morning.

HEALY SUBMITS HIS PROPOSITION

Agreement of Street Railway Company to Live Up to Franchise—Camping On Freshwater's Trail—Spirited Debates Enliven Things.

Never did Wellsville have a more exciting council meeting than the special session held last night.

The meeting started off with seven councilmen present, Smith, Weaver and Aughinbaugh being absent. There being only this number present no ordinances could be passed.

The first matter of importance to be brought up was that of an injunction which is asked by Philip Bruner, of Front street, to hold up all of the paving improvements, and the Maple alley paving in particular. Mr. Bruner it seems sides with E. A. Freshwater, against whom an injunction was about to be taken out by Solicitor Boyd for the city council, compelling the contractor to complete the Maple alley paving at once.

The notification of Mr. Bruner's injunction, which was served upon Mr. Boyd yesterday, Bruner claims that the city's contract with Mr. Freshwater regarding that particular improvement is illegal, there having been no money in the Maple alley improvement fund at the time the contract was awarded. Why Mr. Bruner, who owns property only on Front street, is interested, puzzled the councilmen.

Solicitor Boyd said he would take no action regarding the notice until some time today.

Vice President Brennan, of council, thought there was a "nigger in the wood pile" and that Contractor Freshwater was trying to get out of doing the Maple alley work.

City Engineer Leith stated the situation and the conditions of the contract. In case the work was not started at the time deemed necessary by the engineer, notice was to be served the contractor, and if he did not start within five days the engineer was to do the work at the contractor's expense. He stated that he served the notice on Mr. Freshwater yesterday. If the work does not start in the required time the engineer will hire men to do it.

On motion it was voted unanimously that the city solicitor stop further pro-

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

CROOKSVILLE ABOUT READY.

It is stated that the new pottery at Crooksville will be placed in operation about three weeks from next Monday. Practically all the machinery, which was made in thic city, has been sent to the new shop, and the last consignment will be forwarded within the next 10 days. This machinery consists mainly of materials that are to be used in the decorating shop, and other minor pieces. All the modeling for this shop was done in this city and Wellsville, and yesterday a toilet set modeled at Wellsville was forwarded to Crooksville. William Tritt, general manager of this new shop, arrived in this city Thursday evening and left for his home this morning. Last evening he stated that practically all the workmen he would require for the present had been secured, and many of them would be taken from this city. Others will be taken from the shops at Sebring, Akron, New Castle, Ford City and Canonsburg. When in full operation the new plant will employ from 175 to 200 people. Mr. Tritt's visit here was for the purpose of engaging several mould makers, and he held a conference with three last evening. He was also to place an order for a new toilet set, and this was to be given to a local modeler, it is stated. The new plant is built somewhat after the plans of the French China pottery at Sebring, having a capacity of five kilns and four decorating kilns. The company has had many inpuiries about what time its ware will be placed on the market. The company has made no attempt to secure orders and will make none until a complete line of samples has been made. This will take some time, and it is thought a sufficient amount of ware will be in stock to start the salesmen out to catch some of the spring trade. Mr. Tritt last Tuesday morning received over 60 applications for positions from workmen in the different potteries about the country, and the majority of them were from East Liverpool shops.

THE SALINEVILLE PLANT.

Work on the new pottery at Salineville is still progressing slowly, and the bricklayers are now completing the kilns. Weather has been holding back work during the past few days, and little progress has been made. Carpenters have set the last frames in the walls, and as soon as the walls are completed they will begin at once the roofing. Material for the construction of the building is nearly all on the ground and it will not take much longer to finish the building, so that the preliminary work of operating the plant can be inaugurated soon. Several pieces of necessary machinery for the mixing and preparing of clay have been shipped and are now at the site. As soon as the roof is on the carpenters will begin putting down the floor, which, if spread out, would have almost an acre of surface.

PRICE IN TOWN.

Thomas Price, manager of the Union Potteries company, with plants in this city and New Cumberland, was in the city for a few hours on business. Mr. Price stated that business with his company was very good, and that all the ware that could be made was being shipped. While in the city he received a message from Allegheny stating that Frank. W. Fowler, who has been ill with typhoid pneumonia for some time, was not improved, and that he was confined to his home instead of at a hospital, although the plan of placing him in a hospital was considered at the first of his sickness. His condition, however, is not serious.

PERHAPS YEARS BEHIND.

A local paper this week published the story that a million dollar combine was to be formed among the potteries in the Wheeling district. In the present issue of the Potters Herald, this announcement is repudiated in the following statement. "We were under the impression that the firms mentioned had been under the management of the Wheeling Pottery company for some time, with C. W. Franzheim as president. This, however, seems not to be the case, and it would appear that closer consolidation is necessary."

PLACING NEW KINLS.

Never before were so many kilns of pipe being placed at the East End plant of the American Sewer Pipe company as at present. The kiln placers this week placed eight kilns, and last week seven. It was intended to make nine kilns this week, but the kilns were too hot to work in. There is a large stock of green pipe on hand, and the company is urging the workmen to make as much pipe as possible. From three to five carloads are being shipped daily from this plant.

A FEW CHANGES.

The East Liverpool Potteries company is to make a few more changes at the Wallace & Chetwynd. It is announced that the company will install an additional press in the decorating department, in the room formerly occupied as the decorated warehouse. Work upon the new decorating kilns at this plant is progressing rapidly, but those now in course of construction will not be ready for use for several weeks.

GUARANTEE THEIR WARE.

There are a number of manufacturers in this city who guarantee their ware not to craze, and this is one thing a customer generally asks a retail dealer. At one local pottery each piece of ware is stamped with the firm name and all hotel ware is guaranteed not to craze. The manufacturers agree to return full cost price and pay freight charges on all crazed ware bearing their stamp which is returned to them.

NEW ILLINOIS POTTERY.

An extensive pottery is to be established in Metropolis, Ill., by Capt. J. McHenry, of the New Sheldon Pottery company. A large modern brick building two stories in height and 60x150 feet will be erected. It is intended to rush he work as soon as the contracts are finally placed.

TRENTON GILDER HERE.

James Bailey, a gilder, who has been employed in the Trenton potteries for several years, arrived in this city Tuesday, and is now employed at the Globe pottery. It is expected that other Trenton workmen will come to this city and secure employment within the next few weeks.

McMILLIAN REMEMBERED.

POTTERS TO PLAY.

A game of base ball will be played on grounds near the state line this afternoon between clubs representing the pressers and jiggermen of the Harker pottery. Quite a number of operatives residing in the East End will witness the game.

TWO MEETINGS.

Kilnmen's local No. 9 and Packers' local No. 25 held short sessions last evening, but nothing but routine business was transacted at each meeting. One application for membership, and one member was obligated at the meeting of No. 9.

WAS HELPING OUT.

Joseph Pollock, a glost kilnman at Laughlin No. 2, has been helping out in the dipping department at the Harker plant for the past few days. It was expected that his work at this plant would be completed by this evening.

FOUNDATION COMMENCED.

The foundation for the large addition to be built to the West End pottery has been commenced, but owing to the bad weather of the past few days not much progress has been made. Much of the stone to be used in the foundation has been delivered, and also a large amount of lumber. The construction of this addition will be rushed as much as possible.

KILNDRAWERS' MEETING.

The regular meeting of Kilndrawers' local No. 17 will be held in Brotherhood hall this evening. Several applications for membership are to be considered, with other routine business.

MANAGER JOHN GOODWIN.

John Goodwin has taken the active management of the Goodwin pottery, and will remain at home to look after the interests of the firm. Formerly he has been traveling for the company.

NEW LOCAL. PERHAPS.

A new local may be formed at Sebring. The matter has been agitated for some time. A petition signed by 80 members of local No. 44, of Sebring, has been forwarded to headquarters.

A NEW CUP JIGGER.

EAST END

TRAFFIC DELAYED

Street Car Off the Track And a Stalled Freight on the C. & P.

The East Liverpool railway company is experiencing considerable trouble in the East End just at present. Three cars were derailed at the old loop on Pennsylvania avenue yesterday afternoon. The company is doing some repair work in the vicinity of the old loop, near the small bridge that spans the tracks leading into the East End sewer pipe works clay mine It appears that the rails on the bridge spread yesterday afternoon and three cars were derailed. The first car went off the track about 3 o'clock, and this was followed by the freight car. Another car met a similar fate about 5 o'clock, and it is a wonder that some of these cars did not roll off the bridge and into the hill just back of the mouth of the mine. Of course the accidents delayed travel for a short time, and later passengers were transferred until the cars could be replaced.

Travel on this line was also delayed last evening by the tracks at the Second street crossing being blockaded by the first section of east bound freight No. 94. This train was composed of 62 cars, and was hauled by one of the large class H-4 engines. All the cars were loaded and the train became stalled as it was ascending the grade between the passenger station and the East End. Finally, after waiting for over half an hour for the train to pull off the crossing, the train was cut and through traffic was again resumed.

The east bound passenger train pulled into the Second street station, and after loading and unloading passengers the train backed down the track for quite a distance. The freight train was again cut, a portion of it being taken to the East End and the local shifting engine placed the other part of the train on the Thompson siding. The west bound train, due here at 7:33, was held at the East End for about three hours, arriving at the Second street station about 10 o'clock. The several train crews were in no pleasant mood over being held here for so long, and it was the intention of the train dispatcher to send first 94 to Smith's Ferry and allow the passenger trains to pass at that point.

More New Houses.

The contract was let today for the erection of two more residences to be built in the East End. These houses will be erected on High street by David Green, of Shippingport, and the contract was let to C. Barnes, of the East End, who was formerly located at Shippingport. Work is to be commenced at once.

Rally Day Services.

Rally day services will be held at two East End churches tomorrow, and the programs published in this paper several days ago will be closely followed. The services at the Second U. P. church on St. George street will commence at 10:30 o'clock, owing to the lengthy program. The services at the Second Presbyterian church will commence at 10, and the little church is sure to be filled with scholars of the Sunday school and their friends The programs arranged for the services this year are better than those of past years.

always indicate a weak heart. They are usually preceeded or followed by palpitation or fluttering, and there may be pain in left side, a smothering sensation and shortness of breath. Such a heart should be treated at once, before the disease develops beyond control. Heart disease is as easily cured as other troubles if taken in time.

"I was subject to fainting spells, and many times I have fallen on the street. I was often compelled to sit down while walking to avoid falling. When physicians failed to help me, I took Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and was completely cured."

Many Went to Rochester.

A large number of young men from the East End went to Rochester at noon today for the purpose of witnessing the ball game between the Rochester and East Liverpool teams. Not a few ladies were in the party, they apparently taking as much interest in the game as the young men. It is expected that many of the visitors will return home on the early evening train, but the midnight train will bring the majority of the young men back home.

Birthday Surprise.

A pleasant birthday surprise party was tendered Ethel Davis, at her home on St. George street last evening, it being the occasion of her twelfth birthday. Guests to the number of 18 were present, and the evening was passed most enjoyably. Singing and children's games were features, and at a late hour luncheon was served. Miss Davis was the recipient of many beautiful presents.

Resting at His Home.

During the low stage of water in the Ohio river, Capt. Thomas Calhoun, of the Pittsburg-Cincinnati packet Virginia, has been staying at his home at Georgetown. The Virginia is being given a general overhauling and cleaning while at Pittsburg, and occasionally Capt. Calhoun goes to Pittsburg to see how the work is progressing. The Virginia will resume its regular trips just as soon as the river will permit.

There is a reason for every cause of sickness, and if investigation was made the fault would often be found right at one's own doorstep—negligence. We are all very apt to ignore natures first warning cries when disorder of the blood, nerves, stomach or bowels happens, expecting it to soon pass off. But disease never grows better of itself—always worse. It may develop in dyspepsia, liver or bowel trouble, constipation or general debility; at any rate something should be promptly done to stop the progress of your trouble and cleanse the system of its poisonous matter. For this you can rely with implicit confidence upon the efficacy of Wright's Celery Tea, an effectual prompt, pleasant cure that is especially adapted to such disorders. At all druggists, 25c and 50c packages.

Plant Greatly Improved.

Carpenters who have been working at the East End plant of the American Sewer Pipe works for the past two months, making improvements to the large works, have completed their labors and been ordered to the Walker plant, which is being extensively overhauled. The East End plant is now in better shape than ever before, it is said, and several thousand dollars have been spent on improvements there.

A Rush For Football Game

Much interest is being taken in the football game which is to be played at Columbian park next Saturday afternoon between the Laughlin and Rover football teams. Already about 300 tickets have been disposed of and the game to be played for the benefit of William Herron, a member of the Laughlin club, who was seriously injured in a game in which he played several weeks ago.

A Trip For Her Health.

Miss Georgia Shingleton, who has been seriously ill at her home in Helena for several weeks, is recovering rapidly, and next week will leave for a 10 days visit with friends near Lisbon. The trip is being made for the benefit of her health.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

The Free Methodists are continuing to hold revival meetings in the East End in the Larkins & Ferguson hall.

Thomas Finley and wife spent the day in Pittsburg visiting friends.

Mrs. Edward McElhaney and children, who have been visiting friends at St. Mary's, W. Va., for several weeks, have returned to the East End.

Link Morley and family, of the East End, have removed to Cincinnati. Mr. Morley has obtained a position with a large filter manufacturing firm of that city.

The work of painting the exterior of the East End fire station has been completed, this being done last evening. The station now presents a neater appearance than for years.

Jess Cooper, a well known young man residing on Pennsylvania avenue, who has been suffering for several weeks from a sore head, was much improved this morning. Last evening an operation was performed and this tended to improve his condition .

A ROUSING MEETING

Of Lyon Post at Which Veterans' Washington Trip Was Arranged For.

The meeting of Gen. Lyon Post No. 44 held last evening was well attended and a rousing good time was enjoyed by the old veterans. Commander McLane stated that all preparations had been made for the attendance of the encampment at Washington and instructed all who intend to go to give their names to J. C. Allison, chairman of the transportation committee.

Rev. O. S. Reed addressed the members of the post in an impressive manner and he will be one of the happy crowd at Washington.

Goes Away to Wed.

Arthur Woodruff, a motorman on the East Liverpool street car line, will leave tomorrow morning for Zanesville, where on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, he will wed Miss Jessie Robertson, a prominent lady of that city. The groom has been in this city for the past year and has made a large number of friends. With his bride he will return to this city Wednesday evening and will go to housekeeping immediately on Broadway.

The Proper Treatment For a Sprained Ankle.

As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches two or three weeks after spraining his ankle, and it is usually two or three months before he has fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time, for in many cases in which Chamberlain's Pain Balm has been promptly and freely applied, a complete cure has been effected in less than one week's time, and in some cases within three days. ### NEW BOODLING SENSATION.

Broker Wanted to Explain Checks Paid to Politician.

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—Developments in the "boodle" investigation were sensational yesterday, subpoenas duces tecum having been issued at the instance of Circuit Attorney Folk commanding Broker James Campbel and William Reed, his cashier, to appear in court with two checks, aggregating $47,500, dated Nov. 28, 1899 and payable to Ed Butler, a prominent local politician, and to explain the purpose for which the checks were drawn. It was found on investigation by the grand jury that both checks had been cashed and returned to Broker Campbell.

The date of these checks was the same as the day on which the ten year lighting bill passed the house of delegates, for which 19 members are said to have received $2,500 each for their votes. Up to a late hour yesterday deputy sheriffs were unable to serve the subpoenas. At Broker Campbell's office it was stated that Reed had not been there since Thursday and that his employer was in the east.

Another session of the grand jury was held yesterday, several witnesses being examined. The last session before the final meeting and report on Monday will be held today. An additional effort to secure the release on writs of habeas corpus of the four former members of the house of delegates, who are now in jail awaiting trial on charges of bribery and perjury, failed. Judge Vaillant, of the supreme court, before whom this petition was taken, denied the application, declaring he had no jurisdiction.

Cured of Catarrh of Kidneys by Pe-ru-na.

HON. JOHN T. SHEAHAN, OF CHICAGO.

Hon. John T. Sheahan, who has been for seventeen years manager of Marshall Field & Co.'s wholesale warehouse, and is corporal 2d Regiment Infantry, I. N. G., writes the following letter from 3753 Indiana avenue, Flat Six, Chicago, Ill.:

Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Gentlemen----"Last summer I caught a cold which seemed to settle in my kidneys and affected them badly. I tried a couple of kidney remedies largely advertised, but they did not help me any. One of my foremen told me of the great help he had received in using Peruna in a similar case, and I at once procured some.

"It was indeed a blessing to me, as I am on my feet a large part of the day, and trouble such as I had affected me seriously, but four bottles of Peruna cured me entirely and I would not be without it for three months salary."---JOHN T. SHEAHAN.

"I am now a new man at the age of seventy-five years, thanks to your wonderful remedy Peruna."---Jacob Fleig.

Catarrhal inflammation of the mucous lining of the kidneys, also called "Bright's disease," may be either acute or chronic. The acute form produces symptoms of such prominence that the serious nature of the disease is at once suspected, but the chronic variety may come on so gradually and insidiously that its presence is not suspected until after it has fastened itself thoroughly upon its victim.

At the appearance of the first symptom Peruna should be taken. This remedy strikes at once at the very root of the disease.

TWELVE PAGES.

The uneasiness of Mother Earth, the recent volcanic eruptions, the earthquakes which have cost thousands of lives and ruinedentire communities, both in the old world and in the new, may be, as some assert, the forerunner of that long predicted cataclysm, the end of the world. But there is nothing to prove it, and the would-be prophets should not be too sanguine that their predictions will come true. Such seismic disturbances have occurred at intervals since the earth began, and many pages of recorded history are filled with accounts of them. Violent as have been recent commotions of the earth, they are scarcely greater than have been experienced before and are likely to be experienced again.

The outcome of the conference between the Democratic and Labor party committees ought to be satisfactory to both, though it is very doubtful if it will be. Those who might support an out-and-out Labor candidate for one office are not likely to be hoodwinked or cajoled into supporting the Democratic ticket. The expectation that they could be so influenced was another Democratic hope that has gone glimmering. The real friends of labor will continue to vote as they have always done, with the Republican party, which has safeguarded their interests, resisted Democratic attacks, and, by a wise policy, built up multitudinous industries which are flourishing as never before.

Workers are wanted. The same story comes from every manufacturing town in the country and from almost every manufacturer. Wages are good, and they are paid promptly. Scarcity of laborers is not confined to the cities for in the country the farmers all through the season have been unable to secure men to take care of the crops, although big money is offered. Unprecedented prosperity is with us. The man who would vote to change existing conditions is surely blind to his own interests and indifferent to the welfare of his fellow men.

The Republican campaign opening at Akron today will be a gathering worthy of the importance of the occasion. Enthusiasm will not be lacking and eloquent oratory will be abundant. The campaign opens auspiciously, and Ohio is sure to give a magnificent Republican majority this fall There are no factional differences in Republican ranks, and no signs of off year apathy. It is an important election, involving national as well as state issues, and the Buckeye state will prove itself loyal to the party of progress.

Prince Victor Duleep Singh has gone into bankruptcy, ascribing his difficulties to the niggardliness of the British government, which allows him only $35,000 a year for being a prince Poor chap. His case shows that Americans who must bow to the dictates of the coal trust are not the only ones who are shamefully treated.

But for the United States, anarchy would have prevailed on the Panama isthmus for more than a year past to such an extent that the railroad would have been constantly interrupted. The world is under obligations to Uncle Sam for keeping open that important artery of commerce.

Senator M. S. Quay is in favor of starting work on at least one dozen new dams on the Ohio river every year. It is said that if work was commenced at that rate it would only take a few years to complete the entire system.

J. Pierpont Morgan controls millions of capital, but he can't control the millions of people who do the voting. His declared opposition to President Roosevelt is simply adding to the strength and popularity of the executive.

George Fred Williams calls the Democratic platform in Massachusetts "dishwater," but says he will vote for it. It is a pretty bitter dose that the average Democrat won't swallow.

W. A. Tarr has decided to withdraw from the Republican county ticket Of course nothing the News Review has said influenced him in reaching that decision.

If Pierpont Morgan expects to put the Democratic party on its feet again he has a task compared to which his former undertakings were as child's play.

The "Gold Snake."

A Mexican superstition, very common among miners in that country, relates to the "gold snake." This species of serpent is perfectly harmless and very handsome, being green in color and with a golden iridescence in its scales. Faith is entertained that wherever a gold snake makes its nest there is a ledge containing the precious metal, and there are many miners who will locate a claim at once if they find a gold snake.

A PLEASING MUSICALE

Mrs. James Rinehart Agreeably Entertained a Number of Guests Yesterday.

Prominent in the social circles of this city will be the series of entertainments given by Mrs. James Rinehart. The first entertainment of the series were card parties at which luncheons were served. At the second party "Black Maria" was played and Mrs. Porter, guest of Mrs. Judd C. King, won the first prize, which was a handsome china plate.

The home of Mrs. Rinehart was again opened to a number of her friends yesterday. The nature of her third entertainment was a musicale. Everything in the spacious reception room was removed, and a number of white covered chairs were so arranged so as to form a central aisle, through which the guests passed.

In one little alcove of the room sat those who entertained Mrs. Rinehart's guests throughout the afternoon with their select and classical music.

Miss Robertson, a member of the Boston Fadettes, played the violin, and Miss Reiter accompanied her with the trombone. Miss Alice Devon sang in a charming manner, "If I Were But a Rose," and also Nevin's Rosary. Miss Fannie Woods, the guest of Mrs. W. R. Clark, is an accomplished pianist, and enlightened the guests with a classical selection which was much appreciated. Miss Mamie Geon's piano solo was received with much enthusiasm, as was also Miss Mame McNicol's piano solo.

Later in the afternoon dainty refreshments were served. About 50 guests were present, and Mrs. Rinehart's friends enjoyed her musicale very much.

AT THE THEATER

It has been remarked by some of the knowing ones that by associating a band and orchestra with "Indiana Folks," which comes to East Liverpool on Wednesday evening, Oct. 1, the management has placed this production on a level with the cheap sensational "Rube" plays. This is far from our intention. Let us go back a few years to the initial tour of Joshua Whitcomb with Mr. Denman Thompson in the title role. This attraction was accompanied by a brass band and orchestra. Charles L. Davis (Alvin Joslin) for years carried one of the best bands and orchestras ever seen on the road. The musical portion of the entertainment given by the Indiana Folks company is strictly first-class in every particular, and we expect to gain both fame and dollars with our matchless band and orchestra.

The acting company has been carefully chosen and will compare favorably with the best engaged in presenting the rural drama.

The only way to enjoy a play is to withness a performance of it. No doubt many poor plays have been written, and even the most noted of playwrights hit tne mark of excellency but at odd intervals. But "The Prisoner of Zenda" has received the stamp of greatness and the awards of success E. H. Southern delighted in it; this play proving one of the biggest successes of this famous romantic actor and its long triumphal run in New York city is still new in dramatic history. At the Grand next Tuesday, September 30.

The Kennard brothers, two diminutive dwarfs, whose resemblance to one another is so perfect that it is difficult to tell which from which, are engaged for those irrepressible cyclones, "Nid and Nod" in Charles H. Yale and Sidney R. Ellis' "The Evil Eye," which opens at the Grand Monday, September 29. It is said that this presentation of "The Evil Eye" will prove in merit, mirth and music the brightest and best edition ever given in its five years of continuous triumph.

"Twin Sisters," presented at the Grand opera house last evening by Austin T. Blair's big stock company, was one of the best productions of the week. It was up-to-date in every particular, and the specialties met with high approval.

Hedgehogs.

Hedgehogs are very strong in the water, swimming with ease against a rapid stream, and with their muscular claws they turn up the nests of trout or salmon and make a goodly haul therefrom. They will breast a very rapid stream, and cold water, as near the freezing point as may be, seems to have no terror for them. The eggs of the salmonidæ are a welcome prey to nearly every animal that will face water. Aquatic birds, rats (both house and water), hedgehogs, beetles and their larvæ, the so called fresh water shrimp, are deadly foes.

to do anything to relieve the situation so long as the executive committee of the Labor party refuses to release him from its ticket. It is positively known to them that the Democrats are determined to fill out their ticket in the event that Duffy refuses the place. The members of this committee are also aware and freely admit that with a Democratic candidate in the field they could not hope to win. In the light of all this they still refuse to release him, and seem determined that the East Liverpool man shall be sacrificed. This arrangement, it is held, could have but one effect, and that to cause the defeat of both Labor and Democratic candidates, and land Hon. James Kennedy, the Republican nominee, a sure winner. The Labor committee explains its action by saying it is the desire of that body to establish a Labor party in the district and that if it cannot win this time there will be good chances for victory in the future. Mr. Duffy's friends in East Liverpool fail to appreciate the wisdom of the move, and do not hesitate to say so. They cannot see why Mr. Duffy should be the one to suffer for a blunder that he is in no way responsible for bringing about.

Upon leaving Alliance yesterday Mr Duffy was informed by the Democratic congressional committee that he would be allowed to deliberate upon the question for a few days, but that on next Wednesday the members would expect to have his answer as to his intentions with reference to accepting the party's nomination. In the event that he at that time elects to remain upon the Labor ticket the Democrats will proceed to fill the vacancy without further delay. When seen by a News Review reporter today, Mr. Duffy said:

"As matters now stand I can see no other possible course open to me but to remain upon the Labor ticket."

MUCH STRENGTH SHOWN.

Principal Movement In St. Paul and L. & N., Yesterday.

New York, Sept. 27.—There was a show of considerable strength in the stock market yesterday. The principal movement was in St. Paul and Louisville and Nashville, and the extreme advance of 5¾ in the latter and 3⅜ in the former had considerable sympathetic effect on the railroad list generally. There was brisk buying of Reading, nominally based on the supposition that the end of the coal strike was near. Manhattan was largely bought by the speculative interests, which have been accumulating the stock for some time.

There was a notable disposition to advance on the part of a number of minor low-priced industrials, especially the railway equipment companies. During the final hour the professional operators, whose buying had advanced prices, took their profits very generally with the result that final prices for a number of leading stocks were from 1 to 2 points lower than the best.

CYCLONE IN SICILY.

400 PEOPLE BELIEVED KILLED IN THE STORM.

Path of Cyclone 124 Miles Long Wind Swept Sea Inward—Great Damage Done.

London, Sept. 27.—A dispatch from Rome yesterday announced that a severe cyclone has swept over Cantania, a city on the east coast of Sicily. Cantania is flooded and many houses, including the Villa Bellini, have been damaged. The railroads have suffered seriously.

Mount Etna shows further signs of activity and the volcano of Stromboli is still active.

Syracuse, Sicily, Sept. 27.—For 24 hours before the cyclone burst over the island a violent storm raged on the eastern coast of Sicily. The path of the cyclone was 124 miles long, and everything in the line of the storm was destroyed. The sea swept inland for several kilometres, doing enormous damage, while there were violent submarine agitations between Sicily and the mainland. Along the railroad from Cantania to Palermo the force of the cyclone was such that rails were torn up and hurled to a great distance.

It is reported from Modica, 32 miles southwest from Syracuse, that a hundred bodies have already been found, but that the number of dead bodies swept away by the torrent is unknown.

Believes 400 Killed.

The newspaper Fractissa expresses the belief that some 400 people have been killed.

Two torrents, the St. Francis and the Ste Marie, which descend through the town, rose suddenly and brought with them masses of mud and heavy stones and invaded the buildings of Modica. They carried away everything in their course. Many houses were utterly wrecked and others were seriously damaged. Numerous animals perished. The number of victims is still unknown, but 80 corpses have been deposited in a single church. At Scicli 12 persons were killed. Tasearo was destroyed Enormous damage was done at Palazzolo, Acreide, Farla and Geratana.

NEW CASTLE K. C. E.

The New Lodge Instituted With 65 Members — Supper Follows.

A new castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, was instituted last evening in Mechanics' hall. About 65 members were initiated. Owing to the grandmaster from Huntington being delayed business did not begin until a late hour. The following are the officers:

Man from Holliday's Cove Accidentally Killed Near Pittsburg Yesterday.

Clifford Johnson, aged 24, of Holliday's Cove, a lineman in the employ of the Pittsburg Coal company, was killed at Groveton, Pa., while placing a wire on a telephone pole. The pole broke and Johnson fell.

Friends started with him to Pittsburg, but he died as he was taken from the train in the Pittsburg & Lake Erie depot. His body is at the Pittsburg morgue.

The Freeport Vein of Coal.

Dr. I. C. White, state geologist, who has supervision of the geological survey of West Virginia, will go to New Cumberland and make a thorough examination of the deposits in that vicinity. The geological commission has had a corps of engineers busy all summer, making extensive surveys, and they are now getting out their first reports. After all connections have been made and the latest data has been acquired the final maps will be published. Dr. White thinks the coal mined by the Marquet Coal company is the Freeport vein.

Two Boys in Jail.

A youthful pair, West and Crago, were arrested last evening at New Cumberland by Officer Melvin. The boys are charged with the theft of candy, amounting to $5, stolen from Dunlevy's store. The boys have been guilty of like offenses before, it is said, and the authorities are in favor of sending them to the reformatory at Pruntytown, W. Va., Should the parents not consent, the boys will be held in jail for the grand jury.

Three Fingers Badly Hurt.

Miss Gertrude Little, who is employed in the local tin mill, met with a very painful accident last evening. While at work she got her right hand caught in one of the machines. The three middle fingers of her hand were badly cut and torn by the sharp tin and at first it was thought that amputation would be necessary.

ceedings as to the injunction of Fresh water.

Manager L. W. Healy, of the United Power company, was then called upon to make known his proposition regarding the purchase of the city water works and the establishing of the gravity system; also to make his statement regarding the matters in dispute between the United Power company and the city as to its franchise rights, the running of all cars on Clark avenue, moving and relaying of track on Liverpool street and the relaying of the brick pavements on the city streets.

On the water works proposition, Mr. Healy said: "I am interested in several companies in western Pennsylvania where gravity systems are generally in use and it has occured to me that this system is badly needed here. If you would care to entertain a proposition from us we will agree to buy your present water works and will build a modern new plant and establish a gravity system, using Little Yellow Creek for the supply. We have some confidence in the future growth of Wellsville and if an agreement can be reached we are willing to build this water works. I have taken enough interest in the matter to hire an expert to come here and examine Little Yellow Creek. He said that there was plenty of water and good water, too, and that the conditions were all that could be wished to establish a first-class gravity system. In his opinion he said that the city was making a great mistake by not taking advantage of their excellent opportunity here.

"I would suggest that the council take some time to thing over this matter and decide whether it would care to entertain a proposition of this kind or not and if a favorable decision is made we will submit the proposition at the next regular meeting of council."

When asked by President Whitacre, in case the proposition would be entertained by council, what time would the construction of the new plant be commenced, Mr. Healy stated that in all propability the construction work would be started immediately.

Before any disposition of this matter was made Mr. Healy was asked to make his statement to council regarding the other difficulties between the company and the city.

Mr. Healy said: "There seems to be a hard feeling against the street railway company. It is a question in my mind whether this hard feeling would exist if the members of council were familiar with all of the circumstances." Mr Healy explained that the company owned a lot of summer cars which have stationary seats and in order to keep up with the schedule of the road it is often necessary for a motorman to run his car only to the turn table. The summer cars must be turned around to keep from running them backwards, which is very uncomfortable for passengers.

Mr. Healy stated that a petition had been received asking that he not only run all the cars to the end of Eighteenth street, but to run them out Clark avenue as far as possible, according to the terms of the franchise. The Clark avenue paving has been completed as far as Clark's bridge and the street railway line has also been completed there.

Mr. Healy said that he would at once place an extra car on Clark avenue and run it back and forth to make connections with all of the other cars. This is to be a temporary arrangement but it was unsatisfactory to council. Mr. Healy agreed to start the car today.

In the matter of repaving the streets that have been torn up by the street railway company, Mr. Healy said that he would have a paver put on at once using new brick for the purpose.

Regarding the moving of the track on Liverpool street Mr. Healy said that he would do the work as soon as the girder rails arrived from the Lorain Steel company. The rails would probably be here some time next month.

City Solicitor Boyd stated to council that Mr. Healy had probably succeeded in convincing council that he was doing the right thing by them. Mr. Healy had said something about having torn up the streets in East Liverpool. Because Mr. Healy owned East Liverpool was no reason why he should own Wellsville.

Mr. Boyd said: "Council has given the street railway company a 25 year franchise and what is the city getting in return? You can compel the street railway company to furnish good cars and good service according to the terms of the franchise. They are not doing either, but are being allowed to do about as they please."

Mr. Henderson, of the First ward, also made remarks because the street railway company had moved its tracks to the center of Liverpool street.

The water works proposition was disposed of by a motion to convene in special session next Tuesday evening and hold a conference with the water works trustees.

The matter of repaving the torn up streets, which Mr. Healy agreed to do, was also accepted by motion.

For removing the track on Liverpool street to the center of the street Mr. Healy was given 15 days in which to commence the work. If not started by that time City Solicitor Boyd is to proceed with the injunction against the company.

THE FORCE COMPLETE

Appointment of New Officer Will Enable the Census to Be Taken.

The local police force is once again in a complete state, there being six policemen on duty. A few weeks ago Officer George Marshall was suspended from the police force for having been found in a disorderly house on Second street in an intoxicated condition. Since that time there has been a vacancy on the police force which has been filled part of the time by City Building Policeman William Elliott.

On Thursday night William Canady, who has been employed as a teamster at the rolling mill, was appointed by Mayor Fogo to act as a night watchman, taking Marshall's beat. He went on duty last night. Now that the police force is complete, the work of taking a census of the city will at once be taken up and rushed rapidly until it is completed. This work hung fire on account of the crippled force.

CONFIDENCE IS NOT SHAKEN.

Future Plans Show It—Industrial and Commercial Activity, In Spite of Drawbacks.

New York, Spet. 27.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Notwithstanding the disarranged money market almost a fuel famine and some damage to crops, industrial and commercial activity continues unabated, and the magnitude of plans for the future indicates that the confidence has not been shaken. Scarcity of funds has thus far caused no hardship except to speculators, and the stringency will remedy itself by contracting loans on stock exchange collateral, together with such aid as may be offered by the treasury, which is partly responsible through absorption of funds. Injury to crops by frost has no more than offset the increased acreage, while high prices fully compensate producers. It is not a time for pessimism, although securities have declined sharply. Railway earnings for September thus far exceed last year's by 6.8 per cent and those of 1900 by 16.5 per cent. Pressure in the iron and steel industry has been somewhat alleviated by larger receipts of coke and liberal imports of pig iron, yet the outlook is by no means devoid of unfavorable features. No fuel famine exists, although the furnaces are consuming receipts of coke as they arrive, and it is impossible to provide for more than immediate needs. Some idle plants have resumed and now operate from day to day with the constant menace of an interrupted movement of fuel, which would suspend operations. At the west this factor is most serious, coke commanding $10 a ton or more, while in exceptional cases $13 has been paid. Owing to the numerous influences now in evidence there is less disposition to place large contracts for distant delivery of pig iron and sales are chiefly of small lots. Foreign iron is freely received and other consignments are under consideration. More steel rail orders have been placed abroad. Needs for structural shapes are increasing, much work being held back by slow shipments, and orders are reported for delivery nearly two years hence.

No concessions are possible in the wool market, which has increased in activity at the east.

Failures for the week numbered 207 in the United States, against 227 last year, and 32 in Canada, against 34 a year ago.

They came as a committee appointed by the National Association of State Insurance Commissioners, at its recent annual meeting in Columbus, to present to Mrs. McKinley a memorial adopted by the association last year on the death of the president. The commissioners, accompanied by Julius Whiting, of this city, went to the McKinley home and presented the memorial to Mrs. McKinley. ## GRAND JURY NOT LEGAL

Such Is the Charge Made in Papers Filed in Jefferson County Court.

Steubenville, Sept. 27.—The question whether the last grand jury was legal has been brought before the court most forcibly the past two days, first in a petition filed by Attorneys Rogers and Finley in the indictments returned against Murderer Scott and again Thursday in a plea of abatement filed by Attorneys S. B. Taylor and P. A Gavin, in behalf of Peter Slavincky one of the alleged river pirates held for stealing a worthless flat boat in Columbiana county, where the officers refused to prosecute him.

In the second legal papers submitted to the court, Attorneys Taylor and Gavin, among other things, claim that the jury was not legal for the reason that one of its members is not qualified as an elector of the county and therefore had no right to serve or fill the duties of a juryman.

In the papers filed by the attorneys for Murderer Scott, it was also charged that the jury was not legal, although no names were given, and it appears now that an effort will be made to have the work of the jury in a measure undone, on the grounds of illegality.

MINES AT AMSTERDAM

Will Begin Operations on October 1. Everything in Fine Shape.

All will be ready at the new mines of the Ohio and Pennsylvania Coal company to begin active operations at their mines at Amsterdam by October 1. The machinery is all upon the ground, and everything has been fitted up ready for mining except the engine. This will be set soon. The workmen are wiring the mines for electricity. The building is about completed, tipple and power house are up Carpenters have about completed the tenth double house. Everything in the line of a habitable tenement is filled and dozens of houses could find ready occupants if they were on the ground.

Alexander Long, one of the leading men of the flourishing little village has completed a large store room and is now busy putting up a large building for a bank that will begin some time about the first of the year. Local capitalists are at the head of the new institution. Everything looks good for the boom at Amsterdam, says Supt Black.

FUNSTON FAVORS THE CANTEEN.

Blames Increased Offenses of Soldiers Upon the Abolishment of the Post Exchange.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Brigadier General Frederick Funston, in his annual report for the department of the Colorado, points out that the percentage of trials by court martial of enlisted men has nearly doubled during the past year. He says in part:

"It is, therefore, plain that there has been a deplorable increase of offenses in general and of desertion in particular. In my opinion there are two principal causes for this state of affairs: First, resentment of unaccustomed limitations and restrictions felt by men returning from field service to the monotony and routine work of garrison life; second, the abolition of the canteen feature of the post exchange. Since this action was taken saloons of the lowest type have been established just outside the boundaries of the various reservations. Their proprietors, in almost every case, unprincipled scoundrels, who leave nothing undone to debauch the soldiers and obtain their money. Being in all cases outside the limits of any city, the proprietors of these resorts are subject to no municipal police regulations and sell liquor regardless of hours and whether the buyer is already intoxicated or not. Gambling is universal in these 'dives,' and they are frequented by dissolute women. The soldier whose desire for a drink ordinarily would be satisfied by a few glasses of beer in the canteen of the post exchange goes to one of these resorts and does well if he escapes before he has spent or gambled away all his money, overstayed his leave or engaged in an altercation."

Detroit, Sept. 27.—The common council, at an adjourned session yesterday, adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That a committee consisting of the president of the council and six other members be appointed to consider the advisability of extending an invitation to the people of all the cities and towns depending upon the Pennsylvania fields for their coal supplies to appoint representatives to meet in a great convention in this city, at which to consider ways and means to force a resumption of the coal production, either by public opinion or by government intervention, which should be demanded if other measures fail.

A committee was appointed by President Smith and they will meet next Monday night to discuss and consider the proposed convention.

TO BRIBE MINERS' UNIONS.

Labor Official Accuses Ex-Foreman of Being In Conspiracy.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 27.—In a statement issued yesterday District President Nicholls accuses Michael Grimes, an ex-mine foreman, of being "at the head of a movement inaugurated by the coal companies to bribe a number of mine workers' locals for $2,500 apiece to vote to return to work." Mr. Nicholls declares at the close of his statement that his "informants stand ready to prove their assertions in court."

Mr. Grimes denies the Nicholls statement and the coal companies also say it is not true.

Colonel Watres and three companies of soldiers scoured the Grassy Island hills yesterday for the murderers of James Winston, who was clubbed to death there Thursday. It is supposed the men are hiding in old mine workings.

ASKS FOR TROOPS.

Gov. Stone Refers Sheriff's Request to Gen. Gobin.

Shenandoah, Pa., Sept. 27.—Sheriff Knorr, of Columbia county, yesterday afternoon asked Governor Stone to send troops to Centralia. The governor referred the matter to General Gobin and the latter advised the sheriff to make a further effort to preserve peace with the resources at hand.

Strikers yesterday held up three trolley cars filled with non-union men and stoned the workmen. Guards from neighboring collieries were called and drove the rioters back. A workmen's train was held up and those on board were warned to quit work under threats of being harshly dealt with.

Centralia is a small community and General Gobin says the men who have been violating the law there are known to the sheriff and his deputies, and instead of applying for troops the latter should arrest the lawbreakers and put them in jail.

Rioters Awed by Soldiers.

Philadelphia, Sept. 27.—In the Lackawanna and Wyoming valleys yesterday universal quiet prevailed and the soldiers were not called upon to suppress the disorder, while at Forest City, Susquehanna county, the extreme northern end of the anthracite coal belt, the presence of the soldiers has had the effect of aweing the rioters.

At Lebanon, where the employes of the American Steel and Wire company had been fighting against the importation of laborers, there is a temporary truce, with the likelihood that all differences will be settled and the men shortly return to work.

BLEW OPEN SAFE, GOT $400.

Robbers Bound Policeman, at South Sharon, Pa.

Youngstown, O., Sept. 27.—At 2 o'clock yesterday morning a gang of burglars blew open the safe of the Beechwood Improvement company, of South Sharon, Pa., and secured $400 in cash. After robbing the safe the men, four or five in number, were first seen by Policeman Newton Stamp, whom they overpowered, bound and gagged. George Haynes, another policeman, was knocked down and tied to a post, and Policeman Sayler kept up a running fight with the men for some distance, but they finally escaped.

The men were heard to remark they would attempt to blow open the safe of the Colonial Trust company's bank and a ladder was found up to a window, but no attempt was made. The men escaped toward West Middlesex and were supposed to be in the vicinity of New Castle.

Father Smyth has been invited to attend as deacon of the funeral mass.

BETTER WATER PRESSURE

Change in Mains Has Had a Most Important Effect—Levying Assessments.

Officials of the water works department have about completed the work of levying assessments for the water supply for the several potteries of the city, and this matter will be presented at the next meeting of the water works trustees. Water meters are now being attached to all gas engines about the city by the department.

By converting the former 10-inch rising main to a distributing main, the water works department has increased the pressure of water in some parts of the city from 80 to 120 pounds. By so doing these figures almost reach the original pressure.

George Mayes, bound over to court in the sum of $500, charged with shooting at Frank Crawford with intent to kill, from the evidence produced at the hearing in 'Squire McCarron's court yesterday afternoon, stands an excellent show of acquittal. Not one witness testified that he fired the gun at Crawford. They simply stated that the gun was fired while Mayes' hand was between the arm and body of Crawford.

Many prominent farmers who have known Mayes for years state that they will go before the court and testify that Mayes has always borne an excellent reputation

THE SCORE TIED AT THE WINDUP

TEAMS DID FINE WORK

East Liverpool Would Probably Have Come Out Ahead Had Not the Rochester Boys Been Compelled to Leave to Catch Their Train.

With the game practically in their hands, the members of the local base ball team were compelled to bow to the whims of several of the Rochester aggregation yesterday afternoon and allow the game to be called when the score was a tie.

Wildest enthusiasm was at a point never before reached during the progress of a game in this locality when the game was called. It certainly did not meet the approval of the fans. To them it seemed that a harder blow could not have been landed. All were confident that within ten minutes the locals would walk from the field with the first victory of the series to their credit. And when their anticipations were so cruelly blocked they showed signs of bitterness against every one that had a say in the matter. They were not, however, aware of the cause and to that can be credited their display of temper.

Manager Walsh, when seen last evening by a News Review reporter, explained the matter most satisfactorily. He stated that the game was called because Mathay and Simpson, out fielders for the visitors, were compelled to be home when the evening train arrived there. They are glass workers and are on night turn this week. They said they would have to leave, even if the game were forfeited. Manager Walsh could see that there was no alternative and gave his permission.

To say that the game was one of the best, taken every way, only half expresses the fact. It was not only deeply interesting from start to finish, but the playing of both teams was superb. And what a crowd there was present to see the unparalleled exhibition! In the grand stand there were fully 500 people, and lined up around the stand were almost twice the number. If the number who saw the game from the box cars and hillsides were included, the total would not fall under 2,000. When the locals made their great spurt in the eighth inning it seemed that a great many more were present.

More money was bet on the game than on all o. the rest of the season together. One man is said to have wagered $150 at odds of 2 to 1 on the locals. The man in question made himself very much conspicuous when the game was called. He said that he hated to see money drop from his hands when he was at the point of placing it in his pocket. The same gang of sports say that they are going to witness the game at Rochester today and that they intend to bet in the same proportion.

The diamond could have been in a better condition. Many were reminded of that day that the All-Cubans exhibited. But it was much better than any expected. Second and third bases were surrounded with sawdust, and where there would have otherwise been puddles of water the ground was in fair shape.

The locals looked like easy marks when the first half inning was finished. Grove, the first man up, got a two-bagger. Wigley flied out. Lindsay was permitted to walk on a fielder's choice. He reached second and scored along with Grove when Miles landed a pretty hit.

Godwin started the ball for the locals by beating vacancy. Reark fell against one for two bases. Rising hit a long one to left field. Reark scored while Reilly was going out to first. In the second things did not look so bad. Two more runs were scored by the locals. Davis singled. Heckathorn did likewise. Webb wasn't to be beaten and he kept in the wagon by placing a similar one. Davis scored on the hit and Heckathorn advanced to third finally scoring on a fumble.

There was nothing doing then with the locals until the eighth was reached. In the fourth the visitors added one more, tying the score, and they certainly did do something in the fifth. Four hits and three runs was all. Shotwell was hit. Grove singled. Wigley singled. The bases were full and the fans were on the anxious seat. Lindsay hit to Maley and Shotwell was out at home. Miles hit to Godwin and Grove was out at the treasured plate. Maley was doing his best and all were confident that he would pull out of the hole, but the next man hit a little one just too far for Godwin's reach. Wigley bravely took advantage and scored. East then singled and scored two more.

After that during the remainder of the game they were powerless to accomplish any runs, but made their presence well known. They came awfully near making the result a cinch in the seventh. Two hits were bunched, but that was all.

Godwin started the eighth, the one that will go down in local history with a single. Reark sacrificed admirably. Rising got in the game and smashed out a single, scoring Godwin. Reilly donned his fighting clothes and hammed one out for two bases. Rising scored on the strength of it. Needham followed his two-bagger made in the sixth with a single and Reilly reached third. Davis was out. But not so with that old standby, "Grandpa." He bombarded one and Reilly tied the score by crossing the plate. Webb fanned and it was done. Two hits were made in the ninth, one by Godwin and one by Rising, but they amounted to naught.

The game was devoid of sensational playing, but every man on both sides did his best and put up a great article of the Americans' paramount sport.

VISITED MRS. M'KINLEY.

Root and Hanna Called, as Did Gen. and Mrs. Hastings.

Canton, O., Sept. 27.—Secretary of War Root and Senator and Mrs. M. A. Hanna reached the city yesterday afternoon from Cleveland to visit Mrs. McKinley.

They were driven direct to the McKinley home in the family carriage, where luncheon was delayed until they arrived. General and Mrs. A. R. Hastings, old friends of the family, arrived over another road about the same time and were members of the luncheon party. Later in the afternoon all visited the tomb of the late president. The party returned to Cleveland last night.

END FRIAR PROBLEM.

Doors May Be Opened For Clergy of All Orders and Denominations.

THUS OVERSHADOW SPANISH.

Pontifical Bull, Indicating Aims of Guidi's Mission, Imminent—Seminaries to be Established, to Educate Native Priests to Replace Foreigners

Rome, Sept. 27.—The publication of a pontifical bull on the apostolic constitution of the Philippines is imminent. It will indicate the general object and aims of Archbishop Guidi's mission to Manila. The apostolic delegate will have to reorganize the whole ecclesiastical hierarchy of the archipelago, will create three new dioceses and will propose prelates for the archbishopric of Manila and the remaining bishoprics, after which he will convoke a synod to establish rules for governing ecclesiastical affairs, in harmony with the customs of the islands, as is done in South America.

Archbishop Guidi is animated by the most liberal ideas regarding the settlement of the Philippine questions.

Guidi Hopes Taft Will Help.

In his letter to Governor Taft he said he was glad he had been chosen to co-operate with him in the pacification of the islands and hoped to be able to count on his assistance.

One of the first projects of the archbishop is the establishment at Manila of two seminaries to educate the native clergy which are destined ultimately to replace the foreigners. These seminaries will be entrusted to a religious order which has not hitherto been represented in the archipelago.

A portion of the students of the seminaries will be sent to Rome to complete their education, either at the North American or South American colleges, or in a special Filipino college, if it is found practicable to establish the latter.

The question regarding the friars, which was the subject of negotiations between the vatican and Governor Taft, might, it is suggested, be solved without recourse to the recall of the friars, by "opening the doors in the Philippines to all the clergy of all religious orders, without distinction or nationality, thus quickly overshadowing the few hundreds of Spanish friars remaining there."

How Funds Are to B eObtained.

The reorganization of the church in the Philippines on a new basis will be carried out with funds from the sale of the agricultural lands belonging to the friars and from the indemnity which the United States will pay for war damages. The idea of having recourse to arbitrators in order to determine the amounts of these funds has been dropped, and it is suggested that the clergy submit estimates, which, unless immediately acceptable to the Philippine and American governments, shall form a basis for negotiations between Governor Taft and Archbishop Guidi.

It is proposed that the friars shall sell their shares of the lands possessed by the corporations and that the payment be in Mexican dollars, the first instalment to be paid when the title deeds to the Philippine ecclesiastical buildings are transferred.

It is also proposed that disputes regarding charitable or educational trusts be amicably settled by Archbishop Guidi and Governor Taft.

ARMY NURSE A HEROINE.

Commended by General Chaffee For Caring For Smallpox Patients.

Washington, Sept. 27.—An instance of bravery and devotion to duty on the part of an army nurse has been reported to the war department by Major General Chaffee, commanding the division of the Philippines, in the following words:

"Nurse Alice Kemmer, army nurse corps, having been granted leave of absence, voluntarily relinquished the same and took upon herself the care of two smallpox patients in an isolation hospital. One of the patients was the wife of an officer, the other an enlisted man. Miss Kemmer had never had the disease, nevertheless she fearlessly entered upon her self-imposed task, and through the months of April and May, 1902, devoted herself to the care of the patients, living in the room with the officer's wife, the enlisted man being in an adjoining room. With never more than two hours' sleep at a time, in intensely hot weather, the nurse attended her patients day and night and saved their lives."

General Chaffee then commends her bravery and conscientious performance of duty.

The Inducement.

The Sister—I have become engaged to Fred.

SEEK LAURA BIGGAR.

ONE OF HER LAWYERS JAILED.

Ex-Justice of the Peace, Who Said He Performed Marriage Ceremony, Also In Prison—Conspiracy Charged by P. J. McNulty, of Pittsburg.

Long Branch, N. J., Sept. 27.—The fight of Laura Bigger, the former actress, for the millions of Henry M. Bennett came to a sudden and dramatic ending yesterday before Justice Wilbur A. Heisley here. The claimant, through counsel, abandoned the suit and announced she would be satisfied with the 60 per cent of the estate given her by the will. Hardly had this been done than counsel for the heirs opposing the Biggar claim showed they had been more than prepared for this step, and warrants charging conspiracy were served on Samuel Stanton, the former justice of the peace of Hudson county, who testified that he had performed the marriage ceremony between Miss Biggar and the Pittsburg millionaire, and Dr. C. C. Hendrick, at whose sanitarium in Bayonne it was alleged that Miss Biggar's child was born.

Officers Hunting Miss Biggar.

A search is now in progress for Miss Biggar herself that she may also be presented to the grand jury to answer a similar charge. Stanton and Dr. Hendrick are now in the jail at Freehold.

During the course of the proceedings Samuel A. Patterson, one of the counsel for the heirs, announced that warrants had been sworn out for the arrest of Miss Biggar, Dr. Hendrick and Mr. Stanton on complaints sworn to by Peter J. McNulty, of Pittsburg, one of the principal legatees and an executor of the will. Hendrick and Stanton were at once arrested and held in $5,000 bail and Judge Heisley ordered the preliminary hearing to begin at once. Miss Biggar was not in court.

Mr. McNulty testified to a conversation he had with Miss Biggar in Pittsburg, when Mr. Bennett was ill. This was three years subsequent to the date of the alleged marriage, and Miss Biggar had been worried because Mr. Bennett was dying and had made no will, and said if he died no provision would be made for her. She made no claim then of being married to Mr. Bennett. Subsequent to the death of Mr. Bennett the witness and A. V. D. Watterson, of Pittsburg, with counsel for the heirs, visited Dr. Hendrick, who claimed to be Miss Biggar's lawyer, told them that Miss Biggar was entitled to the entire estate and would get it, or he would set up the claim she was Bennett's common law wife.

John F. Hawkins, of Asbury Park, who drew the will and is one of the executors, testified that when the will was drawn Bennett told him Miss Biggar was not his wife. He intended to provide for her fully, however. After Mr. Bennett's death witness had a talk with Miss Biggar and she said if she was not properly provided for in the will she would set up the claim of being a common law wife of Mr. Bennett.

Stanton Trapped In Crookedness.

Secretary Tooker, of the Hoboken board of health, testified that on Friday last Stanton told him he had married Mr. Bennett and Miss Biggar about two years before, but had forgotten to file the certificate. Stanton, so Tooker said, wanted him to testify that he, Stanton, called on him a week earlier and told him that the Weber woman named as a witness to the marriage was dead. This Tooker refused to do. The next morning, Tooker continued, Stanton called on him, accompanied by Mr. Young, of counsel for the heirs, who, as it subsequently appeared, was arranging to entrap Stanton. Stanton, Tooker testified, asked him for a blank marriage certificate, which Tooker gave him and which he presently returned, filled out, with the request that Tooker testify that he found it in his desk. He also asked Tooker to make an entry of it in his books. Tooker said that he turned over the certificate to Mr. Young, and that, on learning of this, Stanton declared that he had been entrapped, and begged Tooker to swear that he was drunk when he gave him the paper. The blank identified last week as the original certificate and which appeared to have been altered was identified by Tooker as the one filled out by Stanton.

Murderer Had Committed Suicide.

Bridgeton, N. J., Sept. 27.—The body of Samuel Greenage, who Thursday murdered Constable Harry Bucks, was found in Seeley's mill pond, in Greenwich township, yesterday. He had committed suicide. The sheriff and his posse had hunted for Greenage all night in the marshes.

Order For Philippines Census.

Washington, Sept. 27.—President Roosevelt has signed the order providing for the taking of a census of the Philippines in accordance with the terms of the Philippines act, passed at the last session of congress, and upon the certificate of the Philippine commission that the insurrection has been suppressed.

A Queer Transaction.

Sir Arthur Sullivan discovered at Monte Carlo one time that certain restaurant proprietors had a way of regulating their charges with the appearance and standing of their customers. When lunching alone, Sir Arthur was in the habit of frequenting one particular place where he knew to a centime what the prices were.

One day there sat at the table adjoining his own a wealthy Russian nobleman. Upon asking for his bill the composer found that the prices were exorbitantly high. He sent for the proprietor and demanded an explanation.

The man, an Italian, recognized Sir Arthur as an influential client and was profuse in his apologies. He explained that the mistake lay with the cashier. Going over the items to which exception was taken, the proprietor said: "The convert I take him off directly, and the butter I charge him to the grand duke. He not notice it."

The idea of charging to the grand duke an item against whose extortionate price another customer protested always struck the great composer as a decidedly humorous way of getting out of the difficulty.

A Royal Road to Wealth.

When a certain late shah of Persia became temporarily embarrassed for money, he had quite a unique method of filling his purse. He would go to the market, where, after examining the shops, he would select one and, turning to the proprietor, would say, "Will you take me in as a partner in your business for the day?" The offer was, of course, eagerly accepted. The shah would take his seat near the shop entrance and say to his courtiers, whom he always took with him on these occasions: "Now, I'm salesman. Who'll buy?" The latter, not daring to refuse the offers of the royal merchant, set about clearing the shop of its contents, paying sometimes £50 for goods that were not worth £10. No one was allowed to beat down prices or to leave the place without making purchases. When everything was sold, the shah had a list of the cost price of each article made out and loyally shared with the shopkeeper the amount of the profit realized.

Her Sentiments.

It is related of a clergyman who was the father of a charming and beautiful daughter that one day while preparing his Sunday sermon he was suddenly called away from his desk on a mission of mercy. The sentence at which he left off was this: "I never see a young man of splendid physique and the promise of a glorious manhood almost realized but my heart is filled with rapture and delight."

His daughter, happening to enter the study, saw the sermon and read the words. Sitting down, she wrote underneath, "My sentiments, papa, exactly!"

Anxious to Do Right.

The children had quarreled, and Willie had struck Tommie. Instead of returning the blow Tommie turned and ran down the hall.

"Where are you going, Tommie?" asked his mother.

"Kitchen," answered Tommie tersely.

"What for?"

"You said if anybody was mean to me to heap coals of fire on his head, and I'm goin' for the coals."—Chicago Post.

A VANDERBILT'S WOOING.

Cupid Again Proved Stronger Than Parental Objection.

The engagement of Miss Cathleen Neilson and Reginald Vanderbilt, recently announced, marks the happy culmination of a pretty love story in which Cupid had to contend with parental disapproval, it is said, but in which the merry little god came out, as he usually does, victorious.

For more than a year young Vanderbilt has been worshiping at the shrine of the fair Cathleen, and their engagement was frequently rumored and as often denied. In fact, there has been some opposition, not on the part of Mrs. Vanderbilt alone, nor again on that of Mrs. Neilson, but a concerted action by both mothers, for the simple reason that they thought their children too young to wed.

The story that Mrs. Vanderbilt objected to Miss Neilson on account of her religion—she is a Roman Catholic—has been denied by both families. Youth, and that alone, was the only bar. Mrs. Vanderbilt has been opposed to her son marrying so early in life. But when she found that she could not successfully oppose the young people she gave a most gracious consent.

Probably they will be married in the late fall or early winter, with much pomp and circumstance, for it seems an unwritten family law exacts that no Vanderbilt shall enter quietly into matrimony.

Reginald C. Vanderbilt is just twenty-one years old and is the youngest son of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt. In appearance he resembles the Gwynnes, his mother's family, more than the Vanderbilts. He is rather short and stout, with a round face, and lacks the prominent nose which is a family characteristic on the side of his father.

Miss Cathleen Neilson is of the famous Gebhard family. Only moderately tall, she is slim, piquant, with charming dimples and a superb complexion. Her hair is golden brown, almost blond. She has a sweet disposition, an exquisite voice and is a girl of a great deal of character and decision.

Miss Neilson is an heiress as well as a beauty and will bring into the Vanderbilt family the prestige of Knickerbocker ancestry.

How the Monarch of the Russias Greeted Miss Clara Barton.

Miss Clara Barton, president of the American Red Cross society, who recently returned from St. Petersburg, where she had been in attendance on the seventh conference of the International Red Cross association, was personally decorated by the czar while in his dominions.

The decoration conferred on Miss Barton by the czar is the highest order with which he can honor any one not of royal blood and is a decoration which he has bestowed on many of the crowned heads of Europe.

When Miss Barton was presented to the czar, she bent to kiss the monarch's hand, as is the custom, but the great white czar drew back and said, "No, not you, Miss Barton," and shook her hand instead. Her whole tour through Russia was a triumphal journey for this world popular woman.

AN OPEN SECRET.

There is only one way to cure rheumatism and that is to remove the cause of the disease. Rheumatism is a result of an excess of uric acid in the blood. Uric acid is formed by diseased kidneys. BLOOD WINE compels the kidneys to perform their work, thus stopping the flow of uric acid and absolutely curing rheumatism. Mrs. M. J. Marvelous Elixir of Life Discovered by Famous Doctor-Scientist That Cures Every Known Ailment.

Wonderful Cures Are Effected That Seem Like Miracles Performed—The Secret of Long Life of Olden Times Revived.

The Remedy Is Free to All Who Send Name and Address.

After years of patient study, and delving into the dusty record of the past, as well as following modern experiments in the realms of medical science, Dr. James W. Kidd, 2917 Baltes Building, Fort Wayne, Indiana, makes the startling announcement that he has surely discovered the elixir of life. That he is able with the aid of a mysterious compound, known only to himself, produced as a result of the years he has spent in searching for this precious life-giving boon, to cure any and every disease that is known to the human body. There is no doubt of the doctor's earnestness in making his claim and the remarkable cures that he is daily effecting seems to bear him out very strongly. His theory which he advances is one of reason and based on sound experience in a medical practice of many years. It costs nothing to try his remarkable "Elixir of Life," as he calls it, for he sends it free, to anyone who is a sufferer, in sufficient quantities to convince of its ability to cure, so there is absolutely no risk to run. Some of the cures cited are very remarkable, and but for reliable witnesses would hardly be credited. The lame have thrown away crutches and walked about after two or three trials of the remedy. The sick, given up by home doctors, have been restored to their families and friends in perfect health. Rheumatism, neuralgia, stomach, heart, liver, kidney, blood and skin diseases and bladder troubles disappear as by magic. Headaches, backaches, nervousness, fevers, consumption, coughs, colds, asthma, catarrh, bronchitis and all affections of the throat, lungs or any vital organs are easily overcome in a space of time that is simply marvelous.

Partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, dropsy, gout, scrofula and piles are quickly and permanently removed. It purifies the entire system, blood and tissue, restores normal nerve power, circulation and a state of perfect health is produced at once. To the doctor all systems are alike and equally affected by this great "Elixir of Life." Send for the remedy today. It is free to every sufferer. State what you want to be cured of and the sure remedy for it will be sent you free by return mail.

Vigil In a Den Of Lions

Hunting The King of Beasts In Abyssinia

Lieutenant Colonel Andrew Haggard of the English army recently related a thrilling story of a lion hunt in which he took part in Abyssinia. Colonel Haggard at the time was governor of Massaua and had been zealously pursuing a band of Abyssinian robbers, led by a noted chief.

After the capture of the chief they became firm friends, and a lion hunt was organized. It was not until he had established perfectly friendly relations with the Abyssinian robber that Colonel Haggard obtained, as he says for the first time, an opportunity of seeing a lion just as well as the lion could see him; in fact, of being close enough to him to recognize his features perfectly. Following is the colonel's account of his experience:

Bal Amber Ras Yasoos Kefla and all his men were lion hunters. Indeed

the headdress of each of the brigand followers was composed of a strip of lion's mane tied round the head and looking like a halo. As these wreaths of lion mane waved about in the wind it can well be imagined what fierceness they lent to the already fierce faces beneath. Many of the men were assembled by their chief in council together to consider how they could best insure my obtaining a good chance of a shot at a lion. For, although there were several of the huge cats continually prowling about in the nighttime, by day they either retired to their dens or remained concealed in the thickest and almost impenetrable parts of the thorny jungle. Here, even if seen, the chances of a successful shot were problematical in the extreme. Several schemes were proposed and all rejected in turn by the chieftain until a fine young robber named Burro spoke.

He said that if the "bey" (meaning myself) wanted a shot there was only one way after the recent rains, which had made the bush greener than ever, in which he could be sure of seeing a lion, and that was the method which his own father had adopted once with success. It was risky work certainly, but he believed that if the bey would follow his advice he would see not one lion, but two lions. "Nay, more," he added, with a laugh; "he will probably see five or six lions, although three or four of them will be so small that they will hardly count."

Upon being asked to explain himself he said:

"There is a lion's den up among the rocks at the head of the little ravine which comes down from the range of mountains on the south side of the big ravine called the Khor el Mashalit. I have recently seen tracks of a very large lion and lioness coming up and down this little khor, and I believe they have young cubs in the den, which is entered by a hole some eight or nine feet above the bed of the khor. The lions spring up and down to get in and out. Now, the bey must go and climb up just about the first streak of dawn and get into the lions' den and wait there with the cubs. They are not likely to be big enough to hurt him. If the lioness is not inside when he goes to get in, and she probably will not be, he can do that in safety. Then he can shoot her as she comes in, which will be very shortly after daylight. The old lion will not probably go back with her, but lie out somewhere in the country near the big khor; especially if he has killed meat in the night he will remain near it and rest. Now, we can all make a line, and, starting several miles away, we can by firing off guns gradually drive the whole jungle up to the little khor. The old lion is certain to go home then to the den, if only to look after the lioness and the cubs, and perhaps some other lions may go that way also, but I think they will be too much afraid of the old lion just now to actually enter the den. However, I have spoken—that is my plan. What does the bey think of it? I am willing to accompany him myself," young Robber Burro continued after a pause, "and will carry a second rifle and wait inside the den if we succeed in getting into it in safety."

It was a most alarming scheme certainly and one which required a momentary pause before being acceded to.

But as the robber chieftain applauded it as good and said that he was perfectly willing that his men should drive the jungle for me I was not going to show the white feather by declining. Moreover, I thought that what a young savage like Burro was not afraid to venture I most certainly was not going to shrink from myself.

All arrangements were made accordingly for the following night, but dearly did I wish that instead of being armed with a Remington rifle belonging to one of my men I had got a reliable Express, of which the strikers were not broken. However, I was careful to see that the rifle that I took and also that which Burro took were in good working order. We would not leave anything to chance in that matter. Anything more weird and eerie than the last part of our journey in the dark up the khor to the lions' den it would be impossible to imagine. And when arrived at the den the tension while we waited a few seconds below it with rifles ready after making a sound or two to attract the lioness if she were within was perhaps the greatest I have ever known.

But she was not in, and we scrambled up the rock and down the other side into the most horrible smelling place that I ever entered. Imagine the lion house at the zoological gardens if it had never been cleaned out! To make matters more weird and eerie we could see the green eyes of several small lion cubs which were rushing about in the darkness and spitting and snarling like cats. Burro tried chopping at them with his sword, but the cave or den was full of bones, and he could not get at them in the dark in consequence, so we determined to wait until daylight. Besides we did not dare to leave the hole which we had come in at. We had, although it was a big hole, great difficulty in both standing on a ledge inside it so as to look out over the big rock, but we were able to do so at length and to stand or, rather, lie together over the stone.

We had not been ten minutes thus when dawn broke, and five minutes later Burro gripped my arm. He was not a second too soon, for, although I had never seen her approach, there within twelve feet of us was the lioness. She was standing with a little deer, called a dik-dik, in her mouth and looking up at me, ready to spring up as usual, but too astonished to do so. My Remington rang out, and the bullet went in fair between her eyes. She died with hardly a growl or a struggle.

When an hour later we heard shots in the distance, we were determined not to be so nearly caught napping a second time. But we need not have been afraid, for after awhile a terrible roaring was heard, and a huge lion came swinging along up the sandy bed of the ravine, turning back and stopping every few minutes to roar. But all of a sudden he saw us, and then quick as lightning he charged and sprang. Even as he leaped at the hole in the den we both fired together, the rifles actually touching his skin as he lit upon the rock, one of his huge paws taking hold of the sleeve of my coat and the leather strap of my water bottle at the same time.

And as the huge creature fell back in its death agony upon its mate he would certainly have dragged me with him had not fortunately the strap of the bottle broken. Thus my life was saved, and a few seconds later the magnificent lion was dead.

Pulled Men From the Surf.

In January, 1892, a vessel was blown ashore at night on the coast of Washington state in a lonely region where there were no life saving stations. It was a terrific storm, and all night long Mrs. Martha White, the wife of a local settler, patrolled the beach with a lantern. She thought she heard guns at intervals, and when day broke she saw the wreck. Taking off her petticoat, she waved it as a signal, but the situation of the vessel was evidently hopeless.

Nearly all of those on board were lost, but three men she succeeded, though herself a very little woman, in pulling out of the surf, afterward restoring them to life. For this service she received a gold medal from the United States government.

A Scholarly Milkmaid.

He overtook her on the roadside while wandering for his health in the Berkshires.

"At last," he said, "I have found a typical milkmaid of old New England. See her big sunbonnet, her dress up to her shoe tops, her plain but neat calico and the very pail itself. It is a morning for adventure, and I will speak to her."

He quickened his walk and was soon near her.

"Fine morning this morning," he said. "I would like to help you carry the pail."

There was no reply, but he felt the roguish smile that he knew was hid under the sunbonnet. So he kept on doing all the talking until they reached the lane into which she was about to turn.

"Can I go with you?" he asked.

She turned and faced him.

"No, sir; you may not, nor do I desire your attentions. It is bad enough to have a grown man splitting his infinitives, but when he shows his ignorance of the proper use of should and would and then caps the climax by using can for may I think it is only my duty to tell him that the summer school is in session about ten miles from here."—New York Times.

Witty Members of Parliament.

Charles James Fox once made remarks on government gunpowder in the house of commons which Adams, another member, thought offensive to the ministry, and the two met, as even wise men did in those days, to shoot one another. Fox refused to fire, declaring he had no quarrel, but Adams aimed and shot, slightly wounding his adversary. When it was over, the two shook hands, and Fox was happy enough to say, "You'd have killed me, Adams, if it had not been government powder!"

Other men there have been who would not sit through a speech for the government's sake, much less fight a duel. "What's going?" somebody asked a member of parliament when a minister had got up to speak. The M. P., hurrying on, said, "I am." The story recalls one of Lord Erskine, who was stopped in the lobby with the question, "Who's up?" "Windham," said Erskine, and the other asked, "What's he on?" "His legs," replied the witty lawyer.

Crusoe Kept Good Friday.

There was once a woman in Albany, prudent and cautious about the literature read by her children, who appealed to Bishop Doane for advice and instruction in the matter. They considered and discussed many juvenile books, the bishop either approving or condemning them as they came up for judgment, until finally "Robinson Crusoe" was named.

"Do you think it suitable for my Tommy?" asked the woman.

"Oh, yes," replied the bishop. "It is quite a harmless narrative and has pleased boys for ages. Besides, you know, there is some reason to believe Robinson Crusoe was an Episcopalian." And the bishop's eyes twinkled.

"Indeed!" exclaimed Tommy's mother. "Why, I never knew that."

How It Happened.

"It was kinder funny—that is, overlookin' the seriousness of it," said the landlord of the Pettyville tavern. "You see, Miss Babtiella Lanks, who has—not meanin' any disrespect to her, you understand—been an old maid so long that it's generally believed to be chronic, approached the railroad crossin', and a brakeman waved a red flag at her to warn her of the danger. She thought he was tryin' to flirt with her and advanced toward him with a smile, and a caboose that was backin' up struck her good and plenty. Luckily no bones were broken, and the first thing she said when she recovered consciousness was 'Oh, this is so sudden!'"—Smart Set.

Brain Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You may prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get the reliable remedy at Charles F. Craig's.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO INVESTORS

Mine La Motte Lead & Smelting Company owns 37,611 acres of ground located in Madison and St. Francois Counties, Southeastern Missouri. Of that total 13,544 ACRES ARE KNOWN TO BE HEAVILY MINERALIZED. Only 20 acres have been developed by underground workings, and about 67 acres have received attention on the surface.

The mines are producing today, under very limited operation, more than $150,000 a year. The present management is now installing machinery and improvements that will swell this annual output to AT LEAST $500,000. Present shafts and drifts place in sight ore enough to tax all available machinery for centuries. Eliminating from the calculation all revenue from agricultural, timbering and miscellaneous sources, the property will earn a sum ample to pay immense dividends annually on the capitalization.

Investment in such a proposition as this does not in any sense border upon speculation. Stock in this corporation is as carefully protected as a Government bond. Since it is offered to you at a figure considerably below par, you can be assured of several times the ordinary rate of income.

Mine La Motte has been for more than a century one of the most famous lead producers in the country. It is the only mine today producing and shipping Nickel and Cobalt regularly. Its "Anchor Brand" of Pig Lead has been the standard of the market for years.

The estate, mine and plant have been under private ownership and control until now. From this time forward the output of the property will be increased as rapidly as modern machinery and methods can be installed to do it. Present earnings assure annual dividends of at least 8 per cent on par, and inside of six months this will be doubled.

A small block of stock is herewith offered for sale at $7.50 per share (par value $10). The amount put out at this figure will be limited. Immediate investors can make good profit, both on income and on rise in value of stock.

A large number of representative Ohio investors have already made careful inspection of property and plant. We will place you in touch with them, or if you or any of your friends will undertake to defray all expense incident to same. We shall ask youto do no business with us unless you may be absolutely satisfied as to thesafety, integrity and profit of this investment.

DOWN TO FACTS

Read What East Liverpool Citizens Say.

Get down to the facts of the matter. Don't take a stranger's word. It is easier to prove the truthfulness of statements made by citizens of East Liverpool than endorsement coming from some far away place. Read the following:

Mr. S. C. Hill, of Esther, Pa., carpenter, says: "For a year I suffered from pain across my back, difficulty with the kidney secretions and was naturally anxious to procure some treatment which would check it if not radically cure the trouble. Advised by a friend I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W., pharmacy, and I want East Liverpool people to thoroughly grasp this fact before I used the entire contents of the box I was cured. To prove that my convictions were laid on solid foundation I have since purchased Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured him. Now when a preparation which cured me in the condition I was in and also my neighbor, a preparation which is held in such estimation in and around East Liverpool that an acquaintance of mine advised me through a newspaper statement to obtain it, when that preparation performs exactly what it promises what can be expected of any resident of East Liverpool suffering from kidney complaint who will not take advantage of his neighbors' experience and profit by his opinions."

Little Creatures About Our Homes

III.—Butterflies and Moths.

No one who has ever watched the development of a great, disgusting green worm into one of the most beautiful of God's creatures can fail to be ever after interested in such subjects as the one at the head of this article unless his taste has been so blunted that he can see no more beauty of coloring in the rainbow than in a penny valentine.

The beauty of these little, scaly winged creatures does not end with what we see with the unaided eye, but the microscope shows us that what appears like dust on the wings of butterflies and moths is really composed of minute scales of so delicate symmetry as to make one wonder anew at the perfection of nature's handiwork. And this is not all, for these little, feathery scales seen through the microscope are sufficient to identify the species of the insect from which they were taken. These scales are what give color to the wings. They are fastened to them by short stems and adhere to the fingers when we seize one of the insects by the wings. The author was once examining some water from a stagnant pool when suddenly there came into sight one of these scales, which he immediately recognized as coming from the wing of a hawk moth. He called to a lad who had been a zealous assistant and who had only a few days before clapped his hands in excitement on viewing for the first time the scales of this insect and of two other species which he had captured and brought in to show his prowess. The lad, not knowing what he should see, looked through the instrument for a moment, then glanced up at the author and exclaimed: "Oh! Did that pretty hawk moth bathe in that filthy water?"

As these scaly winged insects all pass through about the same changes in their development from the egg to the perfect insect, a description of the metamorphosis of one species will be sufficient for the purpose of this short article. We will take for our illustration the hawk moth, sometimes called the humming bird moth from its resemblance to that fairylike little creature when it is probing a flower for honey. It is also sometimes called the five spotted sphinx.

Some fine day after the cold spring weather has passed the mother moth searches out a potato or a tomato plant, for the leaves of one of these plants furnished her with food when she was only a baby worm, and she instinctively places her eggs on one of them that her children may find plenty of nourishing food ready for them when a few days later they shall emerge from the tiny eggs. Should the weather be warm and pleasant the leaf will be swarming with a hundred or more little wriggling, wormlike larvæ within a week or ten days, all of them eating, eating, eating, as though that were their only mission in life. In fact, this seems to be their only mission for the following three or four weeks, as they eat about twice their own weight daily, and in a few weeks they become great green potato worms from three to four inches long, each weighing about 20,000 times as much as when it left the egg. It does stop eating, however, every few days when it has grown so large that its skin will not hold more. At such times it rests for awhile. Its skin turns to a grayish color, and it seems to be getting prematurely old. Then it bows its back, swells out each ring in the middle part of its body and bursts the skin open along the back. Now, with a little struggle, it draws out its head and a moment later its tail from the old skin and emerges in a bright new suit. The author once saw a caterpillar go through the whole of this molting process in a little less than two minutes. Caterpillars shed their skins in this way four or five times before they have attained their full size. They are now three or four inches long, and as they are full of rich juices they are often chosen by the ichneumon flies as a fit place in which to deposit their eggs so that when they hatch the young grubs will be surrounded by an abundance of food.

When the caterpillar of the hawk moth has shed its skin for the last time and again gorged itself with food toward the close of summer, it crawls down from the plant on which it has been feeding and buries itself in the ground, where the skin thickens and hardens and changes to a brownish color, and a long tube grows and bends over so as to resemble the handle of a pitcher. In this pupa state the caterpillar remains until spring, when it bursts from its wrappings and comes out of the ground a beautiful moth, ready to repeat the strange life of its ancestors. The jug handle of the pupa contains the future moth's tubular tongue, which it keeps coiled up like the hairspring of a watch except when it uses it to probe for honey in the deep corolla of some flower while still on the wing, like a humming bird. This tongue, or proboscis, is often five or six inches long.

Wonderful are the changes wrought in the caterpillar while it lies buried from our sight in Mother Earth. The mouth, with strong jaws, working horizontally for the mastication of vegetable food, must be changed to a suctorial mouth, fitted to suck up the nectar of the flowers, and the remainder of the digestive apparatus must be changed to digest the new kind of food. Ten of the sixteen legs of the caterpillar must be absorbed, leaving only the six true legs of the perfect insect. To the system of air tubes opening through little mouths along each side of the body to supply the necessary air for the caterpillar must be added four or five sacklike lungs in different parts of the body.

The wings must be formed and strong muscles developed to move them in flight. The whole nervous system must be remodeled to suit the needs of the mature animal which is much higher in the scale of life than is the caterpillar, and two large compound eyes, with hundreds of facets and lenses, must be formed, for the caterpillar has only six simple eyes, or ocelli.

All of the caterpillars are the larvæ of either butterflies or moths, and all are wormlike in form, so much so that most of them are often mistaken for worms. Nearly all of them have two or more pairs of jaws, which work horizontally instead of vertically, like those of higher animals, and some of them have a gizzard with teeth for still further grinding food. Nearly all are vegetable feeders, and some of them do much damage to growing crops. The common cankerworm, for example, destroys many of our currant blossoms and the foliage buds of many of our cultivated trees. You often see it hanging by a silken thread of its own spinning from the apple, plum, cherry or other fruit trees. It is one of the many measuring worms which children take delight in watching.

The cutworm is the caterpillar of a pretty little owlet moth and does much damage to our gardens by cutting down the tender cucumber, squash and tomato plants, and it sometimes destroys whole fields of beans, cabbages, potatoes and other vegetables. The army worm, cotton worm and apple worm are also very destructive, and these are all caterpillars.

The clothes moth deposits its eggs in fur, wood, feathers, etc., and the little caterpillar appears in from five to ten days and begins to feed, constructing a portable cylindrical case of the wool or fur upon which it is feeding. It leaves this tube open and lines it with silk spun from its own body. As it increases in size it enlarges its portable house by splitting the tube and inserting a gore first at one end and then at the other. It is very destructive to clothing, furs, etc., for it thrusts its head out of one end of the tube and eats as ravenously as its vegetarian relatives.

While most of the insects of this order are destructive to a greater or less extent of that which is useful to men, one of them, the silkworm, produces the material for a fabric which adds millions of dollars annually to the wealth of the world. The Bombyx mori, the species which furnishes the larger part of the silk of commerce, is a native of China and is now essentially a domestic animal. For centuries the Chinese government jealously guarded this insect lest foreigners should purloin their secret, obtain some of the silkworms and be thereby enabled to produce their own silk. History tells us that in the early part of the sixth century A. D. a Catholic missionary succeeded in carrying away some of the eggs, or cocoons, in a bamboo walking stick and that he took them to the Emperor Justinian. From these the silk culture of southern Europe grew to be of great commercial importance within a few years.

The silkworm in its mature state is a clumsy moth, with a body much larger in proportion to the size of the wings than the bodies of other moths. This disproportion is so great in the female that she does not fly. The male is much more active. The caterpillars are ravenous eaters. Those coming from a single ounce of eggs eat, on an average, three-fifths of a ton of mulberry leaves and produce about 120 pounds of cocoons. The female dies very soon after laying her eggs.

The full grown caterpillar, instead of burying itself in the ground to pass through the pupa state, as does the caterpillar of the hawk moth, winds itself in a ball of silk which issues from two little spinnerets near the mouth. This process requires about two months, and when the cocoon is finished it is about the size and shape of a large sized pigeon's egg. The silk from the cocoon of the male is both finer and stronger than that from the cocoon of the female.

There is but one American species of silkworm which has proved to be very profitable as a silk spinner, the polyphemus. This is a large, beautiful moth, and it wraps its cocoon in one or more leaves.

If any of the young people who read this article should care to study either butterflies or moths, they should remember that any caterpillar kept in confinement must have plenty of fresh air and plenty of fresh food of the kind upon which it is feeding when found. They should also be careful not to keep the pupa too warm. If the potato worm is in your collection, furnish fresh dirt for it to hide itself in when it is ready for the change to the pupa state and then keep it in a cool place. A cool cellar will do.

HOPELESS CASES.

When the doctor leaves and says the case is hopeless, what remains to be done? Nothing, if the doctor's word is final. Much, if you will listen to the statements of men and women who were once "hopeless cases" given up by doctors, and who were perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Nothing is more sure than that thousands of men and women with diseased lungs, obstinate coughs, hemorrhage, emaciation and night-sweats, have been restored to perfect health by the use of the "Discovery." Will it cure you?

It has cured in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred where it was given a fair and faithful trial. By that record you have only two chances in a hundred of failure and ninety-eight chances of being restored to perfect health. It is worth trying.

Abram Freer, Esq., of Rockbridge, Greene Co., Ill., writes: "My wife had a severe attack of pleurisy and lung trouble; the doctors gave her up to die. She commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and she began to improve from the first dose. By the time she had taken eight or ten bottles she was cured, and it was the cause of a large amount being sold here. I think the 'Golden Medical Discovery' is the best medicine in the world for lung trouble."

Don't Do It "Just For Now."

Many young people form habits which cripple and handicap them for life by doing things "just for now." They let things drop wherever they happen to be "just for now," thinking that they will put the book, the tool, the letter or the article of clothing later where it belongs. When these young people grow up to manhood and womanhood, they find that the habit of putting things down anywhere "just for now" has become a tyrant that fills their lives with confusion and disorder. It takes no more time or effort to put a thing where it belongs in the first place than it does later, perhaps less, and the chances are that if you do not do so at the proper time you never will. Even if it costs you a little inconvenience at the moment to put everything in its proper place, to do everything at the proper time, the orderly and methodical habits which you cultivate in this way will increase your power and usefulness a hundredfold and may save you much trouble and mortification in the future.—Success.

19TH YEAR. NO. 229. EAST LIVERPOOL, O., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1902—TWELVE PAGES. TWO CENTS.

The Outcome of the Alliance Conference Is Deeper Embarrassment For the Democracy.

Instead of adopting measures for the relief of the very embarrassing muddle in which the Democrats and Labor leaders have mixed themselves, the conference at Alliance yesterday had no other effect than to more seriously complicate the situation.

Fourteen Democrats and two Labor men were present at the meeting, and from what could be gathered on the outside the sessions were reasonably harmonious. This is accounted for by the fact that the Democrats so greatly outnumbered the Labor men that the latter were not permitted to take a very active part in the proceedings.

The Labor representatives were Fred R. Johnson and William Cobbs both of Alliance, the former being secretary of the district labor executive committee. F. L. Clark, of Canton was made chairman of the meeting He is a member of the Democratic congressional committee and is said to be very much in favor of Duffy giving way to a Canton man for the place on the Democratic ticket.

Precisely 30 letters were received from as many labor unions throughout the Eighteenth district, replying to the request sent out by the Labor committee, asking that an opinion be given as to what course Mr. Duffy should take. When it is considered that there are some 35 unions in East Liverpool alone it can be readily seen that the expression was anything but a general one. Of these communications, a few more than half declared that Duffy should remain where he had been placed in the beginning—upon the Labor ticket. The remainder were about equally divided, a part favoring the East Liverpool man's candidacy upon the Democratic ticket and the remainder giving it as their opinion that he be permitted to do as he might choose for himself.

Mr. Duffy made a speech, in which he declared that although he was a Democrat and believed in Democratic doctrines, he had accepted the Labor nomination, and that without the consent of the Labor people, he would not accept the place tendered him upon the Democratic ticket.

No action was taken at the meeting the Democrats deeming it unnecessary to express an opinion, since the majority of the Labor organizations heard from had favored Duffy's remaining where he was.

Within a fortnight Zach S. Robison who is serving a life sentence in the Ohio penitentiary, having been convicted in this county during the summer of 1897 of second degree murder, will likely secure his release from that institution.

Attorney Hollis E. Grosshans, who, it will be remembered defended Robison at the trial, and who has for several months been working for a pardon for his client, stated this morning that the case assumed a very favorable phase, and he thinks that Robison will doff the convict garb in a very short time.

The attorney is in receipt of a communication from Senator C. C. Connell which gives him the assurance. Senator Connell has voluntarily agreed to use all the power at his command to secure the pardon. At the time that Robison was convicted the senator was an associate at law with Judge Young who also assisted in the defense and was through that means made very familiar with the testimony brought to bear in the case.

It is said that the senator never did believe Robison guilty, and that he made up his mind during the progress of the trial, if the opportunity was ever presented, he would endeavor to intercede for the man. Another reason given for the senator's voluntary proposition is that he desires to carry out the wish of Judge Young, deceased. The judge openly declared that he would work for Robison's release and the senator feels it his duty as a friend of the deceased to do what he would have attempted.

Senator Connell, it is said, will present the matter to the board of pardons next week. He has a strong argument to offer and considering the fact that an argument by a man of his weight can but have but effect, Robison certainly has a bright prospect for deliverance from the big walls.

The usual formalities in securinga pardon will likely be dispensed with owing to the impaired health of Robison. There is a clause in the Ohio statute that provides for such emergencies. It states that when a prisoner is in immediate danger of death, a pardon can be granted without a notice of the application being published, and that under any circumstances if the warden and pardon board so desire, all formalities can be disregarded.

Robinson is now nearing sixty years of age. He has been in ill health since the first day of his confinement and his condition is considered extremely dangerous. He is a trusty and has borne an excellent reputation during his term and he has the good wishes of all the officials connected with the penitentiary. Many of his friends in East Liverpool express a desire for his release.

FINE CONDITION SHOWN

By the Potteries of Trenton—Brotherhood Stirred Up By a Councilmanic Fight—An Alarming Shortage of Fuel—Plants May Close.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 27.—In spite of the protests from the labor organizations throughout the state against the retention of John C. Ward as state factory inspector, Governor Murphy announces that he is powerless to remove him. At the recent convention of the New Jersey State Federation of Labor, charges were preferred against Ward for permitting children under fourteen years old to be employed in workshops and factories. The foundation for the charges grew out of the present condition of the local potteries and the glass works in South Jersey.

A committee of three composed of Henry J. Gottlob, of Newark, George P. Pierce, of Woodbury, and Daniel Trenan, of Paterson, was appointed to lay the matter of Ward's removal before Governor Murphy.

The committee met the governor and his reply was that he was powerless to revove Ward, unless he had the consent of the state senate, for, as that body had ratified the appointment, it would also have to act upon his dismissal. The committee has filed its report with the executive board which threatens to bring the matter before the legislature.

Almost all of the general ware potteries have gotten out new shapes for the holiday trade. Because of the steady demand for the old shapes there have been few new designs, the difference being noted chiefly in gilding and decorations. The innovations are confined principaily to dinner ware in which there is almost room for a higher grade of excellence.

A general healthy condition has existed throughout the local potteries during the past year during which the plants were well stocked with orders. At present there is no sign of a falling off and save for the customary slack season during the holidays the employes look for steady work until spring at least.

James Braithwaite, who is a member of the Excise board is a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket. Mr. Braithwaite is a member of Kilnmen's local No. 35, and a vice president of the National Brotherhood of Operatives.

A movement has been begun among the members of the different pottery locals toward defeating the renomination of James Clark for common council. At the time of Mr. Clark's election he was one of the most ardent champions of the Brotherhood in this city and was the representative of Kilnmen's local No. 35 to the Mercer county Central Labor uinon. While serving as a delegate, Clark began a movement for none but the employment of union labor upon city work. The resolution was introduced in council through the instrumentality Clark who, when the bill came up for its final passage over the mayor's veto found Clark among the opposition. His action created discord throughout the ranks of the Brotherhood and he was withdrawn as a delegate to the central body.

Clark remained away from the meetings of the kilnmen until finally his name was dropped from the roll. Because of his attitude on the labor question the individual members of the Brotherhood have began a movement for his defeat.

The faces of pottery manufacturers have taken on a gloomy look because of the alarming shortage of the coal supply. The use of anthracite was discarded several weeks ago and since then the potteries have been operating with soft coal. The supply of the bituminous has dropped one-half below the usual amount and not a car has reached this city during the past ten days. The coal companies are unable to fill their orders and the chances are that before the end of another week, if the strike is not ended or more coal received, nearly all the plants will have to cease operations.

Reports from the new pottery at Elizabeth which is owned by Trenton capital are that conditions are better and further improvements is expected. From Camden comes the news that work is a little slack because of the warerooms being overstocked.

Kilnmen's local No. 35 is holding very interesting meetings, reinstating old members and taking in new ones. At its last meeting the treasurer was authorized to pay $50 to the new Saggermaker's union, this being due the saggermakers while they were members of that organization.

The dippers, turners, throwers and handlers, saggermakers and printers all report new members.

Akron the Mecca to Which Republicans Bend Their Steps Today—Superb Oratorical Program.

Akron, September 27.—(Special)—From indications the Republican campaign opening will be the greatest demonstration of a political nature that Ohio has witnessed for years. All day long special trains have been bringing in thousands of visitors and the crowd which will greet the famous speakers this afternoon will be enormous.

An imposing parade, miles in length, started at 1:30 o'clock. In it was represented the chief organizations of the city and marching clubs and bands from Cleveland, Youngstown, Niles, Mansfield and scores of other northern Ohio towns. Near the head of the procession rode the president of the day, Governor George K. Nash, and the distinguished orators who are to speak at Grace park as soon as the parade is over.

The principal address will be by Elihu Root, secretary of war, one of the most noted and brilliant men in public life today. Following him will be brief addresses by Senators Foraker and Hanna. Governor Nash will preside at the meeting.

In the park a stand which will accommodate 500 persons has been erected. This and all available space surrounding was packed with a mass of humanity long before the time set for speeches to begin. The speakers arrived at noon, on a special train from Cleveland, and were met by a reception committee and escorted to the Buchtel hotel, where they dined and held a short reception.

The big parade was, of course, the spectacular part of the entire day, and in order to make the part which Akron and Summit county was to play in it one which will be of credit to the city and county, handsome silk flags were offered to the township turning out the largest mounted delegation, to the township turning out the largest delegation on foot, and to the city ward turning out the largest number of men. In addition all the city marchers were provided with small flags and white hats.

HANNA'S VISIT WILL BE LATER

Senator Not Likely to Reach East Liverpool Until Third Week in October.

To Enable Him to Address the People of This City—Lightning Changes of House Code Committee On Franchise Legislation Issue.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, Sept. 27.—Chairman Patterson, of the speakers' bureau at Republican state headquarters, says it has been necessary to change Senator Hanna's itinerary, which will necessitate a postponement of the East Liverpool meeting until probably the third week in the campaign. It was intended that he would open his speaking tour at East Liverpool, but Steubenville will probably be selected instead. The date will likely be October 6.

It is now planned to have the senator make a special trip for the East Liverpool meeting. His first week will be spent in southeastern Ohio and northern West Virginia. The Steubenville meeting will be held in the afternoon. Chairman Patterson said that Senator Hanna would postpone his going to Lisbon, the place of his birth, until next year, when he would make the opening speech of his itinerary at that place. The campaign will be opened at another point more centrally located, but the senator thinks the Lisbon meeting could be made a rousing one and that a great crowd would be in attendance. The idea is to make the gathering one of the most memorable political events ever held in eastern Ohio.

The members of the house code committee are lightning change artists. They do one thing one day and reverse themselves the next day. It is impossible to anticipate their acts They changed front on different propositions this week. Thursday night they agreed to leave the franchise laws alone. Friday morning they agreed not to leave them alone. The old laws with the unconstitutional features taken out were put into the code. The committee's report will be placed in the hands of the house Monday and it will be up to this body to decide among other things whether the franchise laws shall be re-enacted or left as they are now for future general assemblies to correct.

The senate has taken a stand against franchise legislation at this special session and has adopted a resolution providing for the appointment of a commission to investigate the subject and report to the next legislature Although the special committee of the house decided against curative legislation, passing the question up to the house for disposition, several members who were conspicuous in their support of this action underwent a complete change and came out in favor of curative legislation. Some members change their opinions over night. The code committee has now completed its work. Its reports go to the house Monday afternoon. The state printer has a large force at work on the amended bill and printed copies will be ready for distribution in the house and senate when both bodies convene Monday afternoon.

Ohio ex rel Isaac B. Cameron, treasurer of state, vs. William L. Alexander treasurer of Bucyrus, is the style of a case filed in supreme court Friday. A judgment of $1,034.14 was decided against the city of Bucyrus by the common pleas court of Crawford county which Treasurer Alexander refuses to pay. The petition, a writ of mandamus, asks that he be compelled to do so.

A special from Lima says that Robert V. Hampson, of Salem, has been elected grand treasurer of the Grand Chapter, Ohio Royal Arch Masons which met at that place.

Will Veon, a former resident of East Liverpool, has taken up his residence in Columbus, coming here from a western Pennsylvania town. He was married three months ago.

CHILD BITTEN BY A DOG

Eva, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Foutts, of West Market street, was bitten on the right leg this morning by a dog, while she was walking through the Diamond in company with another playmate. The dog came running across the street from the west side of the Diamond and jumped at Miss Foutts, trying to bite her right hand. She raised her arm and the dog then bit her on the leg.

She was hastily taken to the office of a physician, where the wound was cauterized.

Playing at Rochester.

The local base ball team, accompanied by several scores of enthusiasts left on the noon train for Rochester where they will play the second game of the series. The rooters carried with them big megaphones and other instruments of noise, and East Liverpool will undoubtedly be noticed on the grounds.

HAND AND HIP HURT

Stonemason Seriously Injured While Helping to Unload a Wagon.

Andrew R. McDowell, a contracting stone quarryman living at 190 Thompson avenue, met with an accident yesterday that will incapacitate him for work for a number of days. While assisting in the unloading of stone from a wagon Mr. Foutts was hurt.

In some manner he fell under one of the heavy weights and sustained a badly mashed hand and sprained hip He went to the office of a physician and had the wounds dressed.

W. A. TARR DECIDES TO GET OFF THE TICKET

Lisbon, September 27.—(Special.)—Chairman McNutt, of the Republican county central commiftee, this morning received the resignation of County Infirmary Director W. A. Tarr. Mr Tarr recently accepted the position of superintendent of the clay banks and coal mines at the Vulcan brick works at Wellsville, and moved his family to that place this week. He gave this as his reason for resigning his office

In accordance with a resolution passed at the convention last spring it is now within the power of the executive committee to fill the vacancy by appointment, and Chairman McNutt has issued a call for a meeting of the body at the court house next Friday at 1 o'clock.

BIDS FOR PAVING

NONE AT ALL WERE SUBMITTED FOR PROSPECT STREET.

John Ryan Gets the Contract for Paving on Sugar Alley.

When Councilman Barlow was elected one thought uppermost in his mind was to have Prospect street paved The matter was brought up in council through the regular channels, but the street will not be paved this year. Bids for this improvement were to have been opened by Clerk Willis Davidson at 1 o'clock today, but there were none to open. Now the matter is dropped, at least for the time being.

Two bids for the paving of Sugar alley from Kossuth to Robinson streets were opened, they being filed by Contractors Thomas McLaughlin and John Ryan. Ryan was awarded the contract for this work and filed the required bond of $50. His bid was: Paving, $1.06; excavating, 27 cents; curbing, 35 cents.

McLaughlin's bid: $1.10 for paving; excavating, 30 cents; curbing, 30 cents. Ryan will commence work on the improvement at once.

Work was to have been started this morning paving a gutter on Sherman avenue, but it was deferred until Monday morning.

Married at Parsonage.

HEALY SUBMITS HIS PROPOSITION

Never did Wellsville have a more exciting council meeting than the special session held last night.

The meeting started off with seven councilmen present, Smith, Weaver and Aughinbaugh being absent. There being only this number present no ordinances could be passed.

The first matter of importance to be brought up was that of an injunction which is asked by Philip Bruner, of Front street, to hold up all of the paving improvements, and the Maple alley paving in particular. Mr. Bruner it seems sides with E. A. Freshwater, against whom an injunction was about to be taken out by Solicitor Boyd for the city council, compelling the contractor to complete the Maple alley paving at once.

The notification of Mr. Bruner's injunction, which was served upon Mr. Boyd yesterday, Bruner claims that the city's contract with Mr. Freshwater regarding that particular improvement is illegal, there having been no money in the Maple alley improvement fund at the time the contract was awarded. Why Mr. Bruner, who owns property only on Front street, is interested, puzzled the councilmen.

Solicitor Boyd said he would take no action regarding the notice until some time today.

Vice President Brennan, of council, thought there was a "nigger in the wood pile" and that Contractor Freshwater was trying to get out of doing the Maple alley work.

City Engineer Leith stated the situation and the conditions of the contract. In case the work was not started at the time deemed necessary by the engineer, notice was to be served the contractor, and if he did not start within five days the engineer was to do the work at the contractor's expense. He stated that he served the notice on Mr. Freshwater yesterday. If the work does not start in the required time the engineer will hire men to do it.

On motion it was voted unanimously that the city solicitor stop further pro-

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

CROOKSVILLE ABOUT READY.

It is stated that the new pottery at Crooksville will be placed in operation about three weeks from next Monday. Practically all the machinery, which was made in thic city, has been sent to the new shop, and the last consignment will be forwarded within the next 10 days. This machinery consists mainly of materials that are to be used in the decorating shop, and other minor pieces. All the modeling for this shop was done in this city and Wellsville, and yesterday a toilet set modeled at Wellsville was forwarded to Crooksville. William Tritt, general manager of this new shop, arrived in this city Thursday evening and left for his home this morning. Last evening he stated that practically all the workmen he would require for the present had been secured, and many of them would be taken from this city. Others will be taken from the shops at Sebring, Akron, New Castle, Ford City and Canonsburg. When in full operation the new plant will employ from 175 to 200 people. Mr. Tritt's visit here was for the purpose of engaging several mould makers, and he held a conference with three last evening. He was also to place an order for a new toilet set, and this was to be given to a local modeler, it is stated. The new plant is built somewhat after the plans of the French China pottery at Sebring, having a capacity of five kilns and four decorating kilns. The company has had many inpuiries about what time its ware will be placed on the market. The company has made no attempt to secure orders and will make none until a complete line of samples has been made. This will take some time, and it is thought a sufficient amount of ware will be in stock to start the salesmen out to catch some of the spring trade. Mr. Tritt last Tuesday morning received over 60 applications for positions from workmen in the different potteries about the country, and the majority of them were from East Liverpool shops.

THE SALINEVILLE PLANT.

Work on the new pottery at Saline-ville is still progressing slowly, and the bricklayers are now completing the kilns. Weather has been holding back work during the past few days, and little progress has been made. Carpenters have set the last frames in the walls, and as soon as the walls are completed they will begin at once the roofing. Material for the construction of the building is nearly all on the ground and it will not take much longer to finish the building, so that the preliminary work of operating the plant can be inaugurated soon. Several pieces of necessary machinery for the mixing and preparing of clay have been shipped and are now at the site. As soon as the roof is on the carpenters will begin putting down the floor, which, if spread out, would have almost an acre of surface.

PRICE IN TOWN.

Thomas Price, manager of the Union Potteries company, with plants in this city and New Cumberland, was in the city for a few hours on business. Mr. Price stated that business with his company was very good, and that all the ware that could be made was being shipped. While in the city he received a message from Allegheny stating that Frank. W. Fowler, who has been ill with typhoid pneumonia for some time, was not improved, and that he was confined to his home instead of at a hospital, although the plan of placing him in a hospital was considered at the first of his sickness. His condition, however, is not serious.

PERHAPS YEARS BEHIND.

A local paper this week published the story that a million dollar combine was to be formed among the potteries in the Wheeling district. In the present issue of the Potters Herald, this announcement is repudiated in the following statement. "We were under the impression that the firms mentioned had been under the management of the Wheeling Pottery company for some time, with C. W. Franzheim as president. This, however, seems not to be the case, and it would appear that closer consolidation is necessary."

PLACING NEW KINLS.

Never before were so many kilns of pipe being placed at the East End plant of the American Sewer Pipe company as at present. The kiln placers this week placed eight kilns, and last week seven. It was intended to make nine kilns this week, but the kilns were too hot to work in. There is a large stock of green pipe on hand, and the company is urging the workmen to make as much pipe as possible. From three to five carloads are being shipped daily from this plant.

A FEW CHANGES.

The East Liverpool Potteries company is to make a few more changes at the Wallace & Chetwynd. It is announced that the company will install an additional press in the decorating department, in the room formerly occupied as the decorated warehouse. Work upon the new decorating kilns at this plant is progressing rapidly, but those now in course of construction will not be ready for use for several weeks.

GUARANTEE THEIR WARE.

There are a number of manufacturers in this city who guarantee their ware not to craze, and this is one thing a customer generally asks a retail dealer. At one local pottery each piece of ware is stamped with the firm name and all hotel ware is guaranteed not to craze. The manufacturers agree to return full cost price and pay freight charges on all crazed ware bearing their stamp which is returned to them.

NEW ILLINOIS POTTERY.

An extensive pottery is to be established in Metropolis, Ill., by Capt. J. McHenry, of the New Sheldon Pottery company. A large modern brick building two stories in height and 60x150 feet will be erected. It is intended to rush he work as soon as the contracts are finally placed.

TRENTON GILDER HERE.

James Bailey, a gilder, who has been employed in the Trenton potteries for several years, arrived in this city Tuesday, and is now employed at the Globe pottery. It is expected that other Trenton workmen will come to this city and secure employment within the next few weeks.

McMILLIAN REMEMBERED.

POTTERS TO PLAY.

A game of base ball will be played on grounds near the state line this afternoon between clubs representing the pressers and jiggermen of the Harker pottery. Quite a number of operatives residing in the East End will witness the game.

TWO MEETINGS.

Kilnmen's local No. 9 and Packers' local No. 25 held short sessions last evening, but nothing but routine business was transacted at each meeting. One application for membership, and one member was obligated at the meeting of No. 9.

WAS HELPING OUT.

Joseph Pollock, a glost kilnman at Laughlin No. 2, has been helping out in the dipping department at the Harker plant for the past few days. It was expected that his work at this plant would be completed by this evening.

FOUNDATION COMMENCED.

The foundation for the large addition to be built to the West End pottery has been commenced, but owing to the bad weather of the past few days not much progress has been made. Much of the stone to be used in the foundation has been delivered, and also a large amount of lumber. The construction of this addition will be rushed as much as possible.

KILNDRAWERS' MEETING.

The regular meeting of Kilndrawers' local No. 17 will be held in Brotherhood hall this evening. Several applications for membership are to be considered, with other routine business.

MANAGER JOHN GOODWIN.

John Goodwin has taken the active management of the Goodwin pottery, and will remain at home to look after the interests of the firm. Formerly he has been traveling for the company.

NEW LOCAL, PERHAPS.

A new local may be formed at Sebring. The matter has been agitated for some time. A petition signed by 80 members of local No. 44, of Sebring, has been forwarded to headquarters.

A NEW CUP JIGGER.

Street Car Off the Track And a Stalled Freight on the C. & P.

The East Liverpool railway company is experiencing considerable trouble in the East End just at present. Three cars were derailed at the old loop on Pennsylvania avenue yesterday afternoon. The company is doing some repair work in the vicinity of the old loop, near the small bridge that spans the tracks leading into the East End sewer pipe works clay mine It appears that the rails on the bridge spread yesterday afternoon and three cars were derailed. The first car went off the track about 3 o'clock, and this was followed by the freight car. Another car met a similar fate about 5 o'clock, and it is a wonder that some of these cars did not roll off the bridge and into the hill just back of the mouth of the mine. Of course the accidents delayed travel for a short time, and later passengers were transferred until the cars could be replaced.

Travel on this line was also delayed last evening by the tracks at the Second street crossing being blockaded by the first section of east bound freight No. 94. This train was composed of 62 cars, and was hauled by one of the large class H-4 engines. All the cars were loaded and the train became stalled as it was ascending the grade between the passenger station and the East End. Finally, after waiting for over half an hour for the train to pull off the crossing, the train was cut and through traffic was again resumed.

The east bound passenger train pulled into the Second street station, and after loading and unloading passengers the train backed down the track for quite a distance. The freight train was again cut, a portion of it being taken to the East End and the local shifting engine placed the other part of the train on the Thompson siding. The west bound train, due here at 7:33, was held at the East End for about three hours, arriving at the Second street station about 10 o'clock. The several train crews were in no pleasant mood over being held here for so long, and it was the intention of the train dispatcher to send first 94 to Smith's Ferry and allow the passenger trains to pass at that point.

More New Houses.

The contract was let today for the erection of two more residences to be built in the East End. These houses will be erected on High street by David Green, of Shippingport, and the contract was let to C. Barnes, of the East End, who was formerly located at Shippingport. Work is to be commenced at once.

Rally Day Services.

Rally day services will be held at two East End churches tomorrow, and the programs published in this paper several days ago will be closely followed. The services at the Second U. P. church on St. George street will commence at 10:30 o'clock, owing to the lengthy program. The services at the Second Presbyterian church will commence at 10, and the little church is sure to be filled with scholars of the Sunday school and their friends The programs arranged for the services this year are better than those of past years.

Many Went to Rochester.

A large number of young men from the East End went to Rochester at noon today for the purpose of witnessing the ball game between the Rochester and East Liverpool teams. Not a few ladies were in the party, they apparently taking as much interest in the game as the young men. It is expected that many of the visitors will return home on the early evening train, but the midnight train will bring the majority of the young men back home.

Birthday Surprise.

A pleasant birthday surprise party was tendered Ethel Davis, at her home on St. George street last evening, it being the occasion of her twelfth birthday. Guests to the number of 18 were present, and the evening was passed most enjoyably. Singing and children's games were features, and at a late hour luncheon was served. Miss Davis was the recipient of many beautiful presents.

Resting at His Home.

During the low stage of water in the Ohio river, Capt. Thomas Calhoun, of the Pittsburg-Cincinnati packet Virginia, has been staying at his home at Georgetown. The Virginia is being given a general overhauling and cleaning while at Pittsburg, and occasionally Capt. Calhoun goes to Pittsburg to see how the work is progressing. The Virginia will resume its regular trips just as soon as the river will permit.

always indicate a weak heart. They are usually preceeded or followed by palpitation or fluttering, and there may be pain in left side, a smothering sensation and shortness of breath. Such a heart should be treated at once, before the disease develops beyond control. Heart disease is as easily cured as other troubles if taken in time.

"I was subject to fainting spells, and many times I have fallen on the street. I was often compelled to sit down while walking to avoid falling. When physicians failed to help me, I took Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and was completely cured."
CHARLES D. RANDALL.
Ellicottville, N. Y.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

There is a reason for every cause of sickness, and if investigation was made the fault would often be found right at one's own doorstep—negligence. We are all very apt to ignore natures first warning cries when disorder of the blood, nerves, stomach or bowels happens, expecting it to soon pass off. But disease never grows better of itself—always worse. It may develop in dyspepsia, liver or bowel trouble, constipation or general debility; at any rate something should be promptly done to stop the progress of your trouble and cleanse the system of its poisonous matter. For this you can rely with implicit confidence upon the efficacy of Wright's Celery Tea, an effectual prompt, pleasant cure that is especially adapted to such disorders. At all druggists, 25c and 50c packages.

Plant Greatly Improved.

Carpenters who have been working at the East End plant of the American Sewer Pipe works for the past two months, making improvements to the large works, have completed their labors and been ordered to the Walker plant, which is being extensively overhauled. The East End plant is now in better shape than ever before, it is said, and several thousand dollars have been spent on improvements there.

A Rush For Football Game

Much interest is being taken in the football game which is to be played at Columbian park next Saturday afternoon between the Laughlin and Rover football teams. Already about 300 tickets have been disposed of and the game to be played for the benefit of William Herron, a member of the Laughlin club, who was seriously injured in a game in which he played several weeks ago.

A Trip For Her Health.

Miss Georgia Shingleton, who has been seriously ill at her home in Helena for several weeks, is recovering rapidly, and next week will leave for a 10 days visit with friends near Lisbon. The trip is being made for the benefit of her health.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

The Free Methodists are continuing to hold revival meetings in the East End in the Larkins & Ferguson hall.

Thomas Finley and wife spent the day in Pittsburg visiting friends.

Mrs. Edward McElhaney and children, who have been visiting friends at St. Mary's, W. Va., for several weeks, have returned to the East End.

Link Morley and family, of the East End, have removed to Cincinnati. Mr. Morley has obtained a position with a large filter manufacturing firm of that city.

The work of painting the exterior of the East End fire station has been completed, this being done last evening. The station now presents a neater appearance than for years.

Jess Cooper, a well known young man residing on Pennsylvania avenue, who has been suffering for several weeks from a sore head, was much improved this morning. Last evening an operation was performed and this tended to improve his condition .

Of Lyon Post at Which Veterans' Washington Trip Was Arranged For.

The meeting of Gen. Lyon Post No. 44 held last evening was well attended and a rousing good time was enjoyed by the old veterans. Commander McLane stated that all preparations had been made for the attendance of the encampment at Washington and instructed all who intend to go to give their names to J. C. Allison, chairman of the transportation committee.

Rev. O. S. Reed addressed the members of the post in an impressive manner and he will be one of the happy crowd at Washington.

Goes Away to Wed.

Arthur Woodruff, a motorman on the East Liverpool street car line, will leave tomorrow morning for Zanesville, where on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, he will wed Miss Jessie Robertson, a prominent lady of that city. The groom has been in this city for the past year and has made a large number of friends. With his bride he will return to this city Wednesday evening and will go to housekeeping immediately on Broadway.

The Proper Treatment For a Sprained Ankle.

As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches two or three weeks after spraining his ankle, and it is usually two or three months before he has fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time, for in many cases in which Chamberlain's Pain Balm has been promptly and freely applied, a complete cure has been effected in less than one week's time, and in some cases within three days. ## NEW BOODLING SENSATION.

Broker Wanted to Explain Checks Paid to Politician.

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—Developments in the "boodle" investigation were sensational yesterday, subpoenas duces tecum having been issued at the instance of Circuit Attorney Folk commanding Broker James Campbel and William Reed, his cashier, to appear in court with two checks, aggregating $47,500, dated Nov. 28, 1899 and payable to Ed Butler, a prominent local politician, and to explain the purpose for which the checks were drawn. It was found on investigation by the grand jury that both checks had been cashed and returned to Broker Campbell.

The date of these checks was the same as the day on which the ten year lighting bill passed the house of delegates, for which 19 members are said to have received $2,500 each for their votes. Up to a late hour yesterday deputy sheriffs were unable to serve the subpoenas. At Broker Campbell's office it was stated that Reed had not been there since Thursday and that his employer was in the east.

Another session of the grand jury was held yesterday, several witnesses being examined. The last session before the final meeting and report on Monday will be held today. An additional effort to secure the release on writs of habeas corpus of the four former members of the house of delegates, who are now in jail awaiting trial on charges of bribery and perjury, failed. Judge Vaillant, of the supreme court, before whom this petition was taken, denied the application, declaring he had no jurisdiction.

MARSHALL FIELD AND CO.'S WAREHOUSE MANAGER

Cured of Catarrh of Kidneys by Pe-ru-na.

HON. JOHN T. SHEAHAN, OF CHICAGO.

Hon. John T. Sheahan, who has been for seventeen years manager of Marshall Field & Co.'s wholesale warehouse, and is corporal 2d Regiment Infantry, I. N. G., writes the following letter from 3753 Indiana avenue, Flat Six, Chicago, Ill.:

Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Gentlemen:—"Last summer I caught a cold which seemed to settle in my kidneys and affected them badly. I tried a couple of kidney remedies largely advertised, but they did not help me any. One of my foremen told me of the great help he had received in using Peruna in a similar case, and I at once procured some.

"It was indeed a blessing to me, as I am on my feet a large part of the day, and trouble such as I had affected me seriously, but four bottles of Peruna cured me entirely and I would not be without it for three months salary."—JOHN T. SHEAHAN.

Mr. Jacob Fleig writes from 44 Sumner avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.:

"I am now a new man at the age of seventy-five years, thanks to your wonderful remedy Peruna."—Jacob Fleig.

Catarrhal inflammation of the mucous lining of the kidneys, also called "Bright's disease," may be either acute or chronic. The acute form produces symptoms of such prominence that the serious nature of the disease is at once suspected, but the chronic variety may come on so gradually and insidiously that its presence is not suspected until after it has fastened itself thoroughly upon its victim.

At the appearance of the first symptom Peruna should be taken. This remedy strikes at once at the very root of the disease.

TWELVE PAGES.

The uneasiness of Mother Earth, the recent volcanic eruptions, the earthquakes which have cost thousands of lives and ruinedentire communities, both in the old world and in the new, may be, as some assert, the forerunner of that long predicted cataclysm, the end of the world. But there is nothing to prove it, and the would-be prophets should not be too sanguine that their predictions will come true. Such seismic disturbances have occurred at intervals since the earth began, and many pages of recorded history are filled with accounts of them. Violent as have been recent commotions of the earth, they are scarcely greater than have been experienced before and are likely to be experienced again.

The outcome of the conference between the Democratic and Labor party committees ought to be satisfactory to both, though it is very doubtful if it will be. Those who might support an out-and-out Labor candidate for one office are not likely to be hoodwinked or cajoled into supporting the Democratic ticket. The expectation that they could be so influenced was another Democratic hope that has gone glimmering. The real friends of labor will continue to vote as they have always done, with the Republican party, which has safeguarded their interests, resisted Democratic attacks, and, by a wise policy, built up multitudinous industries which are flourishing as never before.

Workers are wanted. The same story comes from every manufacturing town in the country and from almost every manufacturer. Wages are good, and they are paid promptly. Scarcity of laborers is not confined to the cities for in the country the farmers all through the season have been unable to secure men to take care of the crops, although big money is offered. Unprecedented prosperity is with us. The man who would vote to change existing conditions is surely blind to his own interests and indifferent to the welfare of his fellow men.

The Republican campaign opening at Akron today will be a gathering worthy of the importance of the occasion. Enthusiasm will not be lacking and eloquent oratory will be abundant. The campaign opens auspiciously, and Ohio is sure to give a magnificent Republican majority this fall There are no factional differences in Republican ranks, and no signs of off year apathy. It is an important election, involving national as well as state issues, and the Buckeye state will prove itself loyal to the party of progress.

Prince Victor Duleep Singh has gone into bankruptcy, ascribing his difficulties to the niggardliness of the British government, which allows him only $35,000 a year for being a prince Poor chap. His case shows that Americans who must bow to the dictates of the coal trust are not the only ones who are shamefully treated.

But for the United States, anarchy would have prevailed on the Panama isthmus for more than a year past to such an extent that the railroad would have been constantly interrupted. The world is under obligations to Uncle Sam for keeping open that important artery of commerce.

Senator M. S. Quay is in favor of starting work on at least one dozen new dams on the Ohio river every year. It is said that if work was commenced at that rate it would only take a few years to complete the entire system.

J. Pierpont Morgan controls millions of capital, but he can't control the millions of people who do the voting. His declared opposition to President Roosevelt is simply adding to the strength and popularity of the executive.

George Fred Williams calls the Democratic platform in Massachusetts "dishwater," but says he will vote for it. It is a pretty bitter dose that the average Democrat won't swallow.

W. A. Tarr has decided to withdraw from the Republican county ticket. Of course nothing the News Review has said influenced him in reaching that decision.

If Pierpont Morgan expects to put the Democratic party on its feet again he has a task compared to which his former undertakings were as child's play.

The "Gold Snake."

A Mexican superstition, very common among miners in that country, relates to the "gold snake." This species of serpent is perfectly harmless and very handsome, being green in color and with a golden iridescence in its scales. Faith is entertained that wherever a gold snake makes its nest there is a ledge containing the precious metal, and there are many miners who will locate a claim at once if they find a gold snake.

Revenged.

It was apparent that the barber was highly pleased.

"What has happened?" asked the man with the towel round his neck.

"I dislocated my shoulder in the spring," he answered.

"Well?"

"The doctor who set it got out of this chair just before you came in. If his wife recognizes him when he gets home, it'll only be by his voice."

OUR stock of Brushes is very unusual. There may be larger collections, but there is no better quality or variety anywhere. These are the true bristles, wired in, so that hot water or anything else cannot make them come out. They will wear and wear and wear. We have never known Brushes that gave such perfect satisfaction. They include Hair Brushes, Nail Brushes, Tooth Brushes and Hand Brushes. They are the cheapest, because the most durable and satisfactory.

A PLEASING MUSICALE

Mrs. James Rinehart Agreeably Entertained a Number of Guests Yesterday.

Prominent in the social circles of this city will be the series of entertainments given by Mrs. James Rinehart. The first entertainment of the series were card parties at which luncheons were served. At the second party "Black Maria" was played and Mrs. Porter, guest of Mrs. Judd C. King, won the first prize, which was a handsome china plate.

The home of Mrs. Rinehart was again opened to a number of her friends yesterday. The nature of her third entertainment was a musicale. Everything in the spacious reception room was removed, and a number of white covered chairs were so arranged so as to form a central aisle, through which the guests passed.

In one little alcove of the room sat those who entertained Mrs. Rinehart's guests throughout the afternoon with their select and classical music.

Miss Robertson, a member of the Boston Fadettes, played the violin, and Miss Reiter accompanied her with the trombone. Miss Alice Devon sang in a charming manner, "If I Were But a Rose," and also Nevin's Rosary. Miss Fannie Woods, the guest of Mrs. W. R. Clark, is an accomplished pianist, and enlightened the guests with a classical selection which was much appreciated. Miss Mamie Geon's piano solo was received with much enthusiasm, as was also Miss Mame McNicol's piano solo.

Later in the afternoon dainty refreshments were served. About 50 guests were present, and Mrs. Rinehart's friends enjoyed her musicale very much.

AT THE THEATER

It has been remarked by some of the knowing ones that by associating a band and orchestra with "Indiana Folks," which comes to East Liverpool on Wednesday evening, Oct. 1, the management has placed this production on a level with the cheap sensational "Rube" plays. This is far from our intention. Let us go back a few years to the initial tour of Joshua Whitcomb with Mr. Denman Thompson in the title role. This attraction was accompanied by a brass band and orchestra. Charles L. Davis (Alvin Joslin) for years carried one of the best bands and orchestras ever seen on the road. The musical portion of the entertainment given by the Indiana Folks company is strictly first-class in every particular, and we expect to gain both fame and dollars with our matchless band and orchestra.

The acting company has been carefully chosen and will compare favorably with the best engaged in presenting the rural drama.

The only way to enjoy a play is to withness a performance of it. No doubt many poor plays have been written, and even the most noted of playwrights hit tne mark of excellency but at odd intervals. But "The Prisoner of Zenda" has received the stamp of greatness and the awards of success. E. H. Southern delighted in it; this play proving one of the biggest successes of this famous romantic actor and its long triumphal run in New York city is still new in dramatic history. At the Grand next Tuesday, September 30.

The Kennard brothers, two diminutive dwarfs, whose resemblance to one another is so perfect that it is difficult to tell which from which, are engaged for those irrepressible cyclones, "Nid and Nod" in Charles H. Yale and Sidney R. Ellis' "The Evil Eye," which opens at the Grand Monday, September 29. It is said that this presentation of "The Evil Eye" will prove in merit, mirth and music the brightest and best edition ever given in its five years of continuous triumph.

"Twin Sisters," presented at the Grand opera house last evening by Austin T. Blair's big stock company, was one of the best productions of the week. It was up-to-date in every particular, and the specialties met with high approval.

Hedgehogs.

Hedgehogs are very strong in the water, swimming with ease against a rapid stream, and with their muscular claws they turn up the nests of trout or salmon and make a goodly haul therefrom. They will breast a very rapid stream, and cold water, as near the freezing point as may be, seems to have no terror for them. The eggs of the salmonidæ are a welcome prey to nearly every animal that will face water. Aquatic birds, rats (both house and water), hedgehogs, beetles and their larvæ, the so called fresh water shrimp, are deadly foes.

to do anything to relieve the situation so long as the executive committee of the Labor party refuses to release him from its ticket. It is positively known to them that the Democrats are determined to fill out their ticket in the event that Duffy refuses the place. The members of this committee are also aware and freely admit that with a Democratic candidate in the field they could not hope to win. In the light of all this they still refuse to release him, and seem determined that the East Liverpool man shall be sacrificed. This arrangement, it is held, could have but one effect, and that to cause the defeat of both Labor and Democratic candidates, and land Hon. James Kennedy, the Republican nominee, a sure winner. The Labor committee explains its action by saying it is the desire of that body to establish a Labor party in the district and that if it cannot win this time there will be good chances for victory in the future. Mr. Duffy's friends in East Liverpool fail to appreciate the wisdom of the move, and do not hesitate to say so. They cannot see why Mr. Duffy should be the one to suffer for a blunder that he is in no way responsible for bringing about.

Upon leaving Alliance yesterday Mr Duffy was informed by the Democratic congressional committee that he would be allowed to deliberate upon the question for a few days, but that on next Wednesday the members would expect to have his answer as to his intentions with reference to accepting the party's nomination. In the event that he at that time elects to remain upon the Labor ticket the Democrats will proceed to fill the vacancy without further delay. When seen by a News Review reporter today, Mr. Duffy said:

"As matters now stand I can see no other possible course open to me but to remain upon the Labor ticket."

MUCH STRENGTH SHOWN.

Principal Movement In St. Paul and L. & N., Yesterday.

New York, Sept. 27.—There was a show of considerable strength in the stock market yesterday. The principal movement was in St. Paul and Louisville and Nashville, and the extreme advance of 5¾ in the latter and 3⅜ in the former had considerable sympathetic effect on the railroad list generally. There was brisk buying of Reading, nominally based on the supposition that the end of the coal strike was near. Manhattan was largely bought by the speculative interests, which have been accumulating the stock for some time.

There was a notable disposition to advance on the part of a number of minor low-priced industrials, especially the railway equipment companies. During the final hour the professional operators, whose buying had advanced prices, took their profits very generally with the result that final prices for a number of leading stocks were from 1 to 2 points lower than the best.

CYCLONE IN SICILY.

Path of Cyclone 124 Miles Long Wind Swept Sea Inward—Great Damage Done.

London, Sept. 27.—A dispatch from Rome yesterday announced that a severe cyclone has swept over Cantania, a city on the east coast of Sicily. Cantania is flooded and many houses, including the Villa Bellini, have been damaged. The railroads have suffered seriously.

Mount Etna shows further signs of activity and the volcano of Stromboli is still active.

Syracuse, Sicily, Sept. 27.—For 24 hours before the cyclone burst over the island a violent storm raged on the eastern coast of Sicily. The path of the cyclone was 124 miles long, and everything in the line of the storm was destroyed. The sea swept inland for several kilometres, doing enormous damage, while there were violent submarine agitations between Sicily and the mainland. Along the railroad from Cantania to Palermo the force of the cyclone was such that rails were torn up and hurled to a great distance.

It is reported from Modica, 32 miles southwest from Syracuse, that a hundred bodies have already been found, but that the number of dead bodies swept away by the torrent is unknown.

Believes 400 Killed.

The newspaper Fractissa expresses the belief that some 400 people have been killed.

Two torrents, the St. Francis and the Ste Marie, which descend through the town, rose suddenly and brought with them masses of mud and heavy stones and invaded the buildings of Modica. They carried away everything in their course. Many houses were utterly wrecked and others were seriously damaged. Numerous animals perished. The number of victims is still unknown, but 80 corpses have been deposited in a single church. At Soicli 12 persons were killed. Tascaro was destroyed Enormous damage was done at Palazzolo, Acreide, Farla and Geratana.

NEW CASTLE K. C. E.

The New Lodge Instituted With 65 Members — Supper Follows.

A new castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, was instituted last evening in Mechanics' hall. About 65 members were initiated. Owing to the grandmaster from Huntington being delayed business did not begin until a late hour. The following are the officers:

LINEMAN KILLED

Man from Holliday's Cove Accidentally Killed Near Pittsburg Yesterday.

Clifford Johnson, aged 24, of Holliday's Cove, a lineman in the employ of the Pittsburg Coal company, was killed at Groveton, Pa., while placing a wire on a telephone pole. The pole broke and Johnson fell.

Friends started with him to Pittsburg, but he died as he was taken from the train in the Pittsburg & Lake Erie depot. His body is at the Pittsburg morgue.

The Freeport Vein of Coal.

Dr. I. C. White, state geologist, who has supervision of the geological survey of West Virginia, will go to New Cumberland and make a thorough examination of the deposits in that vicinity. The geological commission has had a corps of engineers busy all summer, making extensive surveys, and they are now getting out their first reports. After all connections have been made and the latest data has been acquired the final maps will be published. Dr. White thinks the coal mined by the Marquet Coal company is the Freeport vein.

Two Boys in Jail.

A youthful pair, West and Crago, were arrested last evening at New Cumberland by Officer Melvin. The boys are charged with the theft of candy, amounting to $5, stolen from Dunlevy's store. The boys have been guilty of like offenses before, it is said, and the authorities are in favor of sending them to the reformatory at Pruntytown, W. Va., Should the parents not consent, the boys will be held in jail for the grand jury.

Three Fingers Badly Hurt.

Miss Gertrude Little, who is employed in the local tin mill, met with a very painful accident last evening. While at work she got her right hand caught in one of the machines. The three middle fingers of her hand were badly cut and torn by the sharp tin and at first it was thought that amputation would be necessary.

Nearing the Sand.

Supt. Chapman went to the Kinney farm last evening to investigate the oil well at that place. It is expected that the drillers will reach the sand today and will then know whether or not the well is of any account.

HEALY SUBMITS HIS PROPOSITION

ceedings as to the injunction of Freshwater.

Manager L. W. Healy, of the United Power company, was then called upon to make known his proposition regarding the purchase of the city water works and the establishing of the gravity system; also to make his statement regarding the matters in dispute between the United Power company and the city as to its franchise rights, the running of all cars on Clark avenue, moving and relaying of track on Liverpool street and the relaying of the brick pavements on the city streets.

On the water works proposition, Mr. Healy said: "I am interested in several companies in western Pennsylvania where gravity systems are generally in use and it has occured to me that this system is badly needed here. If you would care to entertain a proposition from us we will agree to buy your present water works and will build a modern new plant and establish a gravity system, using Little Yellow Creek for the supply. We have some confidence in the future growth of Wellsville and if an agreement can be reached we are willing to build this water works. I have taken enough interest in the matter to hire an expert to come here and examine Little Yellow Creek. He said that there was plenty of water and good water, too, and that the conditions were all that could be wished to establish a first-class gravity system. In his opinion he said that the city was making a great mistake by not taking advantage of their excellent opportunity here.

"I would suggest that the council take some time to thing over this matter and decide whether it would care to entertain a proposition of this kind or not and if a favorable decision is made we will submit the proposition at the next regular meeting of council."

When asked by President Whitacre, in case the proposition would be entertained by council, what time would the construction of the new plant be commenced, Mr. Healy stated that in all propability the construction work would be started immediately.

Before any disposition of this matter was made Mr. Healy was asked to make his statement to council regarding the other difficulties between the company and the city.

Mr. Healy said: "There seems to be a hard feeling against the street railway company. It is a question in my mind whether this hard feeling would exist if the members of council were familiar with all of the circumstances." Mr Healy explained that the company owned a lot of summer cars which have stationary seats and in order to keep up with the schedule of the road it is often necessary for a motorman to run his car only to the turn table. The summer cars must be turned around to keep from running them backwards, which is very uncomfortable for passengers.

Mr. Healy stated that a petition had been received asking that he not only run all the cars to the end of Eighteenth street, but to run them out Clark avenue as far as possible, according to the terms of the franchise. The Clark avenue paving has been completed as far as Clark's bridge and the street railway line has also been completed there.

Mr. Healy said that he would at once place an extra car on Clark avenue and run it back and forth to make connections with all of the other cars. This is to be a temporary arrangement but it was unsatisfactory to council. Mr. Healy agreed to start the car today.

In the matter of repaving the streets that have been torn up by the street railway company, Mr. Healy said that he would have a paver put on at once using new brick for the purpose.

Regarding the moving of the track on Liverpool street Mr. Healy said that he would do the work as soon as the girder rails arrived from the Lorain Steel company. The rails would probably be here some time next month.

City Solicitor Boyd stated to council that Mr. Healy had probably succeeded in convincing council that he was doing the right thing by them. Mr. Healy had said something about having torn up the streets in East Liverpool. Because Mr. Healy owned East Liverpool was no reason why he should own Wellsville.

Mr. Boyd said: "Council has given the street railway company a 25 year franchise and what is the city getting in return? You can compel the street railway company to furnish good cars and good service according to the terms of the franchise. They are not doing either, but are being allowed to do about as they please."

Mr. Henderson, of the First ward, also made remarks because the street railway company had moved its tracks to the center of Liverpool street.

The water works proposition was disposed of by a motion to convene in special session next Tuesday evening and hold a conference with the water works trustees.

The matter of repaving the torn up streets, which Mr. Healy agreed to do, was also accepted by motion.

For removing the track on Liverpool street to the center of the street Mr. Healy was given 15 days in which to commence the work. If not started by that time City Solicitor Boyd is to proceed with the injunction against the company.

THE FORCE COMPLETE

Appointment of New Officer Will Enable the Census to Be Taken.

The local police force is once again in a complete state, there being six policemen on duty. A few weeks ago Officer George Marshall was suspended from the police force for having been found in a disorderly house on Second street in an intoxicated condition. Since that time there has been a vacancy on the police force which has been filled part of the time by City Building Policeman William Elliott.

On Thursday night William Canady, who has been employed as a teamster at the rolling mill, was appointed by Mayor Fogo to act as a night watchman, taking Marshall's beat. He went on duty last night. Now that the police force is complete, the work of taking a census of the city will at once be taken up and rushed rapidly until it is completed. This work hung fire on account of the crippled force.

CONFIDENCE IS NOT SHAKEN.

Notwithstanding the disarranged money market almost a fuel famine and some damage to crops, industrial and commercial activity continues unabated, and the magnitude of plans for the future indicates that the confidence has not been shaken. Scarcity of funds has thus far caused no hardship except to speculators, and the stringency will remedy itself by contracting loans on stock exchange collateral, together with such aid as may be offered by the treasury, which is partly responsible through absorption of funds. Injury to crops by frost has no more than offset the increased acreage, while high prices fully compensate producers. It is not a time for pessimism, although securities have declined sharply. Railway earnings for September thus far exceed last year's by 6.8 per cent and those of 1900 by 16.5 per cent. Pressure in the iron and steel industry has been somewhat alleviated by larger receipts of coke and liberal imports of pig iron, yet the outlook is by no means devoid of unfavorable features. No fuel famine exists, although the furnaces are consuming receipts of coke as they arrive, and it is impossible to provide for more than immediate needs. Some idle plants have resumed and now operate from day to day with the constant menace of an interrupted movement of fuel; which would suspend operations. At the west this factor is most serious, coke commanding $10 a ton or more, while in exceptional cases $13 has been paid. Owing to the numerous influences now in evidence there is less disposition to place large contracts for distant delivery of pig iron and sales are chiefly of small lots. Foreign iron is freely received and other consignments are under consideration. More steel rail orders have been placed abroad. Needs for structural shapes are increasing, much work being held back by slow shipments, and orders are reported for delivery nearly two years hence.

No concessions are possible in the wool market, which has increased in activity at the east.

Failures for the week numbered 207 in the United States, against 227 last year, and 32 in Canada, against 34 a year ago.

GIFT TO MRS. M'KINLEY.

Representatives of National Association of State Insurance Commissioners Presented Memorial.

Canton, O., Sept. 27.—Hon. A. L. Vorys, insurance commissioner of Ohio; Hon. J. V. Barry, insurance commissioner of New York, came to Canton yesterday afternoon, being the guests of Senator Hanna in his private car from Cleveland to this city. They came as a committee appointed by the National Association of State Insurance Commissioners, at its recent annual meeting in Columbus, to present to Mrs. McKinley a memorial adopted by the association last year on the death of the president. The commissioners, accompanied by Julius Whiting, of this city, went to the McKinley home and presented the memorial to Mrs. McKinley. It is handsomely engrossed and the plush covering is lettered in silver with the monogram of William McKinley. The presentation was made in the presence of the other distinguished visitors at the McKinley home.

Against Pennsy Relief Department.

Bucyrus, O., Sept. 27.—A decision was rendered here yesterday by the circuit court against the relief department of the Pennsylvania Railroad company. Suit was brought by the prosecuting attorney of this county against the Pennsylvania company to oust it from doing relief work, on the ground that it was exceeding its charter, which did not permit it to do an insurance business. The circuit court sustained the contention of the prosecutor. The case was appealed to the supreme court.

GRAND JURY NOT LEGAL

Steubenville, Sept. 27.—The question whether the last grand jury was legal has been brought before the court most forcibly the past two days, first in a petition filed by Attorneys Rogers and Finley in the indictments returned against Murderer Scott and again Thursday in a plea of abatement filed by Attorneys S. B. Taylor and P. A Gavin, in behalf of Peter Slavincky one of the alleged river pirates held for stealing a worthless flat boat in Columbiana county, where the officers refused to prosecute him.

In the second legal papers submitted to the court, Attorneys Taylor and Gavin, among other things, claim that the jury was not legal for the reason that one of its members is not qualified as an elector of the county and therefore had no right to serve or fill the duties of a juryman.

In the papers filed by the attorneys for Murderer Scott, it was also charged that the jury was not legal, although no names were given, and it appears now that an effort will be made to have the work of the jury in a measure undone, on the grounds of illegality.

MINES AT AMSTERDAM

All will be ready at the new mines of the Ohio and Pennsylvania Coal company to begin active operations at their mines at Amsterdam by October 1. The machinery is all upon the ground, and everything has been fitted up ready for mining except the engine. This will be set soon. The workmen are wiring the mines for electricity. The building is about completed, tipple and power house are up Carpenters have about completed the tenth double house. Everything in the line of a habitable tenement is filled and dozens of houses could find ready occupants if they were on the ground.

FUNSTON FAVORS THE CANTEEN.

Blames Increased Offenses of Soldiers Upon the Abolishment of the Post Exchange.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Brigadier General Frederick Funston, in his annual report for the department of the Colorado, points out that the percentage of trials by court martial of enlisted men has nearly doubled during the past year. He says in part:

"It is, therefore, plain that there has been a deplorable increase of offenses in general and of desertion in particular. In my opinion there are two principal causes for this state of affairs: First, resentment of unaccustomed limitations and restrictions felt by men returning from field service to the monotony and routine work of garrison life; second, the abolition of the canteen feature of the post exchange. Since this action was taken saloons of the lowest type have been established just outside the boundaries of the various reservations. Their proprietors, in almost every case, unprincipled scoundrels, who leave nothing undone to debauch the soldiers and obtain their money. Being in all cases outside the limits of any city, the proprietors of these resorts are subject to no municipal police regulations and sell liquor regardless of hours and whether the buyer is already intoxicated or not. Gambling is universal in these 'dives,' and they are frequented by dissolute women. The soldier whose desire for a drink ordinarily would be satisfied by a few glasses of beer in the canteen of the post exchange goes to one of these resorts and does well if he escapes before he has spent or gambled away all his money, overstayed his leave or engaged in an altercation."

Detroit Common Council Moves In Direction of Mighty Convention.

WANTS COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER

Resolution Directs Appointment of Persons to Probe Into Advisability of Such Action—Committee Appointed to Discuss Matter Monday Night.

Detroit, Sept. 27.—The common council, at an adjourned session yesterday, adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That a committee consisting of the president of the council and six other members be appointed to consider the advisability of extending an invitation to the people of all the cities and towns depending upon the Pennsylvania fields for their coal supplies to appoint representatives to meet in a great convention in this city, at which to consider ways and means to force a resumption of the coal production, either by public opinion or by government intervention, which should be demanded if other measures fail.

A committee was appointed by President Smith and they will meet next Monday night to discuss and consider the proposed convention.

Labor Official Accuses Ex-Foreman of Being In Conspiracy.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 27.—In a statement issued yesterday District President Nicholls accuses Michael Grimes, an ex-mine foreman, of being "at the head of a movement inaugurated by the coal companies to bribe a number of mine workers' locals for $2,500 apiece to vote to return to work." Mr. Nicholls declares at the close of his statement that his "informants stand ready to prove their assertions in court."

Mr. Grimes denies the Nicholls statement and the coal companies also say it is not true.

Colonel Watres and three companies of soldiers scoured the Grassy Island hills yesterday for the murderers of James Winston, who was clubbed to death there Thursday. It is supposed the men are hiding in old mine workings.

ASKS FOR TROOPS.

Gov. Stone Refers Sheriff's Request to Gen. Gobin.

Shenandoah, Pa., Sept. 27.—Sheriff Knorr, of Columbia county, yesterday afternoon asked Governor Stone to send troops to Centralia. The governor referred the matter to General Gobin and the latter advised the sheriff to make a further effort to preserve peace with the resources at hand.

Strikers yesterday held up three trolley cars filled with non-union men and stoned the workmen. Guards from neighboring collieries were called and drove the rioters back. A workmen's train was held up and those on board were warned to quit work under threats of being harshly dealt with.

Centralia is a small community and General Gobin says the men who have been violating the law there are known to the sheriff and his deputies, and instead of applying for troops the latter should arrest the lawbreakers and put them in jail.

Rioters Awed by Soldiers.

Philadelphia, Sept. 27.—In the Lackawanna and Wyoming valleys yesterday universal quiet prevailed and the soldiers were not called upon to suppress the disorder, while at Forest City, Susquehanna county, the extreme northern end of the anthracite coal belt, the presence of the soldiers has had the effect of aweing the rioters.

At Lebanon, where the employes of the American Steel and Wire company had been fighting against the importation of laborers, there is a temporary truce, with the likelihood that all differences will be settled and the men shortly return to work.

BLEW OPEN SAFE, GOT $400.

Robbers Bound Policeman, at South Sharon, Pa.

Youngstown, O., Sept. 27.—At 2 o'clock yesterday morning a gang of burglars blew open the safe of the Beechwood Improvement company, of South Sharon, Pa., and secured $400 in cash. After robbing the safe the men, four or five in number, were first seen by Policeman Newton Stamp, whom they overpowered, bound and gagged. George Haynes, another policeman, was knocked down and tied to a post, and Policeman Sayler kept up a running fight with the men for some distance, but they finally escaped.

The men were heard to remark they would attempt to blow open the safe of the Colonial Trust company's bank and a ladder was found up to a window, but no attempt was made. The men escaped toward West Middlesex and were supposed to be in the vicinity of New Castle.

Change in Mains Has Had a Most Important Effect—Levying Assessments.

Officials of the water works department have about completed the work of levying assessments for the water supply for the several potteries of the city, and this matter will be presented at the next meeting of the water works trustees. Water meters are now being attached to all gas engines about the city by the department.

By converting the former 10-inch rising main to a distributing main, the water works department has increased the pressure of water in some parts of the city from 80 to 120 pounds. By so doing these figures almost reach the original pressure.

Accepts Call to Toledo.

Salem, Sept. 27.—(Special)—From Toledo Rev. Guthrie Pitblado sent a telegram stating that he had accepted the rectorship of St. Paul's Episcopal church in that city. ## CHANCE OF ACQUITTAL

Considered Good in the Case of George Mayes, Charged With Shooting at Frank Crawford.

George Mayes, bound over to court in the sum of $500, charged with shooting at Frank Crawford with intent to kill, from the evidence produced at the hearing in 'Squire McCarron's court yesterday afternoon, stands an excellent show of acquittal. Not one witness testified that he fired the gun at Crawford. They simply stated that the gun was fired while Mayes' hand was between the arm and body of Crawford.

Many prominent farmers who have known Mayes for years state that they will go before the court and testify that Mayes has always borne an excellent reputation

THE SCORE TIED AT THE WINDUP

TEAMS DID FINE WORK

With the game practically in their hands, the members of the local base ball team were compelled to bow to the whims of several of the Rochester aggregation yesterday afternoon and allow the game to be called when the score was a tie.

Wildest enthusiasm was at a point never before reached during the progress of a game in this locality when the game was called. It certainly did not meet the approval of the fans. To them it seemed that a harder blow could not have been landed. All were confident that within ten minutes the locals would walk from the field with the first victory of the series to their credit. And when their anticipations were so cruelly blocked they showed signs of bitterness against every one that had a say in the matter. They were not, however, aware of the cause and to that can be credited their display of temper.

Manager Walsh, when seen last evening by a News Review reporter, explained the matter most satisfactorily. He stated that the game was called because Mathay and Simpson, outfielders for the visitors, were compelled to be home when the evening train arrived there. They are glass workers and are on night turn this week. They said they would have to leave, even if the game were forfeited. Manager Walsh could see that there was no alternative and gave his permission.

To say that the game was one of the best, taken every way, only half expresses the fact. It was not only deeply interesting from start to finish, but the playing of both teams was superb. And what a crowd there was present to see the unparalleled exhibition! In the grand stand there were fully 500 people, and lined up around the stand were almost twice the number. If the number who saw the game from the box cars and hillsides were included, the total would not fall under 2,000. When the locals made their great spurt in the eighth inning it seemed that a great many more were present.

More money was bet on the game than on all o. the rest of the season together. One man is said to have wagered $150 at odds of 2 to 1 on the locals. The man in question made himself very much conspicuous when the game was called. He said that he hated to see money drop from his hands when he was at the point of placing it in his pocket. The same gang of sports say that they are going to witness the game at Rochester today and that they intend to bet in the same proportion.

The diamond could have been in a better condition. Many were reminded of that day that the All-Cubans exhibited. But it was much better than any expected. Second and third bases were surrounded with sawdust, and where there would have otherwise been puddles of water the ground was in fair shape.

The locals looked like easy marks when the first half inning was finished. Grove, the first man up, got a two-bagger. Wigley flied out. Lindsay was permitted to walk on a fielder's choice. He reached second and scored along with Grove when Miles landed a pretty hit.

Godwin started the ball for the locals by beating vacancy. Reark fell against one for two bases. Rising hit a long one to left field. Reark scored while Reilly was going out to first. In the second things did not look so bad. Two more runs were scored by the locals. Davis singled. Heckathorn did dikewise. Webb wasn't to be beaten and he kept in the wagon by placing a similar one. Davis scored on the hit and Heckathorn advanced to third finally scoring on a fumble.

There was nothing doing then with the locals until the eighth was reached. In the fourth the visitors added one more, tying the score, and they certainly did do something in the fifth. Four hits and three runs was all. Shotwell was hit. Grove singled. Wigley singled. The bases were full and the fans were on the anxious seat. Lindsay hit to Maley and Shotwell was out at home. Miles hit to Godwin and Grove was out at the treasured plate. Maley was doing his best and all were confident that he would pull out of the hole, but the next man hit a little one just too far for Godwin's reach. Wigley bravely took advantage and scored. East then singled and scored two more.

After that during the remainder of the game they were powerless to accomplish any runs, but made their presence well known. They came awfully near making the result a cinch in the seventh. Two hits were bunched, but that was all.

Godwin started the eighth, the one that will go down in local history, with a single. Reark sacrificed admirably. Rising got in the game and smashed out a single, scoring Godwin. Reilly donned his fighting clothes and hammed one out for two bases. Rising scored on the strength of it. Needham followed his two-bagger made in the sixth with a single and Reilly reached third. Davis was out. But not so with that old standby, "Grandpa." He bombarded one and Reilly tied the score by crossing the plate. Webb fanned and it was done. Two hits were made in the ninth, one by Godwin and one by Rising, but they amounted to naught.

The game was devoid of sensational playing, but every man on both sides did his best and put up a great article of the Americans' paramount sport.

VISITED MRS. M'KINLEY.

Root and Hanna Called, as Did Gen. and Mrs. Hastings.

Canton, O., Sept. 27.—Secretary of War Root and Senator and Mrs. M. A. Hanna reached the city yesterday afternoon from Cleveland to visit Mrs. McKinley.

They were driven direct to the McKinley home in the family carriage, where luncheon was delayed until they arrived. General and Mrs. A. R. Hastings, old friends of the family, arrived over another road about the same time and were members of the luncheon party. Later in the afternoon all visited the tomb of the late president. The party returned to Cleveland last night.

END FRIAR PROBLEM.

Doors May Be Opened For Clergy of All Orders and Denominations.

Pontifical Bull, Indicating Aims of Guidi's Mission, Imminent—Seminaries to be Established, to Educate Native Priests to Replace Foreigners.

Rome, Sept. 27.—The publication of a pontifical bull on the apostolic constitution of the Philippines is imminent. It will indicate the general object and aims of Archbishop Guidi's mission to Manila. The apostolic delegate will have to reorganize the whole ecclesiastical hierarchy of the archipelago, will create three new dioceses and will propose prelates for the archbishopric of Manila and the remaining bishoprics, after which he will convoke a synod to establish rules for governing ecclesiastical affairs, in harmony with the customs of the islands, as is done in South America.

Guidi Hopes Taft Will Help.

In his letter to Governor Taft he said he was glad he had been chosen to co-operate with him in the pacification of the islands and hoped to be able to count on his assistance.

One of the first projects of the archbishop is the establishment at Manila of two seminaries to educate the native clergy which are destined ultimately to replace the foreigners. These seminaries will be entrusted to a religious order which has not hitherto been represented in the archipelago.

A portion of the students of the seminaries will be sent to Rome to complete their education, either at the North American or South American colleges, or in a special Filipino college, if it is found practicable to establish the latter.

The question regarding the friars, which was the subject of negotiations between the vatican and Governor Taft, might, it is suggested, be solved without recourse to the recall of the friars, by "opening the doors in the Philippines to all the clergy of all religious orders, without distinction or nationality, thus quickly overshadowing the few hundreds of Spanish friars remaining there."

The reorganization of the church in the Philippines on a new basis will be carried out with funds from the sale of the agricultural lands belonging to the friars and from the indemnity which the United States will pay for war damages. The idea of having recourse to arbitrators in order to determine the amounts of these funds has been dropped, and it is suggested that the clergy submit estimates, which, unless immediately acceptable to the Philippine and American governments, shall form a basis for negotiations between Governor Taft and Archbishop Guidi.

It is proposed that the friars shall sell their shares of the lands possessed by the corporations and that the payment be in Mexican dollars, the first instalment to be paid when the title deeds to the Philippine ecclesiastical buildings are transferred.

It is also proposed that disputes regarding charitable or educational trusts be amicably settled by Archbishop Guidi and Governor Taft.

ARMY NURSE A HEROINE.

Commended by General Chaffee For Caring For Smallpox Patients.

Washington, Sept. 27.—An instance of bravery and devotion to duty on the part of an army nurse has been reported to the war department by Major General Chaffee, commanding the division of the Philippines, in the following words:

"Nurse Alice Kemmer, army nurse corps, having been granted leave of absence, voluntarily relinquished the same and took upon herself the care of two smallpox patients in an isolation hospital. One of the patients was the wife of an officer, the other an enlisted man. Miss Kemmer had never had the disease, nevertheless she fearlessly entered upon her self-imposed task, and through the months of April and May, 1902, devoted herself to the care of the patients, living in the room with the officer's wife, the enlisted man being in an adjoining room. With never more than two hours' sleep at a time, in intensely hot weather, the nurse attended her patients day and night and saved their lives."

General Chaffee then commends her bravery and conscientious performance of duty.

The Inducement.

The Sister—I have become engaged to Fred.

The Sister—Why, Fred, of course!

Switzerland exports regularly to other countries seventeen different kinds of cheese.

Ex-Justice of the Peace, Who Said He Performed Marriage Ceremony, Also In Prison—Conspiracy Charged by P. J. McNulty, of Pittsburg.

Long Branch, N. J., Sept. 27.—The fight of Laura Bigger, the former actress, for the millions of Henry M. Bennett came to a sudden and dramatic ending yesterday before Justice Wilbur A. Heisley here. The claimant, through counsel, abandoned the suit and announced she would be satisfied with the 60 per cent of the estate given her by the will. Hardly had this been done than counsel for the heirs opposing the Biggar claim showed they had been more than prepared for this step, and warrants charging conspiracy were served on Samuel Stanton, the former justice of the peace of Hudson county, who testified that he had performed the marriage ceremony between Miss Biggar and the Pittsburg millionaire, and Dr. C. C. Hendrick, at whose sanitarium in Bayonne it was alleged that Miss Biggar's child was born.

Officers Hunting Miss Biggar.

A search is now in progress for Miss Biggar herself that she may also be presented to the grand jury to answer a similar charge. Stanton and Dr. Hendrick are now in the jail at Freehold.

During the course of the proceedings Samuel A. Patterson, one of the counsel for the heirs, announced that warrants had been sworn out for the arrest of Miss Biggar, Dr. Hendrick and Mr. Stanton on complaints sworn to by Peter J. McNulty, of Pittsburg, one of the principal legatees and an executor of the will. Hendrick and Stanton were at once arrested and held in $5,000 bail and Judge Heisley ordered the preliminary hearing to begin at once. Miss Biggar was not in court.

Mr. McNulty testified to a conversation he had with Miss Biggar in Pittsburg, when Mr. Bennett was ill. This was three years subsequent to the date of the alleged marriage, and Miss Biggar had been worried because Mr. Bennett was dying and had made no will, and said if he died no provision would be made for her. She made no claim then of being married to Mr. Bennett. Subsequent to the death of Mr. Bennett the witness and A. V. D. Watterson, of Pittsburg, with counsel for the heirs, visited Dr. Hendrick, who claimed to be Miss Biggar's lawyer, told them that Miss Biggar was entitled to the entire estate and would get it, or he would set up the claim she was Bennett's common law wife.

John F. Hawkins, of Asbury Park, who drew the will and is one of the executors, testified that when the will was drawn Bennett told him Miss Biggar was not his wife. He intended to provide for her fully, however. After Mr. Bennett's death witness had a talk with Miss Biggar and she said if she was not properly provided for in the will she would set up the claim of being a common law wife of Mr. Bennett.

Stanton Trapped In Crookedness.

Secretary Tooker, of the Hoboken board of health, testified that on Friday last Stanton told him he had married Mr. Bennett and Miss Biggar about two years before, but had forgotten to file the certificate. Stanton, so Tooker said, wanted him to testify that he, Stanton, called on him a week earlier and told him that the Weber woman named as a witness to the marriage was dead. This Tooker refused to do. The next morning, Tooker continued, Stanton called on him, accompanied by Mr. Young, of counsel for the heirs, who, as it subsequently appeared, was arranging to entrap Stanton. Stanton, Tooker testified, asked him for a blank marriage certificate, which Tooker gave him and which he presently returned, filled out, with the request that Tooker testify that he found it in his desk. He also asked Tooker to make an entry of it in his books. Tooker said that he turned over the certificate to Mr. Young, and that, on learning of this, Stanton declared that he had been entrapped, and begged Tooker to swear that he was drunk when he gave him the paper. The blank identified last week as the original certificate and which appeared to have been altered was identified by Tooker as the one filled out by Stanton.

Murderer Had Committed Suicide.

Bridgeton, N. J., Sept. 27.—The body of Samuel Greenage, who Thursday murdered Constable Harry Bucks, was found in Seeley's mill pond, in Greenwich township, yesterday. He had committed suicide. The sheriff and his posse had hunted for Greenage all night in the marshes.

Washington, Sept. 27.—President Roosevelt has signed the order providing for the taking of a census of the Philippines in accordance with the terms of the Philippines act, passed at the last session of congress, and upon the certificate of the Philippine commission that the insurrection has been suppressed.

A Queer Transaction.

Sir Arthur Sullivan discovered at Monte Carlo one time that certain restaurant proprietors had a way of regulating their charges with the appearance and standing of their customers. When lunching alone, Sir Arthur was in the habit of frequenting one particular place where he knew to a centime what the prices were.

One day there sat at the table adjoining his own a wealthy Russian nobleman. Upon asking for his bill the composer found that the prices were exorbitantly high. He sent for the proprietor and demanded an explanation.

The man, an Italian, recognized Sir Arthur as an influential client and was profuse in his apologies. He explained that the mistake lay with the cashier. Going over the items to which exception was taken, the proprietor said: "The couvert I take him off directly, and the butter I charge him to the grand duke. He not notice it."

The idea of charging to the grand duke an item against whose extortionate price another customer protested always struck the great composer as a decidedly humorous way of getting out of the difficulty.

A Royal Road to Wealth.

When a certain late shah of Persia became temporarily embarrassed for money, he had quite a unique method of filling his purse. He would go to the market, where, after examining the shops, he would select one and, turning to the proprietor, would say, "Will you take me in as a partner in your business for the day?" The offer was, of course, eagerly accepted. The shah would take his seat near the shop entrance and say to his courtiers, whom he always took with him on these occasions: "Now, I'm salesman. Who'll buy?" The latter, not daring to refuse the offers of the royal merchant, set about clearing the shop of its contents, paying sometimes £50 for goods that were not worth £10. No one was allowed to beat down prices or to leave the place without making purchases. When everything was sold, the shah had a list of the cost price of each article made out and loyally shared with the shopkeeper the amount of the profit realized.

Her Sentiments.

It is related of a clergyman who was the father of a charming and beautiful daughter that one day while preparing his Sunday sermon he was suddenly called away from his desk on a mission of mercy. The sentence at which he left off was this: "I never see a young man of splendid physique and the promise of a glorious manhood almost realized but my heart is filled with rapture and delight."

His daughter, happening to enter the study, saw the sermon and read the words. Sitting down, she wrote underneath, "My sentiments, papa, exactly!"

Anxious to Do Right.

The children had quarreled, and Willie had struck Tommie. Instead of returning the blow Tommie turned and ran down the hall.

"Where are you going, Tommie?" asked his mother.

"Kitchen," answered Tommie tersely.

"What for?"

"You said if anybody was mean to me to heap coals of fire on his head, and I'm goin' for the coals."—Chicago Post.

A VANDERBILT'S WOOING.

Cupid Again Proved Stronger Than Parental Objection.

The engagement of Miss Cathleen Neilson and Reginald Vanderbilt, recently announced, marks the happy culmination of a pretty love story in which Cupid had to contend with parental disapproval, it is said, but in which the merry little god came out, as he usually does, victorious.

For more than a year young Vanderbilt has been worshiping at the shrine of the fair Cathleen, and their engagement was frequently rumored and as often denied. In fact, there has been some opposition, not on the part of Mrs. Vanderbilt alone, nor again on that of Mrs. Neilson, but a concerted action by both mothers, for the simple reason that they thought their children too young to wed.

The story that Mrs. Vanderbilt objected to Miss Neilson on account of her religion—she is a Roman Catholic—has been denied by both families. Youth, and that alone, was the only bar. Mrs. Vanderbilt has been opposed to her son marrying so early in life. But when she found that she could not successfully oppose the young people she gave a most gracious consent.

Probably they will be married in the late fall or early winter, with much pomp and circumstance, for it seems an unwritten family law exacts that no Vanderbilt shall enter quietly into matrimony.

Reginald C. Vanderbilt is just twenty-one years old and is the youngest son of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt. In appearance he resembles the Gwynnes, his mother's family, more than the Vanderbilts. He is rather short and stout, with a round face, and lacks the prominent nose which is a family characteristic on the side of his father.

Miss Cathleen Neilson is of the famous Gebhard family. Only moderately tall, she is slim, piquant, with charming dimples and a superb complexion. Her hair is golden brown, almost blond. She has a sweet disposition, an exquisite voice and is a girl of a great deal of character and decision.

Miss Neilson is an heiress as well as a beauty and will bring into the Vanderbilt family the prestige of Knickerbocker ancestry.

Miss Clara Barton, president of the American Red Cross society, who recently returned from St. Petersburg, where she had been in attendance on the seventh conference of the International Red Cross association, was personally decorated by the czar while in his dominions.

The decoration conferred on Miss Barton by the czar is the highest order with which he can honor any one not

When Miss Barton was presented to the czar, she bent to kiss the monarch's hand, as is the custom, but the great white czar drew back and said, "No, not you, Miss Barton," and shook her hand instead. Her whole tour through Russia was a triumphal journey for this world popular woman.

After years of patient study, and delving into the dusty record of the past, as well as following modern experiments in the realms of medical science, Dr. James W. Kidd, 2917 Baltes Building, Fort Wayne, Indiana, makes the startling announcement that he has surely discovered the elixir of life. That he is able with the aid of a mysterious compound, known only to himself, produced as a result of the years he has spent in searching for this precious life-giving boon, to cure any and every disease that is known to the human body. There is no doubt of the doctor's earnestness in making his claim and the remarkable cures that he is daily effecting seems to bear him out very strongly. His theory which he advances is one of reason and based on sound experience in a medical practice of many years. It costs nothing to try his remarkable "Elixir of Life," as he calls it, for he sends it free, to anyone who is a sufferer, in sufficient quantities to convince of its ability to cure, so there is absolutely no risk to run. Some of the cures cited are very remarkable, and but for reliable witnesses would hardly be credited. The lame have thrown away crutches and walked about after two or three trials of the remedy. The sick, given up by home doctors, have been restored to their families and friends in perfect health. Rheumatism, neuralgia, stomach, heart, liver, kidney, blood and skin diseases and bladder troubles disappear as by magic. Headaches, backaches, nervousness, fevers, consumption, coughs, colds, asthma, catarrh, bronchitis and all affections of the throat, lungs or any vital organs are easily overcome in a space of time that is simply marvelous.

Partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, dropsy, gout, scrofula and piles are quickly and permanently removed. It purifies the entire system, blood and tissue, restores normal nerve power, circulation and a state of perfect health is produced at once. To the doctor all systems are alike and equally affected by this great "Elixir of Life." Send for the remedy today. It is free to every sufferer. # Vigil In a Den Of Lions | Hunting The King of Beasts In Abyssinia

Lieutenant Colonel Andrew Haggard of the English army recently related a thrilling story of a lion hunt in which he took part in Abyssinia. Colonel Haggard at the time was governor of Massaua and had been zealously pursuing a band of Abyssinian robbers, led by a noted chief.

After the capture of the chief they became firm friends, and a lion hunt was organized. It was not until he had established perfectly friendly relations with the Abyssinian robber that Colonel Haggard obtained, as he says for the first time, an opportunity of seeing a lion just as well as the lion could see him; in fact, of being close enough to him to recognize his features perfectly. Following is the colonel's account of his experience:

the headdress of each of the brigand followers was composed of a strip of lion's mane tied round the head and looking like a halo. As these wreaths of lion mane waved about in the wind it can well be imagined what fierceness they lent to the already fierce faces beneath. Many of the men were assembled by their chief in council together to consider how they could best insure my obtaining a good chance of a shot at a lion. For, although there were several of the huge cats continually prowling about in the nighttime, by day they either retired to their dens or remained concealed in the thickest and almost impenetrable parts of the thorny jungle. Here, even if seen, the chances of a successful shot were problematical in the extreme. Several schemes were proposed and all rejected in turn by the chieftain until a fine young robber named Burro spoke.

He said that if the "bey" (meaning myself) wanted a shot there was only one way after the recent rains, which had made the bush greener than ever, in which he could be sure of seeing a lion, and that was the method which his own father had adopted once with success. It was risky work certainly, but he believed that if the bey would follow his advice he would see not one lion, but two lions. "Nay, more," he added, with a laugh; "he will probably see five or six lions, although three or four of them will be so small that they will hardly count."

Upon being asked to explain himself he said:

"There is a lion's den up among the rocks at the head of the little ravine which comes down from the range of mountains on the south side of the big ravine called the Khor el Mashalit. I have recently seen tracks of a very large lion and lioness coming up and down this little khor, and I believe they have young cubs in the den, which is entered by a hole some eight or nine feet above the bed of the khor. The lions spring up and down to get in and out. Now, the bey must go and climb up just about the first streak of dawn and get into the lions' den and wait there with the cubs. They are not likely to be big enough to hurt him. If the lioness is not inside when he goes to get in, and she probably will not be, he can do that in safety. Then he can shoot her as she comes in, which will be very shortly after daylight. The old lion will not probably go back with her, but lie out somewhere in the country near the big khor; especially if he has killed meat in the night he will remain near it and rest. Now, we can all make a line, and, starting several miles away, we can by firing off guns gradually drive the whole jungle up to the little khor. The old lion is certain to go home then to the den, if only to look after the lioness and the cubs, and perhaps some other lions may go that way also, but I think they will be too much afraid of the old lion just now to actually enter the den. However, I have spoken—that is my plan. What does the bey think of it? I am willing to accompany him myself," young Robber Burro continued after a pause, "and will carry a second rifle and wait inside the den if we succeed in getting into it in safety."

It was a most alarming scheme certainly and one which required a momentary pause before being acceded to.

But as the robber chieftain applauded it as good and said that he was perfectly willing that his men should drive the jungle for me I was not going to show the white feather by declining. Moreover, I thought that what a young savage like Burro was not afraid to venture I most certainly was not going to shrink from myself.

All arrangements were made accordingly for the following night, but dearly did I wish that instead of being armed with a Remington rifle belonging to one of my men I had got a reliable Express, of which the strikers were not broken. However, I was careful to see that the rifle that I took and also that which Burro took were in good working order. We would not leave anything to chance in that matter. Anything more weird and eerie than the last part of our journey in the dark up the khor to the lions' den it would be impossible to imagine. And when arrived at the den the tension while we waited a few seconds below it with rifles ready after making a sound or two to attract the lioness if she were within was perhaps the greatest I have ever known.

But she was not in, and we scrambled up the rock and down the other side into the most horrible smelling place that I ever entered. Imagine the lion house at the zoological gardens if it had never been cleaned out! To make matters more weird and eerie we could see the green eyes of several small lion cubs which were rushing about in the darkness and spitting and snarling like cats. Burro tried chopping at them with his sword, but the cave or den was full of bones, and he could not get at them in the dark in consequence, so we determined to wait until daylight. Besides we did not dare to leave the hole which we had come in at. We had, although it was a big hole, great difficulty in both standing on a ledge inside it so as to look out over the big rock, but we were able to do so at length and to stand or, rather, lie together over the stone.

We had not been ten minutes thus when dawn broke, and five minutes later Burro gripped my arm. He was not a second too soon, for, although I had never seen her approach, there within twelve feet of us was the lioness. She was standing with a little deer, called a dik-dik, in her mouth and looking up at me, ready to spring up as usual, but too astonished to do so. My Remington rang out, and the bullet went in fair between her eyes. She died with hardly a growl or a struggle.

When an hour later we heard shots in the distance, we were determined not to be so nearly caught napping a second time. But we need not have been afraid, for after awhile a terrible roaring was heard, and a huge lion came swinging along up the sandy bed of the ravine, turning back and stopping every few minutes to roar. But all of a sudden he saw us, and then quick as lightning he charged and sprang. Even as he leaped at the hole in the den we both fired together, the rifles actually touching his skin as he lit upon the rock, one of his huge paws taking hold of the sleeve of my coat and the leather strap of my water bottle at the same time.

And as the huge creature fell back in its death agony upon its mate he would certainly have dragged me with him had not fortunately the strap of the bottle broken. Thus my life was saved, and a few seconds later the magnificent lion was dead.

Pulled Men From the Surf.

In January, 1892, a vessel was blown ashore at night on the coast of Washington state in a lonely region where there were no life saving stations. It was a terrific storm, and all night long Mrs. Martha White, the wife of a local settler, patrolled the beach with a lantern. She thought she heard guns at intervals, and when day broke she saw the wreck. Taking off her petticoat, she waved it as a signal, but the situation of the vessel was evidently hopeless.

Nearly all of those on board were lost, but three men she succeeded, though herself a very little woman, in pulling out of the surf, afterward restoring them to life. For this service she received a gold medal from the United States government.

A Scholarly Milkmaid.

He overtook her on the roadside while wandering for his health in the Berkshires.

"At last," he said, "I have found a typical milkmaid of old New England. See her big sunbonnet, her dress up to her shoe tops, her plain but neat calico and the very pail itself. It is a morning for adventure, and I will speak to her."

He quickened his walk and was soon near her.

"Fine morning this morning," he said. "I would like to help you carry the pail."

There was no reply, but he felt the roguish smile that he knew was hid under the sunbonnet. So he kept on doing all the talking until they reached the lane into which she was about to turn.

"Can I go with you?" he asked.

She turned and faced him.

"No, sir; you may not, nor do I desire your attentions. It is bad enough to have a grown man splitting his infinitives, but when he shows his ignorance of the proper use of should and would and then caps the climax by using can for may I think it is only my duty to tell him that the summer school is in session about ten miles from here."—New York Times.

Witty Members of Parliament.

Charles James Fox once made remarks on government gunpowder in the house of commons which Adams, another member, thought offensive to the ministry, and the two met, as even wise men did in those days, to shoot one another. Fox refused to fire, declaring he had no quarrel, but Adams aimed and shot, slightly wounding his adversary. When it was over, the two shook hands, and Fox was happy enough to say, "You'd have killed me, Adams, if it had not been government powder!"

Other men there have been who would not sit through a speech for the government's sake, much less fight a duel. "What's going?" somebody asked a member of parliament when a minister had got up to speak. The M. P., hurrying on, said, "I am." The story recalls one of Lord Erskine, who was stopped in the lobby with the question, "Who's up?" "Windham," said Erskine, and the other asked, "What's he on?" "His legs," replied the witty lawyer.

Crusoe Kept Good Friday.

There was once a woman in Albany, prudent and cautious about the literature read by her children, who appealed to Bishop Doane for advice and instruction in the matter. They considered and discussed many juvenile books, the bishop either approving or condemning them as they came up for judgment, until finally "Robinson Crusoe" was named.

"Do you think it suitable for my Tommy?" asked the woman.

"Oh, yes," replied the bishop. "It is quite a harmless narrative and has pleased boys for ages. Besides, you know, there is some reason to believe Robinson Crusoe was an Episcopalian." And the bishop's eyes twinkled.

How It Happened.

"It was kinder funny—that is, overlookin' the seriousness of it," said the landlord of the Pettyville tavern. "You see, Miss Babtiella Lanks, who has—not meanin' any disrespect to her, you understand—been an old maid so long that it's generally believed to be chronic, approached the railroad crossin', and a brakeman waved a red flag at her to warn her of the danger. She thought he was tryin' to flirt with her and advanced toward him with a smile, and a caboose that was backin' up struck her good and plenty. Luckily no bones were broken, and the first thing she said when she recovered consciousness was 'Oh, this is so sudden!'"—Smart Set.

Brain Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You may prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get the reliable remedy at Charles F. Craig's.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO INVESTORS

Mine La Motte Lead & Smelting Company owns 37,614 acres of ground located in Madison and St. Francois Counties, Southeastern Missouri. Of that total 13,544 ACRES ARE KNOWN TO BE HEAVILY MINERALIZED. Only 20 acres have been developed by underground workings, and about 67 acres have received attention on the surface.

The mines are producing today, under very limited operation, more than $150,000 a year. The present management is now installing machinery and improvements that will swell this annual output to AT LEAST $500,000. Present shafts and drifts place in sight ore enough to tax all available machinery for centuries. Eliminating from the calculation all revenue from agricultural, timbering and miscellaneous sources, the property will earn a sum ample to pay immense dividends annually on the capitalization.

Investment in such a proposition as this does not in any sense border upon speculation. Stock in this corporation is as carefully protected as a Government bond. Since it is offered to you at a figure considerably below par, you can be assured of several times the ordinary rate of income.

Mine La Mott has been for more than a century one of the most famous lead producers in the country. It is the only mine today producing and shipping Nickel and Cobalt regularly. Its "Anchor Brand" of Pig Lead has been the standard of the market for years.

The estate, mine and plant have been under private ownership and control until now. From this time forward the output of the property will be increased as rapidly as modern machinery and methods can be installed to do it. Present earnings assure annual dividends of at least 8 per cent on par, and inside of six months this will be doubled.

A small block of stock is herewith offered for sale at $7.50 per share (par value $10). The amount put out at this figure will be limited. Immediate investors can make good profit, both on income and on rise in value of stock.

A large number of representative Ohio investors have already made careful inspection of property and plant. We will place you in touch with them, or if you or any of your friends will undertake to defray all expense incident to same. We shall ask youto do no business with us unless you may be absolutely satisfied as to thesafety, integrity and profit of this investment.

Get down to the facts of the matter. Don't take a stranger's word. It is easier to prove the truthfulness of statements made by citizens of East Liverpool than endorsement coming from some far away place. Read the following:

Mr. S. C. Hill, of Esther, Pa., carpenter, says: "For a year I suffered from pain across my back, difficulty with the kidney secretions and was naturally anxious to procure some treatment which would check it if not radically cure the trouble. Advised by a friend I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W., pharmacy, and I want East Liverpool people to thoroughly grasp this fact before I used the entire contents of the box I was cured. To prove that my convictions were laid on solid foundation I have since purchased Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured him. Now when a preparation which cured me in the condition I was in and also my neighbor, a preparation which is held in such estimation in and around East Liverpool that an acquaintance of mine advised me through a newspaper statement to obtain it, when that preparation performs exactly what it promises what can be expected of any resident of East Liverpool suffering from kidney complaint who will not take advantage of his neighbors' experience and profit by his opinions."

III.—Butterflies and Moths.

No one who has ever watched the development of a great, disgusting green worm into one of the most beautiful of God's creatures can fail to be ever after interested in such subjects as the one at the head of this article unless his taste has been so blunted that he can see no more beauty of coloring in the rainbow than in a penny valentine.

The beauty of these little, scaly winged creatures does not end with what we see with the unaided eye, but the microscope shows us that what appears like dust on the wings of butterflies and moths is really composed of minute scales of so delicate symmetry as to make one wonder anew at the perfection of nature's handiwork. And this is not all, for these little, feathery scales seen through the microscope are sufficient to identify the species of the insect from which they were taken. These scales are what give color to the wings. They are fastened to them by short stems and adhere to the fingers when we seize one of the insects by the wings. The author was once examining some water from a stagnant pool when suddenly there came into sight one of these scales, which he immediately recognized as coming from the wing of a hawk moth. He called to a lad who had been a zealous assistant and who had only a few days before clapped his hands in excitement on viewing for the first time the scales of this insect and of two other species which he had captured and brought in to show his prowess. The lad, not knowing what he should see, looked through the instrument for a moment, then glanced up at the author and exclaimed: "Oh! Did that pretty hawk moth bathe in that filthy water?"

As these scaly winged insects all pass through about the same changes in their development from the egg to the perfect insect, a description of the metamorphosis of one species will be sufficient for the purpose of this short article. We will take for our illustration the hawk moth, sometimes called the humming bird moth from its resemblance to that fairylike little creature when it is probing a flower for honey. It is also sometimes called the five spotted sphinx.

Some fine day after the cold spring weather has passed the mother moth searches out a potato or a tomato plant, for the leaves of one of these plants furnished her with food when she was only a baby worm, and she instinctively places her eggs on one of them that her children may find plenty of nourishing food ready for them when a few days later they shall emerge from the tiny eggs. Should the weather be warm and pleasant the leaf will be swarming with a hundred or more little wriggling, wormlike larvæ within a week or ten days, all of them eating, eating, eating, as though that were their only mission in life. In fact, this seems to be their only mission for the following three or four weeks, as they eat about twice their own weight daily, and in a few weeks they become great green potato worms from three to four inches long, each weighing about 20,000 times as much as when it left the egg. It does stop eating, however, every few days when it has grown so large that its skin will not hold more. At such times it rests for awhile. Its skin turns to a grayish color, and it seems to be getting prematurely old. Then it bows its back, swells out each ring in the middle part of its body and bursts the skin open along the back. Now, with a little struggle, it draws out its head and a moment later its tail from the old skin and emerges in a bright new suit. The author once saw a caterpillar go through the whole of this molting process in a little less than two minutes. Caterpillars shed their skins in this way four or five times before they have attained their full size. They are now three or four inches long, and as they are full of rich juices they are often chosen by the ichneumon flies as a fit place in which to deposit their eggs so that when they hatch the young grubs will be surrounded by an abundance of food.

When the caterpillar of the hawk moth has shed its skin for the last time and again gorged itself with food toward the close of summer, it crawls down from the plant on which it has been feeding and buries itself in the ground, where the skin thickens and hardens and changes to a brownish color, and a long tube grows and bends over so as to resemble the handle of a pitcher. In this pupa state the caterpillar remains until spring, when it bursts from its wrappings and comes out of the ground a beautiful moth, ready to repeat the strange life of its ancestors. The jug handle of the pupa contains the future moth's tubular tongue, which it keeps coiled up like the hairspring of a watch except when it uses it to probe for honey in the deep corolla of some flower while still on the wing, like a humming bird. This tongue, or proboscis, is often five or six inches long.

Wonderful are the changes wrought in the caterpillar while it lies buried from our sight in Mother Earth. The mouth, with strong jaws, working horizontally for the mastication of vegetable food, must be changed to a suctorial mouth, fitted to suck up the nectar of the flowers, and the remainder of the digestive apparatus must be changed to digest the new kind of food. Ten of the sixteen legs of the caterpillar must be absorbed, leaving only the six true legs of the perfect insect. To the system of air tubes opening through little mouths along each side of the body to supply the necessary air for the caterpillar must be added four or five sacklike lungs in different parts of the body.

The wings must be formed and strong muscles developed to move them in flight. The whole nervous system must be remodeled to suit the needs of the mature animal which is much higher in the scale of life than is the caterpillar, and two large compound eyes, with hundreds of facets and lenses, must be formed, for the caterpillar has only six simple eyes, or ocelli.

All of the caterpillars are the larvæ of either butterflies or moths, and all are wormlike in form, so much so that most of them are often mistaken for worms. Nearly all of them have two or more pairs of jaws, which work horizontally instead of vertically, like those of higher animals, and some of them have a gizzard with teeth for still further grinding food. Nearly all are vegetable feeders, and some of them do much damage to growing crops. The common cankerworm, for example, destroys many of our currant blossoms and the foliage buds of many of our cultivated trees. You often see it hanging by a silken thread of its own spinning from the apple, plum, cherry or other fruit trees. It is one of the many measuring worms which children take delight in watching.

The cutworm is the caterpillar of a pretty little owlet moth and does much damage to our gardens by cutting down the tender cucumber, squash and tomato plants, and it sometimes destroys whole fields of beans, cabbages, potatoes and other vegetables. The army worm, cotton worm and apple worm are also very destructive, and these are all caterpillars.

The clothes moth deposits its eggs in fur, wood, feathers, etc., and the little caterpillar appears in from five to ten days and begins to feed, constructing a portable cylindrical case of the wool or fur upon which it is feeding. It leaves this tube open and lines it with silk spun from its own body. As it increases in size it enlarges its portable house by splitting the tube and inserting a gore first at one end and then at the other. It is very destructive to clothing, furs, etc., for it thrusts its head out of one end of the tube and eats as ravenously as its vegetarian relatives.

While most of the insects of this order are destructive to a greater or less extent of that which is useful to men, one of them, the silkworm, produces the material for a fabric which adds millions of dollars annually to the wealth of the world. The Bombyx mori, the species which furnishes the larger part of the silk of commerce, is a native of China and is now essentially a domestic animal. For centuries the Chinese government jealously guarded this insect lest foreigners should purloin their secret, obtain some of the silkworms and be thereby enabled to produce their own silk. History tells us that in the early part of the sixth century A. D. a Catholic missionary succeeded in carrying away some of the eggs, or cocoons, in a bamboo walking stick and that he took them to the Emperor Justinian. From these the silk culture of southern Europe grew to be of great commercial importance within a few years.

The silkworm in its mature state is a clumsy moth, with a body much larger in proportion to the size of the wings than the bodies of other moths. This disproportion is so great in the female that she does not fly. The male is much more active. The caterpillars are ravenous eaters. Those coming from a single ounce of eggs eat, on an average, three-fifths of a ton of mulberry leaves and produce about 120 pounds of cocoons. The female dies very soon after laying her eggs.

The full grown caterpillar, instead of burying itself in the ground to pass through the pupa state, as does the caterpillar of the hawk moth, winds itself in a ball of silk which issues from two little spinnerets near the mouth. This process requires about two months, and when the cocoon is finished it is about the size and shape of a large sized pigeon's egg. The silk from the cocoon of the male is both finer and stronger than that from the cocoon of the female.

There is but one American species of silkworm which has proved to be very profitable as a silk spinner, the polyphemus. This is a large, beautiful moth, and it wraps its cocoon in one or more leaves.

If any of the young people who read this article should care to study either butterflies or moths, they should remember that any caterpillar kept in confinement must have plenty of fresh air and plenty of fresh food of the kind upon which it is feeding when found. They should also be careful not to keep the pupa too warm. If the potato worm is in your collection, furnish fresh dirt for it to hide itself in when it is ready for the change to the pupa state and then keep it in a cool place. A cool cellar will do.

HOPELESS CASES.

When the doctor leaves and says the case is hopeless, what remains to be done? Nothing, if the doctor's word is final. Much, if you will listen to the statements of men and women who were once "hopeless cases" given up by doctors, and who were perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Nothing is more sure than that thousands of men and women with diseased lungs, obstinate coughs, hemorrhage, emaciation and night-sweats, have been restored to perfect health by the use of the "Discovery." Will it cure you?

It has cured in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred where it was given a fair and faithful trial. By that record you have only two chances in a hundred of failure and ninety-eight chances of being restored to perfect health. It is worth trying.

Abram Freer, Esq., of Rockbridge, Greene Co., Ill., writes: "My wife had a severe attack of pleurisy and lung trouble; the doctors gave her up to die. She commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and she began to improve from the first dose. By the time she had taken eight or ten bottles she was cured, and it was the cause of a large amount being sold here. I think the 'Golden Medical Discovery' is the best medicine in the world for lung trouble."

Many young people form habits which cripple and handicap them for life by doing things "just for now." They let things drop wherever they happen to be "just for now," thinking that they will put the book, the tool, the letter or the article of clothing later where it belongs. When these young people grow up to manhood and womanhood, they find that the habit of putting things down anywhere "just for now" has become a tyrant that fills their lives with confusion and disorder. It takes no more time or effort to put a thing where it belongs in the first place than it does later, perhaps less, and the chances are that if you do not do so at the proper time you never will. Even if it costs you a little inconvenience at the moment to put everything in its proper place, to do everything at the proper time, the orderly and methodical habits which you cultivate in this way will increase your power and usefulness a hundredfold and may save you much trouble and mortification in the future.—Success.

The Outcome of the Alliance Conference Is Deeper Embarrassment For the Democracy.

Instead of adopting measures for the relief of the very embarrassing muddle in which the Democrats and Labor leaders have mixed themselves, the conference at Alliance yesterday had no other effect than to more seriously complicate the situation.

Fourteen Democrats and two Labor men were present at the meeting, and from what could be gathered on the outside the sessions were reasonably harmonious. This is accounted for by the fact that the Democrats so greatly outnumbered the Labor men that the latter were not permitted to take a very active part in the proceedings.

The Labor representatives were Fred R. Johnson and William Cobbs both of Alliance, the former being secretary of the district labor executive committee. F. L. Clark, of Canton was made chairman of the meeting He is a member of the Democratic congressional committee and is said to be very much in favor of Duffy giving way to a Canton man for the place on the Democratic ticket.

Precisely 30 letters were received from as many labor unions throughout the Eighteenth district, replying to the request sent out by the Labor committee, asking that an opinion be given as to what course Mr. Duffy should take. When it is considered that there are some 35 unions in East Liverpool alone it can be readily seen that the expression was anything but a general one. Of these communications, a few more than half declared that Duffy should remain where he had been placed in the beginning—upon the Labor ticket. The remainder were about equally divided, a part favoring the East Liverpool man's candidacy upon the Democratic ticket and the remainder giving it as their opinion that he be permitted to do as he might choose for himself.

Mr. Duffy made a speech, in which he declared that although he was a Democrat and believed in Democratic doctrines, he had accepted the Labor nomination, and that without the consent of the Labor people, he would not accept the place tendered him upon the Democratic ticket.

No action was taken at the meeting the Democrats deeming it unnecessary to express an opinion, since the majority of the Labor organizations heard from had favored Duffy's remaining where he was.

Within a fortnight Zach S. Robison who is serving a life sentence in the Ohio penitentiary, having been convicted in this county during the summer of 1897 of second degree murder, will likely secure his release from that institution.

Attorney Hollis E. Grosshans, who, it will be remembered defended Robison at the trial, and who has for several months been working for a pardon for his client, stated this morning that the case assumed a very favorable phase, and he thinks that Robison will doff the convict garb in a very short time.

The attorney is in receipt of a communication from Senator C. C. Connell which gives him the assurance. Senator Connell has voluntarily agreed to use all the power at his command to secure the pardon. At the time that Robison was convicted the senator was an associate at law with Judge Young who also assisted in the defense and was through that means made very familiar with the testimony brought to bear in the case.

It is said that the senator never did believe Robison guilty, and that he made up his mind during the progress of the trial, if the opportunity was ever presented, he would endeavor to intercede for the man. Another reason given for the senator's voluntary proposition is that he desires to carry out the wish of Judge Young, deceased. The judge openly declared that he would work for Robison's release and the senator feels it his duty as a friend of the deceased to do what he would have attempted.

Senator Connell, it is said, will present the matter to the board of pardons next week. He has a strong argument to offer and considering the fact that an argument by a man of his weight can but have but effect, Robison certainly has a bright prospect for deliverance from the big walls.

The usual formalities in securinga pardon will likely be dispensed with owing to the impaired health of Robison. There is a clause in the Ohio statute that provides for such emergencies. It states that when a prisoner is in immediate danger of death, a pardon can be granted without a notice of the application being published, and that under any circumstances if the warden and pardon board so desire, all formalities can be disregarded.

Robinson is now nearing sixty years of age. He has been in ill health since the first day of his confinement and his condition is considered extremely dangerous He is a trusty and has borne an excellent reputation during his term and he has the good wishes of all the officials connected with the penitentiary. Many of his friends in East Liverpool express a desire for his release.

FINE CONDITION SHOWN

By the Potteries of Trenton—Brotherhood Stirred Up By a Councilmanic Fight—An Alarming Shortage of Fuel—Plants May Close.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 27.—In spite of the protests from the labor organizations throughout the state against the retention of John C. Ward as state factory inspector, Governor Murphy announces that he is powerless to remove him. At the recent convention of the New Jersey State Federation of Labor, charges were preferred against Ward for permitting children under fourteen years old to be employed in workshops and factories. The foundation for the charges grew out of the present condition of the local potteries and the glass works in South Jersey.

A committee of three composed of Henry J. Gottlob, of Newark, George P. Pierce, of Woodbury, and Daniel Trenan, of Paterson, was appointed to lay the matter of Ward's removal before Governor Murphy.

The committee met the governor and his reply was that he was powerless to revove Ward, unless he had the consent of the state senate, for, as that body had ratified the appointment, it would also have to act upon his dismissal. The committee has filed its report with the executive board which threatens to bring the matter before the legislature.

Almost all of the general ware potteries have gotten out new shapes for the holiday trade. Because of the steady demand for the old shapes there have been few new designs, the difference being noted chiefly in gilding and decorations. The innovations are confined principaily to dinner ware in which there is almost room for a higher grade of excellence.

A general healthy condition has existed throughout the local potteries during the past year during which the plants were well stocked with orders. At present there is no sign of a falling off and save for the customary slack season during the holidays the employes look for steady work until spring at least.

James Braithwaite, who is a member of the Excise board is a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket. Mr. Braithwaite is a member of Kilnmen's local No. 35, and a vice president of the National Brotherhood of Operatives.

A movement has been begun among the members of the different pottery locals toward defeating the renomination of James Clark for common council. At the time of Mr. Clark's election he was one of the most ardent champions of the Brotherhood in this city and was the representative of Kilnmen's local No. 35 to the Mercer county Central Labor uinon. While serving as a delegate, Clark began a movement for none but the employment of union labor upon city work. The resolution was introduced in council through the instrumentality Clark who, when the bill came up for its final passage over the mayor's veto found Clark among the opposition. His action created discord throughout the ranks of the Brotherhood and he was withdrawn as a delegate to the central body.

Clark remained away from the meetings of the kilnmen until finally his name was dropped from the roll. Because of his attitude on the labor question the individual members of the Brotherhood have began a movement for his defeat.

The faces of pottery manufacturers have taken on a gloomy look because of the alarming shortage of the coal supply. The use of anthracite was discarded several weeks ago and since then the potteries have been operating with soft coal. The supply of the bituminous has dropped one-half below the usual amount and not a car has reached this city during the past ten days. The coal companies are unable to fill their orders and the chances are that before the end of another week, if the strike is not ended or more coal received, nearly all the plants will have to cease operations.

Reports from the new pottery at Elizabeth which is owned by Trenton capital are that conditions are better and further improvements is expected. From Camden comes the news that work is a little slack because of the warerooms being overstocked.

Kilnmen's local No. 35 is holding very interesting meetings, reinstating old members and taking in new ones. At its last meeting the treasurer was authorized to pay $50 to the new Saggermaker's union, this being due the saggermakers while they were members of that organization.

Akron the Mecca to Which Republicans Bend Their Steps Today—Superb Oratorical Program.

Akron, September 27.—(Special)—From indications the Republican campaign opening will be the greatest demonstration of a political nature that Ohio has witnessed for years. All day long special trains have been bringing in thousands of visitors and the crowd which will greet the famous speakers this afternoon will be enormous.

An imposing parade, miles in length, started at 1:30 o'clock. In it was represented the chief organizations of the city and marching clubs and bands from Cleveland, Youngstown, Niles, Mansfield and scores of other northern Ohio towns. Near the head of the procession rode the president of the day, Governor George K. Nash, and the distinguished orators who are to speak at Grace park as soon as the parade is over.

The principal address will be by Elihu Root, secretary of war, one of the most noted and brilliant men in public life today. Following him will be brief addresses by Senators Foraker and Hanna. Governor Nash will preside at the meeting.

In the park a stand which will accommodate 500 persons has been erected. This and all available space surrounding was packed with a mass of humanity long before the time set for speeches to begin. The speakers arrived at noon, on a special train from Cleveland, and were met by a reception committee and escorted to the Buchtel hotel, where they dined and held a short reception.

The big parade was, of course, the spectacular part of the entire day, and in order to make the part which Akron and Summit county was to play in it one which will be of credit to the city and county, handsome silk flags were offered to the township turning out the largest mounted delegation, to the township turning out the largest delegation on foot, and to the city ward turning out the largest number of men. In addition all the city marchers were provided with small flags and white hats.

HANNA'S VISIT WILL BE LATER

Senator Not Likely to Reach East Liverpool Until Third Week in October.

To Enable Him to Address the People of This City—Lightning Changes of House Code Committee On Franchise Legislation Issue.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, Sept. 27.—Chairman Patterson, of the speakers' bureau at Republican state headquarters, says it has been necessary to change Senator Hanna's itinerary, which will necessitate a postponement of the East Liverpool meeting until probably the third week in the campaign. It was intended that he would open his speaking tour at East Liverpool, but Steubenville will probably be selected instead. The date will likely be October 6.

It is now planned to have the senator make a special trip for the East Liverpool meeting. His first week will be spent in southeastern Ohio and northern West Virginia. The Steubenville meeting will be held in the afternoon. Chairman Patterson said that Senator Hanna would postpone his going to Lisbon, the place of his birth, until next year, when he would make the opening speech of his itinerary at that place. The campaign will be opened at another point more centrally located, but the senator thinks the Lisbon meeting could be made a rousing one and that a great crowd would be in attendance. The idea is to make the gathering one of the most memorable political events ever held in eastern Ohio.

The members of the house code committee are lightning change artists. They do one thing one day and reverse themselves the next day. It is impossible to anticipate their acts. They changed front on different propositions this week. Thursday night they agreed to leave the franchise laws alone. Friday morning they agreed not to leave them alone. The old laws with the unconstitutional features taken out were put into the code. The committee's report will be placed in the hands of the house Monday and it will be up to this body to decide among other things whether the franchise laws shall be re-enacted or left as they are now for future general assemblies to correct.

The senate has taken a stand against franchise legislation at this special session and has adopted a resolution providing for the appointment of a commission to investigate the subject and report to the next legislature Although the special committee of the house decided against curative legislation, passing the question up to the house for disposition, several members who were conspicuous in their support of this action underwent a complete change and came out in favor of curative legislation. Some members change their opinions over night. The code committee has now completed its work. Its reports go to the house Monday afternoon. The state printer has a large force at work on the amended bill and printed copies will be ready for distribution in the house and senate when both bodies convene Monday afternoon.

Ohio ex rel Isaac B. Cameron, treasurer of State, vs. William L. Alexander treasurer of Bucyrus, is the style of a case filed in supreme court Friday. A judgment of $1,034.14 was decided against the city of Bucyrus by the common pleas court of Crawford county which Treasurer Alexander refuses to pay. The petition, a writ of mandamus, asks that he be compelled to do so.

A special from Lima says that Robert V. Hampson, of Salem, has been elected grand treasurer of the Grand Chapter, Ohio Royal Arch Masons which met at that place.

Will Veon, a former resident of East Liverpool, has taken up his residence in Columbus, coming here from a western Pennsylvania town. He was married three months ago.

CHILD BITTEN BY A DOG

Eva, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Foutts, of West Market street, was bitten on the right leg this morning by a dog, while she was walking through the Diamond in company with another playmate. The dog came running across the street from the west side of the Diamond and jumped at Miss Foutts, trying to bite her right hand. She raised her arm and the dog then bit her on the leg.

She was hastily taken to the office of a physician, where the wound was cauterized.

Playing at Rochester.

The local base ball team, accompanied by several scores of enthusiasts left on the noon train for Rochester where they will play the second game of the series. The rooters carried with them big megaphones and other instruments of noise, and East Liverpool will undoubtedly be noticed on the grounds.

HAND AND HIP HURT

Stonemason Seriously Injured While Helping to Unload a Wagon.

Andrew R. McDowell, a contracting stone quarryman living at 190 Thompson avenue, met with an accident yesterday that will incapacitate him for work for a number of days. While assisting in the unloading of stone from a wagon Mr. Foutts was hurt.

In some manner he fell under one of the heavy weights and sustained a badly mashed hand and sprained hip He went to the office of a physician and had the wounds dressed.

W. A. TARR DECIDES TO GET OFF THE TICKET

Lisbon, September 27.—(Special.)—Chairman McNutt, of the Republican county central committee, this morning received the resignation of County Infirmary Director W. A. Tarr. Mr Tarr recently accepted the position of superintendent of the clay banks and coal mines at the Vulcan brick works at Wellsville, and moved his family to that place this week. He gave this as his reason for resigning his office

In accordance with a resolution passed at the convention last spring it is now within the power of the executive committee to fill the vacancy by appointment, and Chairman McNutt has issued a call for a meeting of the body at the court house next Friday at 1 o'clock.

BIDS FOR PAVING

NONE AT ALL WERE SUBMITTED FOR PROSPECT STREET.

John Ryan Gets the Contract for Paving on Sugar Alley.

When Councilman Barlow was elected one thought uppermost in his mind was to have Prospect street paved The matter was brought up in council through the regular channels, but the street will not be paved this year. Bids for this improvement were to have been opened by Clerk Willis Davidson at 1 o'clock today, but there were none to open. Now the matter is dropped, at least for the time being.

Two bids for the paving of Sugar alley from Kossuth to Robinson streets were opened, they being filed by Contractors Thomas McLaughlin and John Ryan. Ryan was awarded the contract for this work and filed the required bond of $50. His bid was: Paving, $1.06; excavating, 27 cents; curbing, 35 cents.

McLaughlin's bid: $1.10 for paving; excavating, 30 cents; curbing, 30 cents. Ryan will commence work on the improvement at once.

Work was to have been started this morning paving a gutter on Sherman avenue, but it was deferred until Monday morning.

HEALY SUBMITS HIS PROPOSITION

Never did Wellsville have a more exciting council meeting than the special session held last night.

The meeting started off with seven councilmen present, Smith, Weaver and Aughinbaugh being absent. There being only this number present no ordinances could be passed.

The first matter of importance to be brought up was that of an injunction which is asked by Philip Bruner, of Front street, to hold up all of the paving improvements, and the Maple alley paving in particular. Mr. Bruner it seems sides with E. A. Freshwater, against whom an injunction was about to be taken out by Solicitor Boyd for the city council, compelling the contractor to complete the Maple alley paving at once.

The notification of Mr. Bruner's injunction, which was served upon Mr. Boyd yesterday, Bruner claims that the city's contract with Mr. Freshwater regarding that particular improvement is illegal, there having been no money in the Maple alley improvement fund at the time the contract was awarded. Why Mr. Bruner, who owns property only on Front street, is interested, puzzled the councilmen.

City Engineer Leith stated the situation and the conditions of the contract. In case the work was not started at the time deemed necessary by the engineer, notice was to be served the contractor, and if he did not start within five days the engineer was to do the work at the contractor's expense. He stated that he served the notice on Mr. Freshwater yesterday. If the work does not start in the required time the engineer will hire men to do it.

On motion it was voted unanimously that the city solicitor stop further pro-

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

CROOKSVILLE ABOUT READY.

It is stated that the new pottery at Crooksville will be placed in operation about three weeks from next Monday. Practically all the machinery, which was made in thic city, has been sent to the new shop, and the last consignment will be forwarded within the next 10 days. This machinery consists mainly of materials that are to be used in the decorating shop, and other minor pieces. All the modeling for this shop was done in this city and Wellsville, and yesterday a toilet set modeled at Wellsville was forwarded to Crooksville. William Tritt, general manager of this new shop, arrived in this city Thursday evening and left for his home this morning. Last evening he stated that practically all the workmen he would require for the present had been secured, and many of them would be taken from this city. Others will be taken from the shops at Sebring, Akron, New Castle, Ford City and Canonsburg. When in full operation the new plant will employ from 175 to 200 people. Mr. Tritt's visit here was for the purpose of engaging several mould makers, and he held a conference with three last evening. He was also to place an order for a new toilet set, and this was to be given to a local modeler, it is stated. The new plant is built somewhat after the plans of the French China pottery at Sebring, having a capacity of five kilns and four decorating kilns. The company has had many inpuiries about what time its ware will be placed on the market. The company has made no attempt to secure orders and will make none until a complete line of samples has been made. This will take some time, and it is thought a sufficient amount of ware will be in stock to start the salesmen out to catch some of the spring trade. Mr. Tritt last Tuesday morning received over 60 applications for positions from workmen in the different potteries about the country, and the majority of them were from East Liverpool shops.

THE SALINEVILLE PLANT.

Work on the new pottery at Saline-ville is still progressing slowly, and the bricklayers are now completing the kilns. Weather has been holding back work during the past few days, and little progress has been made. Carpenters have set the last frames in the walls, and as soon as the walls are completed they will begin at once the roofing. Material for the construction of the building is nearly all on the ground and it will not take much longer to finish the building, so that the preliminary work of operating the plant can be inaugurated soon. Several pieces of necessary machinery for the mixing and preparing of clay have been shipped and are now at the site. As soon as the roof is on the carpenters will begin putting down the floor, which, if spread out, would have almost an acre of surface.

PRICE IN TOWN.

Thomas Price, manager of the Union Potteries company, with plants in this city and New Cumberland, was in the city for a few hours on business. Mr. Price stated that business with his company was very good, and that all the ware that could be made was being shipped. While in the city he received a message from Allegheny stating that Frank. W. Fowler, who has been ill with typhoid pneumonia for some time, was not improved, and that he was confined to his home instead of at a hospital, although the plan of placing him in a hospital was considered at the first of his sickness. His condition, however, is not serious.

PERHAPS YEARS BEHIND.

A local paper this week published the story that a million dollar combine was to be formed among the potteries in the Wheeling district. In the present issue of the Potters Herald, this announcement is repudiated in the following statement. "We were under the impression that the firms mentioned had been under the management of the Wheeling Pottery company for some time, with C. W. Franzheim as president. This, however, seems not to be the case, and it would appear that closer consolidation is necessary."

PLACING NEW KINLS.

Never before were so many kilns of pipe being placed at the East End plant of the American Sewer Pipe company as at present. The kiln placers this week placed eight kilns, and last week seven. It was intended to make nine kilns this week, but the kilns were too hot to work in. There is a large stock of green pipe on hand, and the company is urging the workmen to make as much pipe as possible. From three to five carloads are being shipped daily from this plant.

A FEW CHANGES.

The East Liverpool Potteries company is to make a few more changes at the Wallace & Chetwynd. It is announced that the company will install an additional press in the decorating department, in the room formerly occupied as the decorated warehouse. Work upon the new decorating kilns at this plant is progressing rapidly, but those now in course of construction will not be ready for use for several weeks.

Much of the stone to be used in the foundation has been delivered, and also a large amount of lumber. The construction of this addition will be rushed as much as possible.

When tea was announced the crowning surprise was found in the menu cards. There were handpainted oval photo card holders tied with pink ribbons, and within was a picture of a maiden, with the inscription: "Mr. William Frederick Steele; Miss Kathrine Bair; November Fifth, Nineteen Hundred and Two." Congratulations were showered upon Miss Bair, which were taken most graciously.

Street Car Off the Track And a Stalled Freight on the C. & P.

The East Liverpool railway company is experiencing considerable trouble in the East End just at present. Three cars were derailed at the old loop on Pennsylvania avenue yesterday afternoon. The company is doing some repair work in the vicinity of the old loop, near the small bridge that spans the tracks leading into the East End sewer pipe works clay mine It appears that the rails on the bridge spread yesterday afternoon and three cars were derailed. The first car went off the track about 3 o'clock, and this was followed by the freight car. Another car met a similar fate about 5 o'clock, and it is a wonder that some of these cars did not roll off the bridge and into the hill just back of the mouth of the mine. Of course the accidents delayed travel for a short time, and later passengers were transferred until the cars could be replaced.

Travel on this line was also delayed last evening by the tracks at the Second street crossing being blockaded by the first section of east bound freight No. 94. This train was composed of 62 cars, and was hauled by one of the large class H-4 engines. All the cars were loaded and the train became stalled as it was ascending the grade between the passenger station and the East End. Finally, after waiting for over half an hour for the train to pull off the crossing, the train was cut and through traffic was again resumed.

The east bound passenger train pulled into the Second street station, and after loading and unloading passengers the train backed down the track for quite a distance. The freight train was again cut, a portion of it being taken to the East End and the local shifting engine placed the other part of the train on the Thompson siding. The west bound train, due here at 7:33, was held at the East End for about three hours, arriving at the Second street station about 10 o'clock. The several train crews were in no pleasant mood over being held here for so long, and it was the intention of the train dispatcher to send first 94 to Smith's Ferry and allow the passenger trains to pass at that point.

More New Houses.

The contract was let today for the erection of two more residences to be built in the East End. These houses will be erected on High street by David Green, of Shippingport, and the contract was let to C. Barnes, of the East End, who was formerly located at Shippingport. Work is to be commenced at once.

Rally Day Services.

Rally day services will be held at two East End churches tomorrow, and the programs published in this paper several days ago will be closely followed. The services at the Second U. P. church on St. George street will commence at 10:30 o'clock, owing to the lengthy program. The services at the Second Presbyterian church will commence at 10, and the little church is sure to be filled with scholars of the Sunday school and their friends The programs arranged for the services this year are better than those of past years.

Many Went to Rochester.

A large number of young men from the East End went to Rochester at noon today for the purpose of witnessing the ball game between the Rochester and East Liverpool teams. Not a few ladies were in the party, they apparently taking as much interest in the game as the young men. It is expected that many of the visitors will return home on the early evening train, but the midnight train will bring the majority of the young men back home.

Birthday Surprise.

A pleasant birthday surprise party was tendered Ethel Davis, at her home on St. George street last evening, it being the occasion of her twelfth birthday. Guests to the number of 18 were present, and the evening was passed most enjoyably. Singing and children's games were features, and at a late hour luncheon was served. Miss Davis was the recipient of many beautiful presents.

Resting at His Home.

During the low stage of water in the Ohio river, Capt. Thomas Calhoun, of the Pittsburg-Cincinnati packet Virginia, has been staying at his home at Georgetown. The Virginia is being given a general overhauling and cleaning while at Pittsburg, and occasionally Capt. Calhoun goes to Pittsburg to see how the work is progressing. The Virginia will resume its regular trips just as soon as the river will permit.

Plant Greatly Improved.

Carpenters who have been working at the East End plant of the American Sewer Pipe works for the past two months, making improvements to the large works, have completed their labors and been ordered to the Walker plant, which is being extensively overhauled. The East End plant is now in better shape than ever before, it is said, and several thousand dollars have been spent on improvements there.

A Rush For Football Game

Much interest is being taken in the football game which is to be played at Columbian park next Saturday afternoon between the Laughlin and Rover football teams. Already about 300 tickets have been disposed of and the game to be played for the benefit of William Herron, a member of the Laughlin club, who was seriously injured in a game in which he played several weeks ago.

A Trip For Her Health.

Miss Georgia Shingleton, who has been seriously ill at her home in Helena for several weeks, is recovering rapidly, and next week will leave for a 10 days visit with friends near Lisbon. The trip is being made for the benefit of her health.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

The Free Methodists are continuing to hold revival meetings in the East End in the Larkins & Ferguson hall.

Thomas Finley and wife spent the day in Pittsburg visiting friends.

Mrs. Edward McElhaney and children, who have been visiting friends at St. Mary's, W. Va., for several weeks, have returned to the East End.

Link Morley and family, of the East End, have removed to Cincinnati. Mr. Morley has obtained a position with a large filter manufacturing firm of that city.

The work of painting the exterior of the East End fire station has been completed, this being done last evening. The station now presents a neater appearance than for years.

Jess Cooper, a well known young man residing on Pennsylvania avenue, who has been suffering for several weeks from a sore head, was much improved this morning. Last evening an operation was performed and this tended to improve his condition .

always indicate a weak heart. They are usually preceeded or followed by palpitation or fluttering, and there may be pain in left side, a smothering sensation and shortness of breath. Such a heart should be treated at once, before the disease develops beyond control. Heart disease is as easily cured as other troubles if taken in time.

"I was subject to fainting spells, and many times I have fallen on the street. I was often compelled to sit down while walking to avoid falling. When physicians failed to help me, I took Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and was completely cured."
CHARLES D. RANDALL.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

There is a reason for every cause of sickness, and if investigation was made the fault would often be found right at one's own doorstep—negligence. We are all very apt to ignore natures first warning cries when disorder of the blood, nerves, stomach or bowels happens, expecting it to soon pass off. But disease never grows better of itself—always worse. It may develop in dyspepsia, liver or bowel trouble, constipation or general debility; at any rate something should be promptly done to stop the progress of your trouble and cleanse the system of its poisonous matter. For this you can rely with implicit confidence upon the efficacy of Wright's Celery Tea, an effectual prompt, pleasant cure that is especially adapted to such disorders. At all druggists, 25c and 50c packages.

A ROUSING MEETING

Of Lyon Post at Which Veterans' Washington Trip Was Arranged For.

The meeting of Gen. Lyon Post No. 44 held last evening was well attended and a rousing good time was enjoyed by the old veterans. Commander McLane stated that all preparations had been made for the attendance of the encampment at Washington and instructed all who intend to go to give their names to J. C. Allison, chairman of the transportation committee.

Goes Away to Wed.

Arthur Woodruff, a motorman on the East Liverpool street car line, will leave tomorrow morning for Zanesville, where on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, he will wed Miss Jessie Robertson, a prominent lady of that city. The groom has been in this city for the past year and has made a large number of friends. With his bride he will return to this city Wednesday evening and will go to housekeeping immediately on Broadway.

The Proper Treatment For a Sprained Ankle.

As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches two or three weeks after spraining his ankle, and it is usually two or three months before he has fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time, for in many cases in which Chamberlain's Pain Balm has been promptly and freely applied, a complete cure has been effected in less than one week's time, and in some cases within three days. ## NEW BOODLING SENSATION.

Broker Wanted to Explain Checks Paid to Politician.

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—Developments in the "boodle" investigation were sensational yesterday, subpoenas duces tecum having been issued at the instance of Circuit Attorney Folk commanding Broker James Campbel and William Reed, his cashier, to appear in court with two checks, aggregating $47,500, dated Nov. 28, 1899 and payable to Ed Butler, a prominent local politician, and to explain the purpose for which the checks were drawn. It was found on investigation by the grand jury that both checks had been cashed and returned to Broker Campbell.

The date of these checks was the same as the day on which the ten year lighting bill passed the house of delegates, for which 19 members are said to have received $2,500 each for their votes. Up to a late hour yesterday deputy sheriffs were unable to serve the subpoenas. At Broker Campbell's office it was stated that Reed had not been there since Thursday and that his employer was in the east.

Another session of the grand jury was held yesterday, several witnesses being examined. The last session before the final meeting and report on Monday will be held today. An additional effort to secure the release on writs of habeas corpus of the four former members of the house of delegates, who are now in jail awaiting trial on charges of bribery and perjury, failed. Judge Vaillant, of the supreme court, before whom this petition was taken, denied the application, declaring he had no jurisdiction

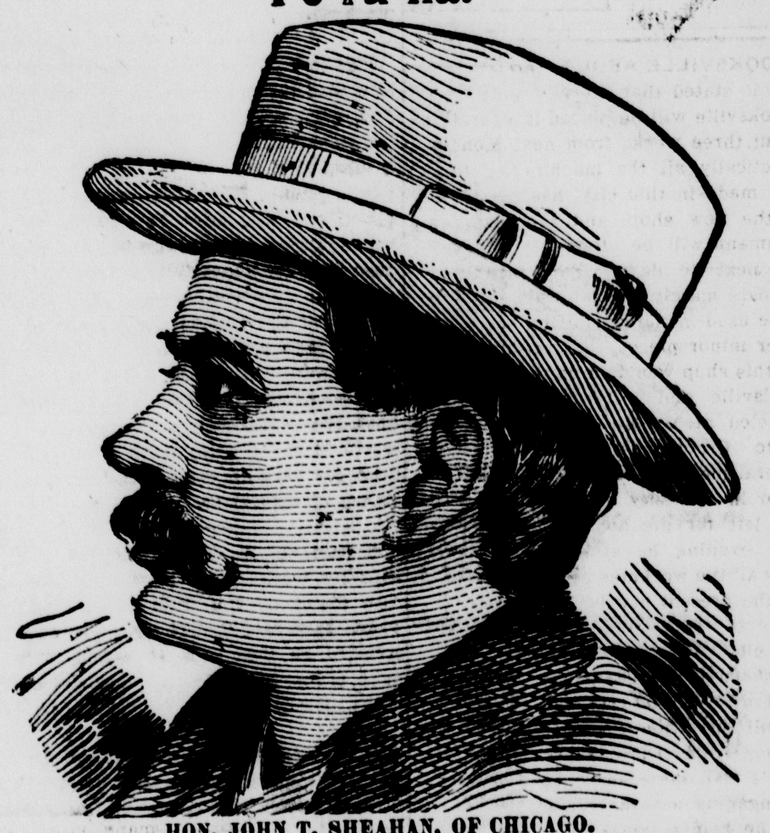
Cured of Catarrh of Kidneys by Pe-ru-na.



HON. JOHN T. SHEAHAN, OF CHICAGO.

Hon. John T. Sheahan, who has been for seventeen years manager of Marshall Field & Co.'s wholesale warehouse, and is corporal 2d Regiment Infantry, I. N. G., writes the following letter from 3753 Indiana avenue, Flat Six, Chicago, Ill.:

Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Gentlemen:—"Last summer I caught a cold which seemed to settle in my kidneys and affected them badly. I tried a couple of kidney remedies largely advertised, but they did not help me any. One of my foremen told me of the great help he had received in using Peruna in a similar case, and I at once procured some.

"It was indeed a blessing to me, as I am on my feet a large part of the day, and trouble such as I had affected me seriously, but four bottles of Peruna cured me entirely and I would not be without it for three months salary."—JOHN T. SHEAHAN.

Catarrhal inflammation of the mucous lining of the kidneys, also called "Bright's disease," may be either acute or chronic. The acute form produces symptoms of such prominence that the serious nature of the disease is at once suspected, but the chronic variety may come on so gradually and insidiously that its presence is not suspected until after it has fastened itself thoroughly upon its victim.

TWELVE PAGES.

The uneasiness of Mother Earth, the recent volcanic eruptions, the earthquakes which have cost thousands of lives and ruinedentire communities, both in the old world and in the new, may be, as some assert, the forerunner of that long predicted cataclysm, the end of the world. But there is nothing to prove it, and the would-be prophets should not be too sanguine that their predictions will come true. Such seismic disturbances have occurred at intervals since the earth began, and many pages of recorded history are filled with accounts of them. Violent as have been recent commotions of the earth, they are scarcely greater than have been experienced before and are likely to be experienced again.

The outcome of the conference between the Democratic and Labor party committees ought to be satisfactory to both, though it is very doubtful if it will be. Those who might support an out-and-out Labor candidate for one office are not likely to be hoodwinked or cajoled into supporting the Democratic ticket. The expectation that they could be so influenced was another Democratic hope that has gone glimmering. The real friends of labor will continue to vote as they have always done, with the Republican party, which has safeguarded their interests, resisted Democratic attacks, and, by a wise policy, built up multitudinous industries which are flourishing as never before.

Workers are wanted. The same story comes from every manufacturing town in the country and from almost every manufacturer. Wages are good, and they are paid promptly. Scarcity of laborers is not confined to the cities for in the country the farmers all through the season have been unable to secure men to take care of the crops, although big money is offered. Unprecedented prosperity is with us. The man who would vote to change existing conditions is surely blind to his own interests and indifferent to the welfare of his fellow men.

The Republican campaign opening at Akron today will be a gathering worthy of the importance of the occasion. Enthusiasm will not be lacking and eloquent oratory will be abundant. The campaign opens auspiciously, and Ohio is sure to give a magnificent Republican majority this fall There are no factional differences in Republican ranks, and no signs of off year apathy. It is an important election, involving national as well as state issues, and the Buckeye state will prove itself loyal to the party of progress.

Prince Victor Duleep Singh has gone into bankruptcy, ascribing his difficulties to the niggardliness of the British government, which allows him only $35,000 a year for being a prince Poor chap. His case shows that Americans who must bow to the dictates of the coal trust are not the only ones who are shamefully treated.

But for the United States, anarchy would have prevailed on the Panama isthmus for more than a year past to such an extent that the railroad would have been constantly interrupted. The world is under obligations to Uncle Sam for keeping open that important artery of commerce.

Senator M. S. Quay is in favor of starting work on at least one dozen new dams on the Ohio river every year. It is said that if work was commenced at that rate it would only take a few years to complete the entire system.

J. Pierpont Morgan controls millions of capital, but he can't control the millions of people who do the voting. His declared opposition to President Roosevelt is simply adding to the strength and popularity of the executive.

George Fred Williams calls the Democratic platform in Massachusetts "dishwater," but says he will vote for it. It is a pretty bitter dose that the average Democrat won't swallow.

W. A. Tarr has decided to withdraw from the Republican county ticket Of course nothing the News Review has said influenced him in reaching that decision.

If Pierpont Morgan expects to put the Democratic party on its feet again he has a task compared to which his former undertakings were as child's play.

A Mexican superstition, very common among miners in that country, relates to the "gold snake." This species of serpent is perfectly harmless and very handsome, being green in color and with a golden iridescence in its scales. Faith is entertained that wherever a gold snake makes its nest there is a ledge containing the precious metal, and there are many miners who will locate a claim at once if they find a gold snake.

True Bristle Brushes.

OUR stock of Brushes is very unusual. There may be larger collections, but there is no better quality or variety anywhere. These are the true bristles, wired in, so that hot water or anything else cannot make them come out. They will wear and wear and wear. We have never known Brushes that gave such perfect satisfaction. They include Hair Brushes, Nail Brushes, Tooth Brushes and Hand Brushes. They are the cheapest, because the most durable and satisfactory.

A PLEASING MUSICALE

Prominent in the social circles of this city will be the series of entertainments given by Mrs. James Rinehart. The first entertainment of the series were card parties at which luncheons were served. At the second party "Black Maria" was played and Mrs. Porter, guest of Mrs. Judd C. King, won the first prize, which was a handsome china plate.

The home of Mrs. Rinehart was again opened to a number of her friends yesterday. The nature of her third entertainment was a musicale. Everything in the spacious reception room was removed, and a number of white covered chairs were so arranged so as to form a central aisle, through which the guests passed.

In one little alcove of the room sat those who entertained Mrs. Rinehart's guests throughout the afternoon with their select and classical music.

Miss Robertson, a member of the Boston Fadettes, played the violin, and Miss Reiter accompanied her with the trombone. Miss Alice Devon sang in a charming manner, "If I Were But a Rose," and also Nevin's Rosary. Miss Fannie Woods, the guest of Mrs. W. R. Clark, is an accomplished pianist, and enlightened the guests with a classical selection which was much appreciated. Miss Mamie Geon's piano solo was received with much enthusiasm, as was also Miss Mame McNicol's piano solo.

Later in the afternoon dainty refreshments were served. About 50 guests were present, and Mrs. Rinehart's friends enjoyed her musicale very much.

AT THE THEATER

It has been remarked by some of the knowing ones that by associating a band and orchestra with "Indiana Folks," which comes to East Liverpool on Wednesday evening, Oct. 1, the management has placed this production on a level with the cheap sensational "Rube" plays. This is far from our intention. Let us go back a few years to the initial tour of Joshua Whitcomb with Mr. Denman Thompson in the title role. This attraction was accompanied by a brass band and orchestra. Charles L. Davis (Alvin Joslin) for years carried one of the best bands and orchestras ever seen on the road. The musical portion of the entertainment given by the Indiana Folks company is strictly first-class in every particular, and we expect to gain both fame and dollars with our matchless band and orchestra.

The acting company has been carefully chosen and will compare favorably with the best engaged in presenting the rural drama.

The only way to enjoy a play is to withness a performance of it. No doubt many poor plays have been written, and even the most noted of playwrights hit tne mark of excellency but at odd intervals. But "The Prisoner of Zenda" has received the stamp of greatness and the awards of success E. H. Southern delighted in it; this play proving one of the biggest successes of this famous romantic actor and its long triumphal run in New York city is still new in dramatic history. At the Grand next Tuesday, September 30.

The Kennard brothers, two diminutive dwarfs, whose resemblance to one another is so perfect that it is difficult to tell which from which, are engaged for those irrepressible cyclones, "Nid and Nod" in Charles H. Yale and Sidney R. Ellis' "The Evil Eye," which opens at the Grand Monday, September 29. It is said that this presentation of "The Evil Eye" will prove in merit, mirth and music the brightest and best edition ever given in its five years of continuous triumph.

"Twin Sisters," presented at the Grand opera house last evening by Austin T. Blair's big stock company, was one of the best productions of the week. It was up-to-date in every particular, and the specialties met with high approval.

Hedgehogs.

Hedgehogs are very strong in the water, swimming with ease against a rapid stream, and with their muscular claws they turn up the nests of trout or salmon and make a goodly haul therefrom. They will breast a very rapid stream, and cold water, as near the freezing point as may be, seems to have no terror for them. The eggs of the salmonidæ are a welcome prey to nearly every animal that will face water. Aquatic birds, rats (both house and water), hedgehogs, beetles and their larvæ, the so called fresh water shrimp, are deadly foes.

to do anything to relieve the situation so long as the executive committee of the Labor party refuses to release him from its ticket. It is positively known to them that the Democrats are determined to fill out their ticket in the event that Duffy refuses the place. The members of this committee are also aware and freely admit that with a Democratic candidate in the field they could not hope to win. In the light of all this they still refuse to release him, and seem determined that the East Liverpool man shall be sacrificed. This arrangement, it is held, could have but one effect, and that to cause the defeat of both Labor and Democratic candidates, and land Hon. James Kennedy, the Republican nominee, a sure winner. The Labor committee explains its action by saying it is the desire of that body to establish a Labor party in the district and that if it cannot win this time there will be good chances for victory in the future. Mr. Duffy's friends in East Liverpool fail to appreciate the wisdom of the move, and do not hesitate to say so. They cannot see why Mr. Duffy should be the one to suffer for a blunder that he is in no way responsible for bringing about.

Upon leaving Alliance yesterday Mr Duffy was informed by the Democratic congressional committee that he would be allowed to deliberate upon the question for a few days, but that on next Wednesday the members would expect to have his answer as to his intentions with reference to accepting the party's nomination. In the event that he at that time elects to remain upon the Labor ticket the Democrats will proceed to fill the vacancy without further delay. When seen by a News Review reporter today, Mr. Duffy said:

"As matters now stand I can see no other possible course open to me but to remain upon the Labor ticket."

MUCH STRENGTH SHOWN.

Principal Movement In St. Paul and L. & N., Yesterday.

New York, Sept. 27.—There was a show of considerable strength in the stock market yesterday. The principal movement was in St. Paul and Louisville and Nashville, and the extreme advance of 5¾ in the latter and 3⅜ in the former had considerable sympathetic effect on the railroad list generally. There was brisk buying of Reading, nominally based on the supposition that the end of the coal strike was near. Manhattan was largely bought by the speculative interests, which have been accumulating the stock for some time.

There was a notable disposition to advance on the part of a number of minor low-priced industrials, especially the railway equipment companies. During the final hour the professional operators, whose buying had advanced prices, took their profits very generally with the result that final prices for a number of leading stocks were from 1 to 2 points lower than the best.

CYCLONE IN SICILY.

Path of Cyclone 124 Miles Long Wind Swept Sea Inward—Great Damage Done.

London, Sept. 27.—A dispatch from Rome yesterday announced that a severe cyclone has swept over Cantania, a city on the east coast of Sicily. Cantania is flooded and many houses, including the Villa Bellini, have been damaged. The railroads have suffered seriously.

Mount Etna shows further signs of activity and the volcano of Stromboli is still active.

Syracuse, Sicily, Sept. 27.—For 24 hours before the cyclone burst over the island a violent storm raged on the eastern coast of Sicily. The path of the cyclone was 124 miles long, and everything in the line of the storm was destroyed. The sea swept inland for several kilometres, doing enormous damage, while there were violent submarine agitations between Sicily and the mainland. Along the railroad from Cantania to Palermo the force of the cyclone was such that rails were torn up and hurled to a great distance.

It is reported from Modica, 32 miles southwest from Syracuse, that a hundred bodies have already been found, but that the number of dead bodies swept away by the torrent is unknown.

The newspaper Fractissa expresses the belief that some 400 people have been killed.

Two torrents, the St. Francis and the Ste Marie, which descend through the town, rose suddenly and brought with them masses of mud and heavy stones and invaded the buildings of Modica. They carried away everything in their course. Many houses were utterly wrecked and others were seriously damaged. Numerous animals perished. The number of victims is still unknown, but 80 corpses have been deposited in a single church. At Soicli 12 persons were killed. Tasearo was destroyed Enormous damage was done at Palazzolo, Acreide, Farla and Geratana.

NEW CASTLE K. C. E.

The New Lodge Instituted With 65 Members — Supper Follows.

A new castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, was instituted last evening in Mechanics' hall. About 65 members were initiated. Owing to the grandmaster from Huntington being delayed business did not begin until a late hour. The following are the officers:

LINEMAN KILLED

Clifford Johnson, aged 24, of Holliday's Cove, a lineman in the employ of the Pittsburg Coal company, was killed at Groveton, Pa., while placing a wire on a telephone pole. The pole broke and Johnson fell.

Friends started with him to Pittsburg, but he died as he was taken from the train in the Pittsburg & Lake Erie depot. His body is at the Pittsburg morgue.

The Freeport Vein of Coal.

Dr. I. C. White, state geologist, who has supervision of the geological survey of West Virginia, will go to New Cumberland and make a thorough examination of the deposits in that vicinity. The geological commission has had a corps of engineers busy all summer, making extensive surveys, and they are now getting out their first reports. After all connections have been made and the latest data has been acquired the final maps will be published. Dr. White thinks the coal mined by the Marquet Coal company is the Freeport vein.

Two Boys in Jail.

A youthful pair, West and Crago, were arrested last evening at New Cumberland by Officer Melvin. The boys are charged with the theft of candy, amounting to $5, stolen from Dunlevy's store. The boys have been guilty of like offenses before, it is said, and the authorities are in favor of sending them to the reformatory at Pruntytown, W. Va., Should the parents not consent, the boys will be held in jail for the grand jury.

WELLSVILLE

ceedings as to the injunction of Fresh water.

Manager L. W. Healy, of the United Power company, was then called upon to make known his proposition regarding the purchase of the city water works and the establishing of the gravity system; also to make his statement regarding the matters in dispute between the United Power company and the city as to its franchise rights, the running of all cars on Clark avenue, moving and relaying of track on Liverpool street and the relaying of the brick pavements on the city streets.

On the water works proposition, Mr. Healy said: "I am interested in several companies in western Pennsylvania where gravity systems are generally in use and it has occured to me that this system is badly needed here. If you would care to entertain a proposition from us we will agree to buy your present water works and will build a modern new plant and establish a gravity system, using Little Yellow Creek for the supply. We have some confidence in the future growth of Wellsville and if an agreement can be reached we are willing to build this water works. I have taken enough interest in the matter to hire an expert to come here and examine Little Yellow Creek. He said that there was plenty of water and good water, too, and that the conditions were all that could be wished to establish a first-class gravity system. In his opinion he said that the city was making a great mistake by not taking advantage of their excellent opportunity here.

"I would suggest that the council take some time to thing over this matter and decide whether it would care to entertain a proposition of this kind or not and if a favorable decision is made we will submit the proposition at the next regular meeting of council."

When asked by President Whitacre, in case the proposition would be entertained by council, what time would the construction of the new plant be commenced, Mr. Healy stated that in all propability the construction work would be started immediately.

Before any disposition of this matter was made Mr. Healy was asked to make his statement to council regarding the other difficulties between the company and the city.

Mr. Healy said: "There seems to be a hard feeling against the street railway company. It is a question in my mind whether this hard feeling would exist if the members of council were familiar with all of the circumstances." Mr Healy explained that the company owned a lot of summer cars which have stationary seats and in order to keep up with the schedule of the road it is often necessary for a motorman to run his car only to the turn table. The summer cars must be turned around to keep from running them backwards, which is very uncomfortable for passengers.

Mr. Healy stated that a petition had been received asking that he not only run all the cars to the end of Eighteenth street, but to run them out Clark avenue as far as possible, according to the terms of the franchise. The Clark avenue paving has been completed as far as Clark's bridge and the street railway line has also been completed there.

Mr. Healy said that he would at once place an extra car on Clark avenue and run it back and forth to make connections with all of the other cars. This is to be a temporary arrangement but it was unsatisfactory to council. Mr. Healy agreed to start the car today.

In the matter of repaving the streets that have been torn up by the street railway company, Mr. Healy said that he would have a paver put on at once using new brick for the purpose.

Regarding the moving of the track on Liverpool street Mr. Healy said that he would do the work as soon as the girder rails arrived from the Lorain Steel company. The rails would probably be here some time next month.

City Solicitor Boyd stated to council that Mr. Healy had probably succeeded in convincing council that he was doing the right thing by them. Mr. Healy had said something about having torn up the streets in East Liverpool. Because Mr. Healy owned East Liverpool was no reason why he should own Wellsville.

Mr. Boyd said: "Council has given the street railway company a 25 year franchise and what is the city getting in return? You can compel the street railway company to furnish good cars and good service according to the terms of the franchise. They are not doing either, but are being allowed to do about as they please."

Mr. Henderson, of the First ward, also made remarks because the street railway company had moved its tracks to the center of Liverpool street.

The water works proposition was disposed of by a motion to convene in special session next Tuesday evening and hold a conference with the water works trustees.

The matter of repaving the torn up streets, which Mr. Healy agreed to do, was also accepted by motion.

For removing the track on Liverpool street to the center of the street Mr. Healy was given 15 days in which to commence the work. If not started by that time City Solicitor Boyd is to proceed with the injunction against the company.

THE FORCE COMPLETE

Appointment of New Officer Will Enable the Census to Be Taken.

The local police force is once again in a complete state, there being six policemen on duty. A few weeks ago Officer George Marshall was suspended from the police force for having been found in a disorderly house on Second street in an intoxicated condition. Since that time there has been a vacancy on the police force which has been filled part of the time by City Building Policeman William Elliott.

On Thursday night William Canady, who has been employed as a teamster at the rolling mill, was appointed by Mayor Fogo to act as a night watchman, taking Marshall's beat. He went on duty last night. Now that the police force is complete, the work of taking a census of the city will at once be taken up and rushed rapidly until it is completed. This work hung fire on account of the crippled force.

CONFIDENCE IS NOT SHAKEN.

Notwithstanding the disarranged money market almost a fuel famine and some damage to crops, industrial and commercial activity continues unabated, and the magnitude of plans for the future indicates that the confidence has not been shaken. Scarcity of funds has thus far caused no hardship except to speculators, and the stringency will remedy itself by contracting loans on stock exchange collateral, together with such aid as may be offered by the treasury, which is partly responsible through absorption of funds. Injury to crops by frost has no more than offset the increased acreage, while high prices fully compensate producers. It is not a time for pessimism, although securities have declined sharply. Railway earnings for September thus far exceed last year's by 6.8 per cent and those of 1900 by 16.5 per cent. Pressure in the iron and steel industry has been somewhat alleviated by larger receipts of coke and liberal imports of pig iron, yet the outlook is by no means devoid of unfavorable features. No fuel famine exists, although the furnaces are consuming receipts of coke as they arrive, and it is impossible to provide for more than immediate needs. Some idle plants have resumed and now operate from day to day with the constant menace of an interrupted movement of fuel, which would suspend operations. At the west this factor is most serious, coke commanding $10 a ton or more, while in exceptional cases $13 has been paid. Owing to the numerous influences now in evidence there is less disposition to place large contracts for distant delivery of pig iron and sales are chiefly of small lots. Foreign iron is freely received and other consignments are under consideration. More steel rail orders have been placed abroad. Needs for structural shapes are increasing, much work being held back by slow shipments, and orders are reported for delivery nearly two years hence.

No concessions are possible in the wool market, which has increased in activity at the east.

Failures for the week numbered 207 in the United States, against 227 last year, and 32 in Canada, against 34 a year ago.

Canton, O., Sept. 27.—Hon. A. L. Vorys, insurance commissioner of Ohio; Hon. J. V. Barry, insurance commissioner of New York, came to Canton yesterday afternoon, being the guests of Senator Hanna in his private car from Cleveland to this city. They came as a committee appointed by the National Association of State Insurance Commissioners, at its recent annual meeting in Columbus, to present to Mrs. McKinley a memorial adopted by the association last year on the death of the president. The commissioners, accompanied by Julius Whiting, of this city, went to the McKinley home and presented the memorial to Mrs. McKinley. It is handsomely engrossed and the plush covering is lettered in silver with the monogram of William McKinley. The presentation was made in the presence of the other distinguished visitors at the McKinley home.

Against Pennsy Relief Department.

Bucyrus, O., Sept. 27.—A decision was rendered here yesterday by the circuit court against the relief department of the Pennsylvania Railroad company. Suit was brought by the prosecuting attorney of this county against the Pennsylvania company to oust it from doing relief work, on the ground that it was exceeding its charter, which did not permit it to do an insurance business. The circuit court sustained the contention of the prosecutor. The case was appealed to the supreme court.

Steubenville, Sept. 27.—The question whether the last grand jury was legal has been brought before the court most forcibly the past two days, first in a petition filed by Attorneys Rogers and Finley in the indictments returned against Murderer Scott and again Thursday in a plea of abatement filed by Attorneys S. B. Taylor and P. A Gavin, in behalf of Peter Slavincky one of the alleged river pirates held for stealing a worthless flat boat in Columbiana county, where the officers refused to prosecute him.

In the second legal papers submitted to the court, Attorneys Taylor and Gavin, among other things, claim that the jury was not legal for the reason that one of its members is not qualified as an elector of the county and therefore had no right to serve or fill the duties of a juryman.

In the papers filed by the attorneys for Murderer Scott, it was also charged that the jury was not legal, although no names were given, and it appears now that an effort will be made to have the work of the jury in a measure undone, on the grounds of illegality.

MINES AT AMSTERDAM

All will be ready at the new mines of the Ohio and Pennsylvania Coal company to begin active operations at their mines at Amsterdam by October 1. The machinery is all upon the ground, and everything has been fitted up ready for mining except the engine. This will be set soon. The workmen are wiring the mines for electricity. The building is about completed, tipple and power house are up Carpenters have about completed the tenth double house. Everything in the line of a habitable tenement is filled and dozens of houses could find ready occupants if they were on the ground.

FUNSTON FAVORS THE CANTEEN.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Brigadier General Frederick Funston, in his annual report for the department of the Colorado, points out that the percentage of trials by court martial of enlisted men has nearly doubled during the past year. He says in part:

"It is, therefore, plain that there has been a deplorable increase of offenses in general and of desertion in particular. In my opinion there are two principal causes for this state of affairs: First, resentment of unaccustomed limitations and restrictions felt by men returning from field service to the monotony and routine work of garrison life; second, the abolition of the canteen feature of the post exchange. Since this action was taken saloons of the lowest type have been established just outside the boundaries of the various reservations. Their proprietors, in almost every case, unprincipled scoundrels, who leave nothing undone to debauch the soldiers and obtain their money. Being in all cases outside the limits of any city, the proprietors of these resorts are subject to no municipal police regulations and sell liquor regardless of hours and whether the buyer is already intoxicated or not. Gambling is universal in these 'dives,' and they are frequented by dissolute women. The soldier whose desire for a drink ordinarily would be satisfied by a few glasses of beer in the canteen of the post exchange goes to one of these resorts and does well if he escapes before he has spent or gambled away all his money, overstayed his leave or engaged in an altercation."

WANTS COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER

Detroit, Sept. 27.—The common council, at an adjourned session yesterday, adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That a committee consisting of the president of the council and six other members be appointed to consider the advisability of extending an invitation to the people of all the cities and towns depending upon the Pennsylvania fields for their coal supplies to appoint representatives to meet in a great convention in this city, at which to consider ways and means to force a resumption of the coal production, either by public opinion or by government intervention, which should be demanded if other measures fail.

A committee was appointed by President Smith and they will meet next Monday night to discuss and consider the proposed convention.

Labor Official Accuses Ex-Foreman of Being In Conspiracy.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 27.—In a statement issued yesterday District President Nicholls accuses Michael Grimes, an ex-mine foreman, of being "at the head of a movement inaugurated by the coal companies to bribe a number of mine workers' locals for $2,500 apiece to vote to return to work." Mr. Nicholls declares at the close of his statement that his "informants stand ready to prove their assertions in court."

Mr. Grimes denies the Nicholls statement and the coal companies also say it is not true.

Colonel Watres and three companies of soldiers scoured the Grassy Island hills yesterday for the murderers of James Winston, who was clubbed to death there Thursday. It is supposed the men are hiding in old mine workings.

ASKS FOR TROOPS.

Gov. Stone Refers Sheriff's Request to Gen. Gobin.

Shenandoah, Pa., Sept. 27.—Sheriff Knorr, of Columbia county, yesterday afternoon asked Governor Stone to send troops to Centralia. The governor referred the matter to General Gobin and the latter advised the sheriff to make a further effort to preserve peace with the resources at hand.

Strikers yesterday held up three trolley cars filled with non-union men and stoned the workmen. Guards from neighboring collieries were called and drove the rioters back. A workmen's train was held up and those on board were warned to quit work under threats of being harshly dealt with.

Centralia is a small community and General Gobin says the men who have been violating the law there are known to the sheriff and his deputies, and instead of applying for troops the latter should arrest the lawbreakers and put them in jail.

Philadelphia, Sept. 27.—In the Lackawanna and Wyoming valleys yesterday universal quiet prevailed and the soldiers were not called upon to suppress the disorder, while at Forest City, Susquehanna county, the extreme northern end of the anthracite coal belt, the presence of the soldiers has had the effect of aweing the rioters.

At Lebanon, where the employes of the American Steel and Wire company had been fighting against the importation of laborers, there is a temporary truce, with the likelihood that all differences will be settled and the men shortly return to work.

BLEW OPEN SAFE, GOT $400.

Robbers Bound Policeman, at South Sharon, Pa.

Youngstown, O., Sept. 27.—At 2 o'clock yesterday morning a gang of burglars blew open the safe of the Beechwood Improvement company, of South Sharon, Pa., and secured $400 in cash. After robbing the safe the men, four or five in number, were first seen by Policeman Newton Stamp, whom they overpowered, bound and gagged. George Haynes, another policeman, was knocked down and tied to a post, and Policeman Sayler kept up a running fight with the men for some distance, but they finally escaped.

The men were heard to remark they would attempt to blow open the safe of the Colonial Trust company's bank and a ladder was found up to a window, but no attempt was made. The men escaped toward West Middlesex and were supposed to be in the vicinity of New Castle.

Change in Mains Has Had a Most Important Effect—Levying Assessments.

Officials of the water works department have about completed the work of levying assessments for the water supply for the several potteries of the city, and this matter will be presented at the next meeting of the water works trustees. Water meters are now being attached to all gas engines about the city by the department.

By converting the former 10-inch rising main to a distributing main, the water works department has increased the pressure of water in some parts of the city from 80 to 120 pounds. By so doing these figures almost reach the original pressure.

George Mayes, bound over to court in the sum of $500, charged with shooting at Frank Crawford with intent to kill, from the evidence produced at the hearing in 'Squire McCarron's court yesterday afternoon, stands an excellent show of acquittal. Not one witness testified that he fired the gun at Crawford. They simply stated that the gun was fired while Mayes' hand was between the arm and body of Crawford.

Many prominent farmers who have known Mayes for years state that they will go before the court and testify that Mayes has always borne an excellent reputation

THE SCORE TIED AT THE WINDUP

TEAMS DID FINE WORK

With the game practically in their hands, the members of the local base ball team were compelled to bow to the whims of several of the Rochester aggregation yesterday afternoon and allow the game to be called when the score was a tie.

Wildest enthusiasm was at a point never before reached during the progress of a game in this locality when the game was called. It certainly did not meet the approval of the fans. To them it seemed that a harder blow could not have been landed. All were confident that within ten minutes the locals would walk from the field with the first victory of the series to their credit. And when their anticipations were so cruelly blocked they showed signs of bitterness against every one that had a say in the matter. They were not, however, aware of the cause and to that can be credited their display of temper.

Manager Walsh, when seen last evening by a News Review reporter, explained the matter most satisfactorily. He stated that the game was called because Mathay and Simpson, outfielders for the visitors, were compelled to be home when the evening train arrived there. They are glass workers and are on night turn this week. They said they would have to leave, even if the game were forfeited. Manager Walsh could see that there was no alternative and gave his permission.

To say that the game was one of the best, taken every way, only half expresses the fact. It was not only deeply interesting from start to finish, but the playing of both teams was superb. And what a crowd there was present to see the unparalleled exhibition! In the grand stand there were fully 500 people, and lined up around the stand were almost twice the number. If the number who saw the game from the box cars and hillsides were included, the total would not fall under 2,000. When the locals made their great spurt in the eighth inning it seemed that a great many more were present.

More money was bet on the game than on all o. the rest of the season together. One man is said to have wagered $150 at odds of 2 to 1 on the locals. The man in question made himself very much conspicuous when the game was called. He said that he hated to see money drop from his hands when he was at the point of placing it in his pocket. The same gang of sports say that they are going to witness the game at Rochester today and that they intend to bet in the same proportion.

The diamond could have been in a better condition. Many were reminded of that day that the All-Cubans exhibited. But it was much better than any expected. Second and third bases were surrounded with sawdust, and where there would have otherwise been puddles of water the ground was in fair shape.

The locals looked like easy marks when the first half inning was finished. Grove, the first man up, got a two-bagger. Wigley flied out. Lindsay was permitted to walk on a fielder's choice. He reached second and scored along with Grove when Miles landed a pretty hit.

Godwin started the ball for the locals by beating vacancy. Reark fell against one for two bases. Rising hit a long one to left field. Reark scored while Reilly was going out to first. In the second things did not look so bad. Two more runs were scored by the locals. Davis singled. Heckathorn did dikewise. Webb wasn't to be beaten and he kept in the wagon by placing a similar one. Davis scored on the hit and Heckathorn advanced to third finally scoring on a fumble.

There was nothing doing then with the locals until the eighth was reached. In the fourth the visitors added one more, tying the score, and they certainly did do something in the fifth. Four hits and three runs was all. Shotwell was hit. Grove singled. Wigley singled. The bases were full and the fans were on the anxious seat. Lindsay hit to Maley and Shotwell was out at home. Miles hit to Godwin and Grove was out at the treasured plate. Maley was doing his best and all were confident that he would pull out of the hole, but the next man hit a little one just too far for Godwin's reach. Wigley bravely took advantage and scored. East then singled and scored two more.

After that during the remainder of the game they were powerless to accomplish any runs, but made their presence well known. They came awfully near making the result a cinch in the seventh. Two hits were bunched, but that was all.

Godwin started the eighth, the one that will go down in local history with a single. Reark sacrificed admirably. Rising got in the game and smashed out a single, scoring Godwin. Reilly donned his fighting clothes and lammed one out for two bases. Rising scored on the strength of it. Needham followed his two-bagger made in the sixth with a single and Reilly reached third. Davis was out. But not so with that old standby, "Grandpa." He bombarded one and Reilly tied the score by crossing the plate. Webb fanned and it was done. Two hits were made in the ninth, one by Godwin and one by Rising, but they amounted to naught.

The game was devoid of sensational playing, but every man on both sides did his best and put up a great article of the Americans' paramount sport.

VISITED MRS. M'KINLEY.

Root and Hanna Called, as Did Gen. and Mrs. Hastings.

Canton, O., Sept. 27.—Secretary of War Root and Senator and Mrs. M. A. Hanna reached the city yesterday afternoon from Cleveland to visit Mrs. McKinley.

They were driven direct to the McKinley home in the family carriage, where luncheon was delayed until they arrived. General and Mrs. A. R. Hastings, old friends of the family, arrived over another road about the same time and were members of the luncheon party. Later in the afternoon all visited the tomb of the late president. The party returned to Cleveland last night.

END FRIAR PROBLEM.

Doors May Be Opened For Clergy of All Orders and Denominations.

Rome, Sept. 27.—The publication of a pontifical bull on the apostolic constitution of the Philippines is imminent. It will indicate the general object and aims of Archbishop Guidi's mission to Manila. The apostolic delegate will have to reorganize the whole ecclesiastical hierarchy of the archipelago, will create three new dioceses and will propose prelates for the archbishopric of Manila and the remaining bishoprics, after which he will convoke a synod to establish rules for governing ecclesiastical affairs, in harmony with the customs of the islands, as is done in South America.

In his letter to Governor Taft he said he was glad he had been chosen to co-operate with him in the pacification of the islands and hoped to be able to count on his assistance.

One of the first projects of the archbishop is the establishment at Manila of two seminaries to educate the native clergy which are destined ultimately to replace the foreigners. These seminaries will be entrusted to a religious order which has not hitherto been represented in the archipelago.

A portion of the students of the seminaries will be sent to Rome to complete their education, either at the North American or South American colleges, or in a special Filipino college, if it is found practicable to establish the latter.

The question regarding the friars, which was the subject of negotiations between the vatican and Governor Taft, might, it is suggested, be solved without recourse to the recall of the friars, by "opening the doors in the Philippines to all the clergy of all religious orders, without distinction or nationality, thus quickly overshadowing the few hundreds of Spanish friars remaining there."

The reorganization of the church in the Philippines on a new basis will be carried out with funds from the sale of the agricultural lands belonging to the friars and from the indemnity which the United States will pay for war damages. The idea of having recourse to arbitrators in order to determine the amounts of these funds has been dropped, and it is suggested that the clergy submit estimates, which, unless immediately acceptable to the Philippine and American governments, shall form a basis for negotiations between Governor Taft and Archbishop Guidi.

It is proposed that the friars shall sell their shares of the lands possessed by the corporations and that the payment be in Mexican dollars, the first instalment to be paid when the title deeds to the Philippine ecclesiastical buildings are transferred.

It is also proposed that disputes regarding charitable or educational trusts be amicably settled by Archbishop Guidi and Governor Taft.

Washington, Sept. 27.—An instance of bravery and devotion to duty on the part of an army nurse has been reported to the war department by Major General Chaffee, commanding the division of the Philippines, in the following words:

"Nurse Alice Kemmer, army nurse corps, having been granted leave of absence, voluntarily relinquished the same and took upon herself the care of two smallpox patients in an isolation hospital. One of the patients was the wife of an officer, the other an enlisted man. Miss Kemmer had never had the disease, nevertheless she fearlessly entered upon her self-imposed task, and through the months of April and May, 1902, devoted herself to the care of the patients, living in the room with the officer's wife, the enlisted man being in an adjoining room. With never more than two hours' sleep at a time, in intensely hot weather, the nurse attended her patients day and night and saved their lives."

General Chaffee then commends her bravery and conscientious performance of duty.

Ex-Justice of the Peace, Who Said He Performed Marriage Ceremony, Also In Prison—Conspiracy Charged by P. J. McNulty, of Pittsburg.

Long Branch, N. J., Sept. 27.—The fight of Laura Bigger, the former actress, for the millions of Henry M. Bennett came to a sudden and dramatic ending yesterday before Justice Wilbur A. Heisley here. The claimant, through counsel, abandoned the suit and announced she would be satisfied with the 60 per cent of the estate given her by the will. Hardly had this been done than counsel for the heirs opposing the Biggar claim showed they had been more than prepared for this step, and warrants charging conspiracy were served on Samuel Stanton, the former justice of the peace of Hudson county, who testified that he had performed the marriage ceremony between Miss Biggar and the Pittsburg millionaire, and Dr. C. C. Hendrick, at whose sanitarium in Bayonne it was alleged that Miss Biggar's child was born.

Officers Hunting Miss Biggar.

A search is now in progress for Miss Biggar herself that she may also be presented to the grand jury to answer a similar charge. Stanton and Dr. Hendrick are now in the jail at Freehold.

During the course of the proceedings Samuel A. Patterson, one of the counsel for the heirs, announced that warrants had been sworn out for the arrest of Miss Biggar, Dr. Hendrick and Mr. Stanton on complaints sworn to by Peter J. McNulty, of Pittsburg, one of the principal legatees and an executor of the will. Hendrick and Stanton were at once arrested and held in $5,000 bail and Judge Heisley ordered the preliminary hearing to begin at once. Miss Biggar was not in court.

Mr. McNulty testified to a conversation he had with Miss Biggar in Pittsburg, when Mr. Bennett was ill. This was three years subsequent to the date of the alleged marriage, and Miss Biggar had been worried because Mr. Bennett was dying and had made no will, and said if he died no provision would be made for her. She made no claim then of being married to Mr. Bennett. Subsequent to the death of Mr. Bennett the witness and A. V. D. Watterson, of Pittsburg, with counsel for the heirs, visited Dr. Hendrick, who claimed to be Miss Biggar's lawyer, told them that Miss Biggar was entitled to the entire estate and would get it, or he would set up the claim she was Bennett's common law wife.

John F. Hawkins, of Asbury Park, who drew the will and is one of the executors, testified that when the will was drawn Bennett told him Miss Biggar was not his wife. He intended to provide for her fully, however. After Mr. Bennett's death witness had a talk with Miss Biggar and she said if she was not properly provided for in the will she would set up the claim of being a common law wife of Mr. Bennett.

Secretary Tooker, of the Hoboken board of health, testified that on Friday last Stanton told him he had married Mr. Bennett and Miss Biggar about two years before, but had forgotten to file the certificate. Stanton, so Tooker said, wanted him to testify that he, Stanton, called on him a week earlier and told him that the Weber woman named as a witness to the marriage was dead. This Tooker refused to do. The next morning, Tooker continued, Stanton called on him, accompanied by Mr. Young, of counsel for the heirs, who, as it subsequently appeared, was arranging to entrap Stanton. Stanton, Tooker testified, asked him for a blank marriage certificate, which Tooker gave him and which he presently returned, filled out, with the request that Tooker testify that he found it in his desk. He also asked Tooker to make an entry of it in his books. Tooker said that he turned over the certificate to Mr. Young, and that, on learning of this, Stanton declared that he had been entrapped and begged Tooker to swear that he was drunk when he gave him the paper. The blank identified last week as the original certificate and which appeared to have been altered was identified by Tooker as the one filled out by Stanton.

Murderer Had Committed Suicide.

Bridgeton, N. J., Sept. 27.—The body of Samuel Greenage, who Thursday murdered Constable Harry Bucks, was found in Seeley's mill pond, in Greenwich township, yesterday. He had committed suicide. The sheriff and his posse had hunted for Greenage all night in the marshes.

Order For Philippines Census.

Washington, Sept. 27.—President Roosevelt has signed the order providing for the taking of a census of the Philippines in accordance with the terms of the Philippines act, passed at the last session of congress, and upon the certificate of the Philippine commission that the insurrection has been suppressed.

A Queer Transaction.

Sir Arthur Sullivan discovered at Monte Carlo one time that certain restaurant proprietors had a way of regulating their charges with the appearance and standing of their customers. When lunching alone, Sir Arthur was in the habit of frequenting one particular place where he knew to a centime what the prices were.

One day there sat at the table adjoining his own a wealthy Russian nobleman. Upon asking for his bill the composer found that the prices were exorbitantly high. He sent for the proprietor and demanded an explanation.

The man, an Italian, recognized Sir Arthur as an influential client and was profuse in his apologies. He explained that the mistake lay with the cashier. Going over the items to which exception was taken, the proprietor said: "The convert I take him off directly, and the butter I charge him to the grand duke. He not notice it."

The idea of charging to the grand duke an item against whose extortionate price another customer protested always struck the great composer as a decidedly humorous way of getting out of the difficulty.

A Royal Road to Wealth.

When a certain late shah of Persia became temporarily embarrassed for money, he had quite a unique method of filling his purse. He would go to the market, where, after examining the shops, he would select one and, turning to the proprietor, would say, "Will you take me in as a partner in your business for the day?" The offer was, of course, eagerly accepted. The shah would take his seat near the shop entrance and say to his courtiers, whom he always took with him on these occasions: "Now, I'm salesman. Who'll buy?" The latter, not daring to refuse the offers of the royal merchant, set about clearing the shop of its contents, paying sometimes £50 for goods that were not worth £10. No one was allowed to beat down prices or to leave the place without making purchases. When everything was sold, the shah had a list of the cost price of each article made out and loyally shared with the shopkeeper the amount of the profit realized.

Her Sentiments.

It is related of a clergyman who was the father of a charming and beautiful daughter that one day while preparing his Sunday sermon he was suddenly called away from his desk on a mission of mercy. The sentence at which he left off was this: "I never see a young man of splendid physique and the promise of a glorious manhood almost realized but my heart is filled with rapture and delight."

His daughter, happening to enter the study, saw the sermon and read the words. Sitting down, she wrote underneath, "My sentiments, papa, exactly!"

A VANDERBILT'S WOOING.

Cupid Again Proved Stronger Than Parental Objection.

The engagement of Miss Cathleen Neilson and Reginald Vanderbilt, recently announced, marks the happy culmination of a pretty love story in which Cupid had to contend with parental disapproval, it is said, but in which the merry little god came out, as he usually does, victorious.

For more than a year young Vanderbilt has been worshiping at the shrine of the fair Cathleen, and their engagement was frequently rumored and as often denied. In fact, there has been some opposition, not on the part of Mrs. Vanderbilt alone, nor again on that of Mrs. Neilson, but a concerted action by both mothers, for the simple reason that they thought their children too young to wed.

The story that Mrs. Vanderbilt objected to Miss Neilson on account of her religion—she is a Roman Catholic—has been denied by both families. Youth, and that alone, was the only bar. Mrs. Vanderbilt has been opposed to her son marrying so early in life. But when she found that she could not successfully oppose the young people she gave a most gracious consent.

Probably they will be married in the late fall or early winter, with much pomp and circumstance, for it seems an unwritten family law exacts that no Vanderbilt shall enter quietly into matrimony.

Reginald C. Vanderbilt is just twenty-one years old and is the youngest son of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt. In appearance he resembles the Gwynnes, his mother's family, more than the Vanderbilts. He is rather short and stout, with a round face, and lacks the prominent nose which is a family characteristic on the side of his father.

Miss Cathleen Neilson is of the famous Gebhard family. Only moderately tall, she is slim, piquant, with charming dimples and a superb complexion. Her hair is golden brown, almost blond. She has a sweet disposition, an exquisite voice and is a girl of a great deal of character and decision.

Miss Neilson is an heiress as well as a beauty and will bring into the Vanderbilt family the prestige of Knickerbocker ancestry.

DECORATED BY THE CZAR.

Miss Clara Barton, president of the American Red Cross society, who recently returned from St. Petersburg, where she had been in attendance on the seventh conference of the International Red Cross association, was personally decorated by the czar while in his dominions.

The decoration conferred on Miss Barton by the czar is the highest order with which he can honor any one not

When Miss Barton was presented to the czar, she bent to kiss the monarch's hand, as is the custom, but the great white czar drew back and said, "No, not you, Miss Barton," and shook her hand instead. Her whole tour through Russia was a triumphal journey for this world popular woman.

that he has surely discovered the elixir of life. That he is able with the aid of a mysterious compound, known only to himself, produced as a result of the years he has spent in searching for this precious life-giving boon, to cure any and every disease that is known to the human body. There is no doubt of the doctor's earnestness in making his claim and the remarkable cures that he is daily effecting seems to bear him out very strongly. His theory which he advances is one of reason and based on sound experience in a medical practice of many years. It costs nothing to try his remarkable "Elixir of Life," as he calls it, for he sends it free, to anyone who is a sufferer, in sufficient quantities to convince of its ability to cure, so there is absolutely no risk to run. Some of the cures cited are very remarkable, and but for reliable witnesses would hardly be credited. The lame have thrown away crutches and walked about after two or three trials of the remedy. The sick, given up by home doctors, have been restored to their families and friends in perfect health. Rheumatism, neuralgia, stomach, heart, liver, kidney, blood and skin diseases and bladder troubles disappear as by magic. Headaches, backaches, nervousness, fevers, consumption, coughs, colds, asthma, catarrh, bronchitis and all affections of the throat, lungs or any vital organs are easily overcome in a space of time that is simply marvelous.

Partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, dropsy, gout, scrofula and piles are quickly and permanently removed. It purifies the entire system, blood and tissue, restores normal nerve power, circulation and a state of perfect health is produced at once. To the doctor all systems are alike and equally affected by this great "Elixir of Life." Send for the remedy today. It is free to every sufferer. # Vigil In a Den Of Lions

Lieutenant Colonel Andrew Haggard of the English army recently related a thrilling story of a lion hunt in which he took part in Abyssinia. Colonel Haggard at the time was governor of Massaua and had been zealously pursuing a band of Abyssinian robbers, led by a noted chief.

After the capture of the chief they became firm friends, and a lion hunt was organized. It was not until he had established perfectly friendly relations with the Abyssinian robber that Colonel Haggard obtained, as he says for the first time, an opportunity of seeing a lion just as well as the lion could see him; in fact, of being close enough to him to recognize his features perfectly. Following is the colonel's account of his experience:

the headdress of each of the brigand followers was composed of a strip of lion's mane tied round the head and looking like a halo. As these wreaths of lion mane waved about in the wind it can well be imagined what fierceness they lent to the already fierce faces beneath. Many of the men were assembled by their chief in council together to consider how they could best insure my obtaining a good chance of a shot at a lion. For, although there were several of the huge cats continually prowling about in the nighttime, by day they either retired to their dens or remained concealed in the thickest and almost impenetrable parts of the thorny jungle. Here, even if seen, the chances of a successful shot were problematical in the extreme. Several schemes were proposed and all rejected in turn by the chieftain until a fine young robber named Burro spoke.

He said that if the "bey" (meaning myself) wanted a shot there was only one way after the recent rains, which had made the bush greener than ever, in which he could be sure of seeing a lion, and that was the method which his own father had adopted once with success. It was risky work certainly, but he believed that if the bey would follow his advice he would see not one lion, but two lions. "Nay, more," he added, with a laugh; "he will probably see five or six lions, although three or four of them will be so small that they will hardly count."

Upon being asked to explain himself he said:

"There is a lion's den up among the rocks at the head of the little ravine which comes down from the range of mountains on the south side of the big ravine called the Khor el Mashalit. I have recently seen tracks of a very large lion and lioness coming up and down this little khor, and I believe they have young cubs in the den, which is entered by a hole some eight or nine feet above the bed of the khor. The lions spring up and down to get in and out. Now, the bey must go and climb up just about the first streak of dawn and get into the lions' den and wait there with the cubs. They are not likely to be big enough to hurt him. If the lioness is not inside when he goes to get in, and she probably will not be, he can do that in safety. Then he can shoot her as she comes in, which will be very shortly after daylight. The old lion will not probably go back with her, but lie out somewhere in the country near the big khor; especially if he has killed meat in the night he will remain near it and rest. Now, we can all make a line, and, starting several miles away, we can by firing off guns gradually drive the whole jungle up to the little khor. The old lion is certain to go home then to the den, if only to look after the lioness and the cubs, and perhaps some other lions may go that way also, but I think they will be too much afraid of the old lion just now to actually enter the den. However, I have spoken—that is my plan. What does the bey think of it? I am willing to accompany him myself," young Robber Burro continued after a pause, "and will carry a second rifle and wait inside the den if we succeed in getting into it in safety."

It was a most alarming scheme certainly and one which required a momentary pause before being acceded to.

But as the robber chieftain applauded it as good and said that he was perfectly willing that his men should drive the jungle for me I was not going to show the white feather by declining. Moreover, I thought that what a young savage like Burro was not afraid to venture I most certainly was not going to shrink from myself.

All arrangements were made accordingly for the following night, but dearly did I wish that instead of being armed with a Remington rifle belonging to one of my men I had got a reliable Express, of which the strikers were not broken. However, I was careful to see that the rifle that I took and also that which Burro took were in good working order. We would not leave anything to chance in that matter. Anything more weird and eerie than the last part of our journey in the dark up the khor to the lions' den it would be impossible to imagine. And when arrived at the den the tension while we waited a few seconds below it with rifles ready after making a sound or two to attract the lioness if she were within was perhaps the greatest I have ever known.

But she was not in, and we scrambled up the rock and down the other side into the most horrible smelling place that I ever entered. Imagine the lion house at the zoological gardens if it had never been cleaned out! To make matters more weird and eerie we could see the green eyes of several small lion cubs which were rushing about in the darkness and spitting and snarling like cats. Burro tried chopping at them with his sword, but the cave or den was full of bones, and he could not get at them in the dark in consequence, so we determined to wait until daylight. Besides we did not dare to leave the hole which we had come in at. We had, although it was a big hole, great difficulty in both standing on a ledge inside it so as to look out over the big rock, but we were able to do so at length and to stand or, rather, lie together over the stone.

We had not been ten minutes thus when dawn broke, and five minutes later Burro gripped my arm. He was not a second too soon, for, although I had never seen her approach, there within twelve feet of us was the lioness. She was standing with a little deer, called a dik-dik, in her mouth and looking up at me, ready to spring up as usual, but too astonished to do so. My Remington rang out, and the bullet went in fair between her eyes. She died with hardly a growl or a struggle.

When an hour later we heard shots in the distance, we were determined not to be so nearly caught napping a second time. But we need not have been afraid, for after awhile a terrible roaring was heard, and a huge lion came swinging along up the sandy bed of the ravine, turning back and stopping every few minutes to roar. But all of a sudden he saw us, and then quick as lightning he charged and sprang. Even as he leaped at the hole in the den we both fired together, the rifles actually touching his skin as he lit upon the rock, one of his huge paws taking hold of the sleeve of my coat and the leather strap of my water bottle at the same time.

And as the huge creature fell back in its death agony upon its mate he would certainly have dragged me with him had not fortunately the strap of the bottle broken. Thus my life was saved, and a few seconds later the magnificent lion was dead.

Pulled Men From the Surf.

In January, 1892, a vessel was blown ashore at night on the coast of Washington state in a lonely region where there were no life saving stations. It was a terrific storm, and all night long Mrs. Martha White, the wife of a local settler, patrolled the beach with a lantern. She thought she heard guns at intervals, and when day broke she saw the wreck. Taking off her petticoat, she waved it as a signal, but the situation of the vessel was evidently hopeless.

Nearly all of those on board were lost, but three men she succeeded, though herself a very little woman, in pulling out of the surf, afterward restoring them to life. For this service she received a gold medal from the United States government.

A Scholarly Milkmaid.

He overtook her on the roadside while wandering for his health in the Berkshires.

"At last," he said, "I have found a typical milkmaid of old New England. See her big sunbonnet, her dress up to her shoe tops, her plain but neat calico and the very pail itself. It is a morning for adventure, and I will speak to her."

He quickened his walk and was soon near her.

"Fine morning this morning," he said. "I would like to help you carry the pail."

There was no reply, but he felt the roguish smile that he knew was hid under the sunbonnet. So he kept on doing all the talking until they reached the lane into which she was about to turn.

"Can I go with you?" he asked.

She turned and faced him.

"No, sir; you may not, nor do I desire your attentions. It is bad enough to have a grown man splitting his infinitives, but when he shows his ignorance of the proper use of should and would and then caps the climax by using can for may I think it is only my duty to tell him that the summer school is in session about ten miles from here."—New York Times.

Witty Members of Parliament.

Charles James Fox once made remarks on government gunpowder in the house of commons which Adams, another member, thought offensive to the ministry, and the two met, as even wise men did in those days, to shoot one another. Fox refused to fire, declaring he had no quarrel, but Adams aimed and shot, slightly wounding his adversary. When it was over, the two shook hands, and Fox was happy enough to say, "You'd have killed me, Adams, if it had not been government powder!"

Other men there have been who would not sit through a speech for the government's sake, much less fight a duel. "What's going?" somebody asked a member of parliament when a minister had got up to speak. The M. P., hurrying on, said, "I am." The story recalls one of Lord Erskine, who was stopped in the lobby with the question, "Who's up?" "Windham," said Erskine, and the other asked, "What's he on?" "His legs," replied the witty lawyer.

Crusoe Kept Good Friday.

There was once a woman in Albany, prudent and cautious about the literature read by her children, who appealed to Bishop Doane for advice and instruction in the matter. They considered and discussed many juvenile books, the bishop either approving or condemning them as they came up for judgment, until finally "Robinson Crusoe" was named.

"Do you think it suitable for my Tommy?" asked the woman.

"Oh, yes," replied the bishop. "It is quite a harmless narrative and has pleased boys for ages. Besides, you know, there is some reason to believe Robinson Crusoe was an Episcopalian." And the bishop's eyes twinkled.

How It Happened.

"It was kinder funny—that is, overlookin' the seriousness of it," said the landlord of the Pettyville tavern. "You see, Miss Babtiella Lanks, who has—not meanin' any disrespect to her, you understand—been an old maid so long that it's generally believed to be chronic, approached the railroad crossin', and a brakeman waved a red flag at her to warn her of the danger. She thought he was tryin' to flirt with her and advanced toward him with a smile, and a caboose that was backin' up struck her good and plenty. Luckily no bones were broken, and the first thing she said when she recovered consciousness was 'Oh, this is so sudden!'"—Smart Set.

Brain Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You may prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get the reliable remedy at Charles F. Craig's.

Mine La Motte Lead & Smelting Company owns 37,614 acres of ground located in Madison and St. Francois Counties, Southeastern Missouri. Of that total 13,544 ACRES ARE KNOWN TO BE HEAVILY MINERALIZED. Only 20 acres have been developed by underground workings, and about 67 acres have received attention on the surface.

The mines are producing today, under very limited operation, more than $150,000 a year. The present management is now installing machinery and improvements that will swell this annual output to AT LEAST $500,000. Present shafts and drifts place in sight ore enough to tax all available machinery for centuries. Eliminating from the calculation all revenue from agricultural, timbering and miscellaneous sources, the property will earn a sum ample to pay immense dividends annually on the capitalization.

Investment in such a proposition as this does not in any sense border upon speculation. Stock in this corporation is as carefully protected as a Government bond. Since it is offered to you at a figure considerably below par, you can be assured of several times the ordinary rate of income.

Mine La Mott has been for more than a century one of the most famous lead producers in the country. It is the only mine today producing and shipping Nickel and Cobalt regularly. Its "Anchor Brand" of Pig Lead has been the standard of the market for years.

The estate, mine and plant have been under private ownership and control until now. From this time forward the output of the property will be increased as rapidly as modern machinery and methods can be installed to do it. Present earnings assure annual dividends of at least 8 per cent on par, and inside of six months this will be doubled.

A small block of stock is herewith offered for sale at $7.50 per share (par value $10). The amount put out at this figure will be limited. Immediate investors can make good profit, both on income and on rise in value of stock.

A large number of representative Ohio investors have already made careful inspection of property and plant. We will place you in touch with them, or if you or any of your friends will undertake to defray all expense incident to same. We shall ask youto do no business with us unless you may be absolutely satisfied as to thesafety, integrity and profit of this investment.

Get down to the facts of the matter. Don't take a stranger's word. It is easier to prove the truthfulness of statements made by citizens of East Liverpool than endorsement coming from some far away place. Read the following:

Mr. S. C. Hill, of Esther, Pa., carpenter, says: "For a year I suffered from pain across my back, difficulty with the kidney secretions and was naturally anxious to procure some treatment which would check it if not radically cure the trouble. Advised by a friend I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W., pharmacy, and I want East Liverpool people to thoroughly grasp this fact before I used the entire contents of the box I was cured. To prove that my convictions were laid on solid foundation I have since purchased Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured him. Now when a preparation which cured me in the condition I was in and also my neighbor, a preparation which is held in such estimation in and around East Liverpool that an acquaintance of mine advised me through a newspaper statement to obtain it, when that preparation performs exactly what it promises what can be expected of any resident of East Liverpool suffering from kidney complaint who will not take advantage of his neighbors' experience and profit by his opinions."

III.—Butterflies and Moths.

No one who has ever watched the development of a great, disgusting green worm into one of the most beautiful of God's creatures can fail to be ever after interested in such subjects as the one at the head of this article unless his taste has been so blunted that he can see no more beauty of coloring in the rainbow than in a penny valentine.

The beauty of these little, scaly winged creatures does not end with what we see with the unaided eye, but the microscope shows us that what appears like dust on the wings of butterflies and moths is really composed of minute scales of so delicate symmetry as to make one wonder anew at the perfection of nature's handiwork. And this is not all, for these little, feathery scales seen through the microscope are sufficient to identify the species of the insect from which they were taken. These scales are what give color to the wings. They are fastened to them by short stems and adhere to the fingers when we seize one of the insects by the wings. The author was once examining some water from a stagnant pool when suddenly there came into sight one of these scales, which he immediately recognized as coming from the wing of a hawk moth. He called to a lad who had been a zealous assistant and who had only a few days before clapped his hands in excitement on viewing for the first time the scales of this insect and of two other species which he had captured and brought in to show his prowess. The lad, not knowing what he should see, looked through the instrument for a moment, then glanced up at the author and exclaimed: "Oh! Did that pretty hawk moth bathe in that filthy water?"

As these scaly winged insects all pass through about the same changes in their development from the egg to the perfect insect, a description of the metamorphosis of one species will be sufficient for the purpose of this short article. We will take for our illustration the hawk moth, sometimes called the humming bird moth from its resemblance to that fairylike little creature when it is probing a flower for honey. It is also sometimes called the five spotted sphinx.

Some fine day after the cold spring weather has passed the mother moth searches out a potato or a tomato plant, for the leaves of one of these plants furnished her with food when she was only a baby worm, and she instinctively places her eggs on one of them that her children may find plenty of nourishing food ready for them when a few days later they shall emerge from the tiny eggs. Should the weather be warm and pleasant the leaf will be swarming with a hundred or more little wriggling, wormlike larvæ within a week or ten days, all of them eating, eating, eating, as though that were their only mission in life. In fact, this seems to be their only mission for the following three or four weeks, as they eat about twice their own weight daily, and in a few weeks they become great green potato worms from three to four inches long, each weighing about 20,000 times as much as when it left the egg. It does stop eating, however, every few days when it has grown so large that its skin will not hold more. At such times it rests for awhile. Its skin turns to a grayish color, and it seems to be getting prematurely old. Then it bows its back, swells out each ring in the middle part of its body and bursts the skin open along the back. Now, with a little struggle, it draws out its head and a moment later its tail from the old skin and emerges in a bright new suit. The author once saw a caterpillar go through the whole of this molting process in a little less than two minutes. Caterpillars shed their skins in this way four or five times before they have attained their full size. They are now three or four inches long, and as they are full of rich juices they are often chosen by the ichneumon flies as a fit place in which to deposit their eggs so that when they hatch the young grubs will be surrounded by an abundance of food.

When the caterpillar of the hawk moth has shed its skin for the last time and again gorged itself with food toward the close of summer, it crawls down from the plant on which it has been feeding and buries itself in the ground, where the skin thickens and hardens and changes to a brownish color, and a long tube grows and bends over so as to resemble the handle of a pitcher. In this pupa state the caterpillar remains until spring, when it bursts from its wrappings and comes out of the ground a beautiful moth, ready to repeat the strange life of its ancestors. The jug handle of the pupa contains the future moth's tubular tongue, which it keeps coiled up like the hairspring of a watch except when it uses it to probe for honey in the deep corolla of some flower while still on the wing, like a humming bird. This tongue, or proboscis, is often five or six inches long.

Wonderful are the changes wrought in the caterpillar while it lies buried from our sight in Mother Earth. The mouth, with strong jaws, working horizontally for the mastication of vegetable food, must be changed to a suctorial mouth, fitted to suck up the nectar of the flowers, and the remainder of the digestive apparatus must be changed to digest the new kind of food. Ten of the sixteen legs of the caterpillar must be absorbed, leaving only the six true legs of the perfect insect. To the system of air tubes opening through little mouths along each side of the body to supply the necessary air for the caterpillar must be added four or five sacklike lungs in different parts of the body.

The wings must be formed and strong muscles developed to move them in flight. The whole nervous system must be remodeled to suit the needs of the mature animal which is much higher in the scale of life than is the caterpillar, and two large compound eyes, with hundreds of facets and lenses, must be formed, for the caterpillar has only six simple eyes, or ocelli.

All of the caterpillars are the larvæ of either butterflies or moths, and all are wormlike in form, so much so that most of them are often mistaken for worms. Nearly all of them have two or more pairs of jaws, which work horizontally instead of vertically, like those of higher animals, and some of them have a gizzard with teeth for still further grinding food. Nearly all are vegetable feeders, and some of them do much damage to growing crops. The common cankerworm, for example, destroys many of our currant blossoms and the foliage buds of many of our cultivated trees. You often see it hanging by a silken thread of its own spinning from the apple, plum, cherry or other fruit trees. It is one of the many measuring worms which children take delight in watching.

The cutworm is the caterpillar of a pretty little owlet moth and does much damage to our gardens by cutting down the tender cucumber, squash and tomato plants, and it sometimes destroys whole fields of beans, cabbages, potatoes and other vegetables. The army worm, cotton worm and apple worm are also very destructive, and these are all caterpillars.

The clothes moth deposits its eggs in fur, wood, feathers, etc., and the little caterpillar appears in from five to ten days and begins to feed, constructing a portable cylindrical case of the wool or fur upon which it is feeding. It leaves this tube open and lines it with silk spun from its own body. As it increases in size it enlarges its portable house by splitting the tube and inserting a gore first at one end and then at the other. It is very destructive to clothing, furs, etc., for it thrusts its head out of one end of the tube and eats as ravenously as its vegetarian relatives.

While most of the insects of this order are destructive to a greater or less extent of that which is useful to men, one of them, the silkworm, produces the material for a fabric which adds millions of dollars annually to the wealth of the world. The Bombyx mori, the species which furnishes the larger part of the silk of commerce, is a native of China and is now essentially a domestic animal. For centuries the Chinese government jealously guarded this insect lest foreigners should purloin their secret, obtain some of the silkworms and be thereby enabled to produce their own silk. History tells us that in the early part of the sixth century A. D. a Catholic missionary succeeded in carrying away some of the eggs, or cocoons, in a bamboo walking stick and that he took them to the Emperor Justinian. From these the silk culture of southern Europe grew to be of great commercial importance within a few years.

The silkworm in its mature state is a clumsy moth, with a body much larger in proportion to the size of the wings than the bodies of other moths. This disproportion is so great in the female that she does not fly. The male is much more active. The caterpillars are ravenous eaters. Those coming from a single ounce of eggs eat, on an average, three-fifths of a ton of mulberry leaves and produce about 120 pounds of cocoons. The female dies very soon after laying her eggs.

The full grown caterpillar, instead of burying itself in the ground to pass through the pupa state, as does the caterpillar of the hawk moth, winds itself in a ball of silk which issues from two little spinnerets near the mouth. This process requires about two months, and when the cocoon is finished it is about the size and shape of a large sized pigeon's egg. The silk from the cocoon of the male is both finer and stronger than that from the cocoon of the female.

There is but one American species of silkworm which has proved to be very profitable as a silk spinner, the polyphemus. This is a large, beautiful moth, and it wraps its cocoon in one or more leaves.

If any of the young people who read this article should care to study either butterflies or moths, they should remember that any caterpillar kept in confinement must have plenty of fresh air and plenty of fresh food of the kind upon which it is feeding when found. They should also be careful not to keep the pupa too warm. If the potato worm is in your collection, furnish fresh dirt for it to hide itself in when it is ready for the change to the pupa state and then keep it in a cool place. A cool cellar will do.

HOPELESS CASES.

When the doctor leaves and says the case is hopeless, what remains to be done? Nothing, if the doctor's word is final. Much, if you will listen to the statements of men and women who were once "hopeless cases" given up by doctors, and who were perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Nothing is more sure than that thousands of men and women with diseased lungs, obstinate coughs, hemorrhage, emaciation and night-sweats, have been restored to perfect health by the use of the "Discovery." Will it cure you?

It has cured in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred where it was given a fair and faithful trial. By that record you have only two chances in a hundred of failure and ninety-eight chances of being restored to perfect health. It is worth trying.

Abram Freer, Esq., of Rockbridge, Greene Co., Ill., writes: "My wife had a severe attack of pleurisy and lung trouble; the doctors gave her up to die. She commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and she began to improve from the first dose. By the time she had taken eight or ten bottles she was cured, and it was the cause of a large amount being sold here. I think the 'Golden Medical Discovery' is the best medicine in the world for lung trouble."

Many young people form habits which cripple and handicap them for life by doing things "just for now." They let things drop wherever they happen to be "just for now," thinking that they will put the book, the tool, the letter or the article of clothing later where it belongs. When these young people grow up to manhood and womanhood, they find that the habit of putting things down anywhere "just for now" has become a tyrant that fills their lives with confusion and disorder. It takes no more time or effort to put a thing where it belongs in the first place than it does later, perhaps less, and the chances are that if you do not do so at the proper time you never will. Even if it costs you a little inconvenience at the moment to put everything in its proper place, to do everything at the proper time, the orderly and methodical habits which you cultivate in this way will increase your power and usefulness a hundredfold and may save you much trouble and mortification in the future.—Success.
